Police Methods Exposed.

"The Third Degree," Charles Klein's play, to be presented here soon, remains the triumphant public benefactor that it was recognized to be on its premier about a year ago. The interested attitude of the majority of the audience toward the "third degree" scene tend to indicate how few really are familiar with the methods of police inquiry laid bare by the author.

CHECKERS AND CHESS.

Greatest Exhibition of Games Ever Seen in S. W. Neb.

Tuesday afternoon and night, checker and chess players of this section of Nebraska were treated to the greatest exhibition in that line ever witnessed in this part of Nebraska.

The special occasion was the visit of Mr. Newell W. Banks, the American checker champion, whose work here challenged the admiration of all.

Tuesday afternoon in the commercial club rooms he carried on a half dozen games at the same time, failing in but two games of the many series played. E. R. Osborn and F. S. Wilcox are the only ones winning from him during the entire tournament.

In the evening, the proceedings were varied somewhat: Four or five games checkers and two of chess were carried on at the same time. Mr. Banks being pitted against them all. He uniformly won. Mr. Banks' concluding stunt of the evening was that of winning four games of checkers—playing the quartette at the same time while blindfolded; and winning a game of chess while directing the four checker games.

These games attracted large attention and Mr. Banks' work was greatly admired.

Mr. Banks departed for Denver on Wednesday morning. He

A Play with An Influence.

When Harriet Beecher Stowe wrote "Uncle Tom's Cabin," she little thought of the wide influence it would have in shaping conditions in the United States. The same may be said of Charles Klein's great American play, "The Third Degree," which will be presented in our city soon. It deals with New York society and police methods and has created a profound sensation.

SOCIAL AND LITERARY.

There was a Leap Year dance in Monte Crieto hall, Saturday evening.

The Research club will meet with Mrs. J. G. Stokes on next Monday afternoon, 2:30 o'clock. Topic: Selections from Poe.

The regular business session of the O. E. S. auxiliary was held with Mrs. B. J. Lane, Wednesday afternoon, when the usual work was accomplished.

The Ladies' Guild of St. Patrick's church held a card party at the home of Mrs. George Elbert, with enjoyable particulars and refreshments at the conclusion.

After the regular session of McCook lodge 42, K. of P., last evening, the Pythian Sisters were invited to participate with the Knights in a light banquet, which was seasoned with a few toasts.

The Shakespeare club met with Mrs. Sylvester Cordeal, Tuesday afternoon. Next Tuesday, the club will meet with Mrs. F. M. Kimmell, and "Afloat" by Guy de Maupassant will be studied.

Mrs. Leroy Kleven entertained the Kaffa Klatch club, Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Arthur Wood and Mrs. Walter Stokes assisted. Mrs. W. E. McDivitt and Mrs. Walter Stokes were guests. A two-course lunch was served.

Mrs. W. W. McMillen and Mrs. Albert McMillen entertained the was pleased with his reception here, and promised to stop over on his return from the Pacific coast in a few months.

Members of the S. W. Nebraska Checker Players' association were present during the games, Tuesday and Wednesday, and numerous games were played between members from other towns and of this city. Altho the attendance was not as large as desired or hoped for the meeting was a conspicuous success and keenly appreciated.

Among the checker players present were: Walter Devoe and Wise Wiggins of Lebanon, H. W. Overstake of Orleans, Tom Reed of Holbrook, J. E. Ford of Bartley, J. F. Payton of Trenton. Mr. Banks only lost three games in Nebraska—and McCook won two of them.

How about McCook for the state checker players' meet in 1913?

A Local Event.

The great big theatrical event of the season here will take place when "The Third Degree" will be presented in this city. Its presentation will enlist company of players of reputation and of undoubted talent and staged with the same great care that is given to the exclusive city production. The company plays here, Friday, Feb. 9.

Entre Nous club ladies and their husbands at the home of the latter, last evening. Whist and several readings constituted the social enjoyment of the evening, which was initiated with a seven o'clock dinner.

The members of the Young Married Peoples' Whist club were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Wolff, Tuesday evening. The guests were: Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Gunn, Miss Martha Abel, Miss Edna Waite and Mr. D. N. Cobb. Mrs. Ainsworth Monks and Miss Leta Monks assisted. After the card playing a dainty two-course luncheon was served.

The P. E. O. meeting, Monday evening, was distinctively and enjoyably literary, being held at the home of Mrs. Fred L. Schwab. A paper by Mrs. Herman Pade on "Pioneer Days in Nebraska" was especially clever. Mrs. G. L. Burney read a paper on "Woman's Influence in Politics,"—quite to the point. And the Round Table talk was along Civic Improvement lines—a wide field for the feminine thought and action.

Mrs. J. G. Stokes and Mrs. F. W. Bosworth entertained members of the Stuffed Club, Saturday evening, at the Stokes residence on north Main avenue. Mrs. Vina Wood won the honors, and Mrs. R. J. Gunn the consolation, in the game of Five Hundred played. A three-course lunch was served which bore out the traditions and name of the club. Mrs. Simpson Finnell of Hamburg, Iowa, was an out-of-town guest.

The Co-Operative Hospital.

McCook needs a public hospital. This is an evident fact to every one interested in the progress and upbuilding of our city.

About two years ago several of the influential and energetic people of the city began to devise plans by which they might interest the public in the establishing and equipping of a modern hospital. Continued hard times and so many other public improvements requiring donations and subscriptions in order to insure their completion being urged upon the people, they concluded it would be a hardship to the citizens of McCook to ask them to contribute funds for the purpose of building and equipping a hospital at that time, and the matter was allowed to rest.

After the terrible wreck at Indianola many of these same people keenly felt the remorse we could not avoid, on account of not having a place to care for a single one of the injured persons. When the wreck occurred, notice was immediately wired to headquarters, a relief train with doctors and nurses was hurried from McCook, and after they had finished their work, they were compelled to send even our own citizens who were injured to Cambridge, Holbrook and Holdrege, because McCook, the division headquarters and largest city in southwest Nebraska had no place to care for a single one of them. This would have been the case if the wreck had occurred within the McCook yards.

Smarting under the remorse of our inability to do anything for the relief of the injured, and feeling a desire to do something to prevent another occurrence of that kind, a number of our enterprising ladies have determined to make an attempt to start a nucleus around which they hope in time to build a modern hospital which will be a credit to our city. With this end in view, they are asking the good people of McCook to assist them in their noble work.

The amount they ask is not much, five hundred dollars subscribed will enable them to secure and equip a small building which will be sufficient to start with; while many of the individual citizens, fraternal societies and churches of our city, have expressed a willingness to furnish free all the rooms that will be required for at least a year.

In order to secure a maintenance fund, they have arranged for and prepared a membership card, which they offer for one dollar per month for twelve months, or ten dollars, if paid in advance. This will entitle you and your wife if married, or yourself if not married, to twelve weeks' privileges in the hospital, in case of accident or sickness, without further hospital charges. This is simply insurance against the high cost of being properly cared for in case of misfortune. Also by taking advantage of this in your own behalf, you are helping some one else, who perhaps, is not so fortunate as yourself.

The soliciting committee have made a partial canvas, and have received generous encouragement finding a large majority of the of the business men of the city interested in the work.

The secretary is unable to publish a full list of the subscribers on account of all of them not having been turned in, but hopes to be able to do so next week.
