The remains of the Furnas County Democrat were conveyed to bleeding Kansas, last week, for proper interment. This leaves Beaver City again—once more—with but one newspaper.

As a result of the revolution in China the 300 young Chinese students who were sent to this country on the Boxer indemnity funds rebated by the United States government will have to return home or go to work. Chan Kwai Yu, Imperial Commissioner, appointed to assume charge of the wards of the government, brings the news that there will be no more funds for the students as the upheaval in China is taking all the money the government can raise.

The motion picture business is here to stay. Its stay will be prolonged and in its remaining it will be a pleasure and a blessing only as its promoters see to it that its product is clean, educational as well as amusing and entertaining, and that due attention is paid to the best sentiment of the communities in which they operate. And this includes a proper regard for the laws of the land and of the communities and a due respect for the Christian Sunday.

The confession of the McNamarras in Los Angeles and of week ought to be a source of thanksgiving to all, clearing up as it does what might otherwise always have been a source of misgiving and doubt. The dynamiting of the Times building, with a loss of 21 lives, is one of the most dastardly crimes in American history and a blot on unionism which they should now make no small effort to remove—and a blot which we believe is sincerely regretted and repudiated by all right thinking union labor men in America.

The Nebraska political situation begins to thicken: And in the first place it looks as if it would be quite necessary soon for the "boys" to get together and agree upon some terms, to avoid further confusion. Now comes one E. M. Pollard, a former congressman, and more or less at the front in the so-called "standpat" organization in the interest of President Taft, who feels aggrieved, sorely aggrieved we might put it, at the men of that organization being called "standpatners," claiming these so-called "standpatners" to be the very article who secured for Nebraska the valuable progressive measures and laws now in force. Who is who, anyhow?

And again, these is some wonderment as to the real purpose of this paragraph from Frank Harrison's paper: "Looks like there would be enough candidates for congress in the Fifth district to furnish plenty of excitement during the primary campaign. The present incumbent, George W. Norris, has signified his intention of dropping out of the race, and the resultant vacancy has attracted a horde of would-be statemen. But if George W. would change his mind and announce that he would again be a candidate the scatterment would be something like that of a bunch of small boys when they find the mother dog has detected them in the act of stealing a pup." What is what, anyhow?

GRIM TRAGEDIES OF OCEAN

Many Vessels Abandoned at Sea That Are Constant Menace to Navigation.

There is a grimness about the brief news dispatch which states that the derelict destroyer Seneca, of the United States revenue cutter service, weighed anchor and steamed out of New York harbor to search for derelicts of the seven-day storm which ended recently. Vessels that have been abandoned at sea, unless deliberately destroyed, continue to be a menace to shipping for a long period following their abandonment. For many years it was customary for sea captains, on coming into port, to report such derelicts as they had observed during a voyage, and the government published charts in which the position of the reported derelicts was shown, in order that sailing masters might be on their guard against collision with them. There was at one time some talk of international co-operation in the task of clearing the sea of these floating ships, but nothing came of it, and the United States government finally took the matter up on its own account, being for a long time the only government which did so, and presumably it occupies that position to this day. The vessels designated as derelict destroyers are specially fitted out with dynamite and other means of destroying and sinking the floating menaces to navigation, and the significance of the departure of the Seneca lies in the fact that the storm of last week is supposed to have caused many wrecks off Hatteras and along the coast of the Carolinas.

HARD TO PAY THE TAXES

French Deputy Runs Afoul of Red Tape When He Tries to Get on Tax Roll.

Jean Javal, who was elected deputy of the Sens division of the Yonne department in France in 1910, bought a house in Sens just after the election. Discovering a few days ago that he had never paid any taxes on the property he looked up the list and found that his name had never been placed there.

As no self-respecting socialist-radical republican deputy would care to avoid such an obligation, and not forgetting the weapon non-payment of taxes would give to his opponents in a future election, M. Javal wrote to the authorities asking to be inscribed on the list.

The letter was returned with the notification that his request could not be considered unless it was sent in on stamped paper, with a 60 centime (10-cent) stamp.

Violin Was a "Find."

Gaylord Yost, violinist, has a valuable violin which he acquired under interesting circumstances. His story of the "find" as told by himself follows:

"One day in Berlin, as I came out of one of the music stores I was stopped by a couple of gypsies. They had at least a half dozen violins caught up loosely by the necks. Some were stringless, cracked and dirty. They asked me if I wanted to buy a violin cheap and I replied that I was always looking for good violins. Meanwhile I had scanned the violins and I observed one with very artistic lines and workmanship, good varnish, but in bad repair. I asked him how much they wanted for that one and they replied 120 marks. Of course I could not try the violin in the street so I gave them my card and told them to call in the afternoon. As soon as I placed the bow on the strings I realized what it was. I finally got the violin for 79 marks. I guess it was cheap. Would I sell it? Well, hardly."

Real Enemy of Aeroplane.

One still often reads comments on the effects of musketry on aeroplanes, usually written by those who have probably never seen the effect of bullets fired from a distance. It has been truly said that to hit a "rocketing" aeroplane with a rifle shot is an extremely difficult matter, but to conclude that the aviator is therefore immune when at 1,000 feet up is absurd, says Sir Baden-Powell. It is not the danger from one marksman that has to be taken into account, but volleys from a whole battalion. If 3,000 or 4,000 shots be fired at a machine while it traverses one hundred yards, there is a good chance of its sustaining some danger so long as it is well within range. It is, however, the Maxim gun that seems likely to be the most formidable enemy of the aeroplane. All such guns must in future be mounted in such a way as to enable them to be fired nearly vertically.

How to Use a Life Preserver.

"The worst trouble about a life preserver," said an old sailor, "is that few people know what to do with one when it's thrown to them. Many a man would drown in trying to get a life preserver over his head."

"The average person struggling about in the water would try to lift up the big life ring and put it over his head. That only causes the man to sink deeper and take more water into his lungs."

"The proper way to approach a life preserver in the water is to take hold of the side nearest you and press upon it with all your weight. That causes the other side to fly up in the air and down over your head, 'ringing' you as neatly as a man ringing a cane at a county fair. After that the drowning man can be rescued."—From the American Boy.
