At the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Rogers, on the Shadeland Park farm east of McCook, on Christmas day at 7 p. m., their daughter, Miss Pearle A. Rogers was united in marriage to Mr. Frank H. Hammel, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hammel of McCook. Promptly at the appointed hour the sweet strains of music from the piano and violin filled the home and Mr. Hammel and Miss Rogers entered the parlor and stood underneath a beautiful arch of evergreen in which hung a large white bell, and here they pledged their faith each to the other as husband and wife, in the presence of about thirty of their relatives and friends, Rev. L. E. Lewis, pastor of the M. E. church of McCook, officiating.

Immediately following congratulations, the company was ushered into the dining room where a most elaborate dinner was served. The company then returned to the parlor where they enjoyed some splendid selections of music by the Rogers family, and songs by Mr. Bonger and son, of Denver.

The bride and groom were the recipients of many beautiful and costly presents. They will reside in Curtis, Nebraska, and will be at home to their friends January 1, 1912. May long life and happiness attend them and may the sunshine of love ever fill their home.

RED WILLOW.

The snow maketh glad the heart of the farmer.

Charles Allen and wife spent Tuesday at Louis Longnecker's. Christmas spirit is in the air and it will be a sweet, as well as white Christmas, as nearly all housewives have been busy making candy. One mother made 9½ pounds.

There was a Christmas entertainment at the school house on Friday afternoon, consisting of songs, recitations and dialogues and the teacher gave each pupil a Christmas card, nuts and candy.

Mrs. Louis Longnecker spent Monday at Will Meyers'.

Chicken pox is still troubling the children, while young and old have had colds.

Every once in a while an item appears, that "Jakie" Longnecker was the first white child born in the county. Mrs. Longnecker wishes it distinctly understood that her boy was the fifth, not the first, as the honor of being first, lay between Edna Berger and Edwin Young.
