Mr. Polivec Has Been Missing Since Last Friday Morning.

G. A. Polivec of the firm of Polivec & Lankas, the C. B. & Q. meat market firm has been missing and no trace has been found of him since Friday morning last.

Thursday, he drove to Culbertson to buy some cattle for the meat market. He left the horse and buggy there and returned home, that evening. On Friday morning he left home early to return to Culbertson to finish his business. After eating an early breakfast at the Chicago Chop House he disappeared and no trace has since been had of his whereabouts or movements.

Polivec had considerable money on his person.

His wife and relatives in this city are becoming alarmed lest some foul play has befallen him or that under some mental derangement he may have wandered away.

It is said that there is no financial or domestic reasons for his disappearance.

"A Royal Slave."

With all its wealth of special scenery, gorgeous costumes, and bright and catchy specialties, is the attraction at the Temple theatre, Thursday night. This piece which has attained such an enviable reputation and secured such a hold on the hearts of the atreagoers from one end of this broad land to the other, is from the pen of Mr. Clarence Bennett, author of the "Holy City," and "The Warning Bell" and other notable successes. Mr. Bennett has located his scenes near the city of Mexico and based the fabric of the play on events which actually occurred during the brief reign of the unfortunate Emperor Maximilian. The great treasure, the secret of which was as loyally and jealously guarded by El Aguila (The Eagle) who although a serf traced his lineage from the royal Montezumas, is founded on fact. The success of this piece has been so phenomenal in America that the firm has decided to present it next year in England.

Friday Primary Day.

The disclosure has been made that the state-wide primary to be held in Nebraska next year under the new law enacted by the state legislature will fall on Friday, April 19, which is a decided departure from the customary Tuesday election day, which has almost invariably prevailed. The law does not say that the primary shall be held on a particular day or date, but defines the time as the "45th day before the first Monday in June," every fourth year when presidential candidates are to be chosen, leaving it on the third Tuesday in August for all other years. This makes the date variable in each case, although the day remains certain, and must be on Friday in presidential years and a Tuesday in each intervening year. — Omaha Bee.

GRAND MATRON VISITS

Eureka Chapter No. 86 and Is Given a Banquet and Reception.

The visit of Worthy Grand Matron Mrs. Carrie E. Wright to Eureka chapter No. 86 of our city, Friday evening, called out the highest expression of hospitality on the part of the membership, nearly 150 members of this chapter and of invited guests from Benkelman, Bartley, Culbertson, Indianola and other chapters being present to receive the grand matron upon this official visit of instruction.

At 6:30 o'clock, the grand matron, visiting members and members of Eureka chapter repaired to the banquet room of the Temple, where a substantial and excellent dinner was served with every comfortable and tasteful accessory. Over 100 plates were laid for the occasion, which was one of the most notable gastronomic efforts ever attempted by the chapter in connection with a session of the order.

Returning to the chapter room after dinner, the regular work of the session was taken up and regularly disposed of.

An impressive initiation was a feature of the session.

Following the work of the evening, Worthy Grand Matron Mrs. Carrie E. Wright assumed charge and conducted a school of instruction, which, however, the grand matron said was more properly a school of congratulation and felicitation upon the excellence of the work and the fine condition of the chapter in every particular.

Making Some Tests.

A. R. Scott, local manager of the McCook Electric Co., A. L. Jones, engineer for the General Electric, and F. B. Reid, auditor for the General Electric, all come down from Denver, on Saturday morning and are conducting some tests looking to making an offer to the city council to pump the water for the municipal water plant, here, running the pumps by electric motors. The gentlemen are also making some tests at the electric light plant to secure some economies, if practicable.

TWO SLIGHT FIRES.

Both Same Night and on Second Street East.

The residence of Conductor E. M. Cox was considerably damaged, Friday night, by fire and water. The fire originated in and was confined to the rear end of the house—over the kitchen—but how it originated is still unknown or undecided. It was first thought to have been caused by defective wiring, but Mr. Pantenburg of McCook Electric Co., tested out the lines and is convinced the electric wiring was not responsible.

While there is some damage to the building and contents from fire, perhaps the chief loss is from water, plastering, etc., being especially a sufferer.

The fire was confined to three rear bedrooms—the bath room and two bed rooms, all of them being somewhat charred, the bath room probably the worst.

Mr. Cox was in the house at the time the fire was discovered, as the smoke from upstairs penetrated to the lower floor. He had just started to heat an electric light iron. Mrs. Cox was absent from the city on a visit.

About six o'clock on Saturday morning another fire alarm was sounded—this time the call going in from the Benjamin residence, 2nd street east. Eph was engaged in the laudable work of building the morning fire in the kitchen range, when an explosion of oil, gasoline or coal added a little more enthusiasm and energy to the occupation than was seemly to Mr. Benjamin, who did not entirely escape injury. The damage, fortunately, was small, the fire being controlled without much difficulty or loss.

ANOTHER LARGE HOUSE.

"The Servant in the House" Was Generously Greeted.

"The Servant in the House" is one of the strong plays of the stage of today, with food for reflection and inspiration for better things—for making more practical the teachings of the golden rule, for following more closely and precisely the teachings of the meek and lowly Galileean.

This dramatization of Kennedy's novel is keenly and bitterly satirical against the commercialism, the hypocrisy and the caste of the church and seeks a fairer expression of the brotherhood of man—its creed is: "I love God and ALL my brothers."

So, even a small appreciation of the production requires one to go beyond the symbolic "drain" to a contemplation of the "dead men's bones," etc., in the pulpit, pew and choir.

Mr. Koch's work as the servant is strong—but somewhat overdone—and constitutes a suggestion approaching the ethically offensive to the more sensitively religious soul.
