"The Third Degree."

"The Third Degree," Charles Klein's graphic drama, will be seen at the Temple theatre Friday, February 9. The great success of the play has been most startling, and it is believed that the present condition in many police circles has had an effective bearing on the interest of the general public as well as those who are regular theatre patrons. Miss Franklin Gale continues in her path of artistic triumph as Annie Jeffries. Minnie Radcliffe, Chas. Burnham, Neil Barrett, Harry Foreman, Kenneth Stuart and Wesley Todd are still playing their respective roles.

Buried Here Sunday.

The remains of W. Y. Johnson arrived from Omaha, on Saturday morning on No. 9, and burial was made Sunday afternoon from the residence of his sister Mrs. Geo. Shields of West McCook, interment being made in Longview cemetery.

Mr. Johnson was taken to an Omaha hospital, January 29th, for an operation for cancer of the liver, from which he died on February 2nd.

Services at the Shields residence Sunday afternoon, were largely attended by friends and relatives of the family. Rev. L. E. Lewis of the Methodist church conducting the services.

The departed has lived in and near McCook from early boyhood and will be remembered by many as a prominent horseman of late years. His wife and children, his aged mother and brothers and sisters have tender sympathy in this sorrow.

Obituary.

William Y. Johnson was born in Coles county, Illinois, April 5, 1862, died Friday, February 2, 1912, aged 49 years, 10 months and 28 days. He moved with his parents to Harlan county, Neb., in 1879, and in 1881 came to Red Willow county, settling near McCook where he has since resided until a little over a year ago, when he, with his family, moved to the San Luis Valley, Colorado. On December 31, 1886, he was united in marriage with Miss Isabelle E. Hickling. To this union were born seven children, three sons and four daughters. About three weeks ago he with his wife came to McCook that he might receive medical aid.

The local doctors advised him to go to Omaha where on January 29th he underwent an operation for cancer of the liver. Hope was entertained for his recovery, but on Feb. 2, at 1:30 p. m. death came to his relief.

A TERRIBLE ACCIDENT IN THE AKRON YARDS.

Engineer Lou Bartlett the Victim—Both Hands Mashed.

At an early hour Sunday morning, Engineer Lou Bartlett, the well known engineer of the west end, met with an accident in the Akron yard in which both of his hands were terribly mashed. He was in the act of climbing under a car on his way to the roundhouse after his engine to take No. 3 on to Denver. The train to which the car was attached started and caught both of his hands just as he was reaching over the rail. The right hand was practically cut off and the left hand terribly mashed, but it is hoped that the hand can yet be saved; the right hand has been amputated above the wrist.

A special was at once made up and the injured man was hurried to a Denver hospital at top speed for operation and treatment, making an average of 63 miles an hour, with engine and caboose.

Engineer Lou Bartlett is one of the best known engineers on the west end of the McCook division, having been in the service practically ever since the line was opened up into Denver. He lived in McCook when the shops were first opened up here, and was employed in the shops here for some time, going from here to Akron, where he was a pioneer.

He has a host of friends in the railroad employ as well as outsiders who hope most prayerfully for his recovery.

The new quarterly telephone directory will be ready for distribution, this week.

5c baby cream, 6 cans for 25c at Huber's.

Four Injured, One Dying.

With her husband and two of her boys under the care of a physician for various injuries, Mrs. William Shinsel, 2625 Umattilla street, received word Friday of the serious illness of her father at McCook, Neb., and was preparing to leave for his bedside when her 5-year-old daughter, Fern, was carried into the house by neighbors, bleeding from several lacerations of the scalp inflicted by a mad dog.

A persistent hoodoo has hovered over the Shinsel family since October 6, when the father lost his left foot in a railroad accident at Keensburg, Colo. He was then employed as a freight conductor by the Burlington road.

The injury to him made it necessary for the eldest daughter, Laura, aged 17, and a son, Herman aged 16 years, to quit school and go to work. The boy secured employment at the factory of the Western Box company. He had been working but a short time when his left hand became entangled in a machine and was badly mangled.

The following day Sherman Shinsel aged 11 years, stepped on a rusty nail. Blood poisoning set in and amputation of the foot may be necessary.

The little girl was playing in the street in front of her home when the dog attacked her and before neighbors could drive it away she had been seriously bitten. Police Surgeon C. B. James cauterized her wounds, but her condition is considered serious.

There are three other children in the family, who, thus far, have escaped the hoodoo. — Denver Post.

George H. Simmerman of our city is the father referred to. He has been ill for some time and his condition is serious at this time.

Captured the Men.

The visit here, on Sunday, of Bishop Beecher of the Episcopal church, is being commented upon highly by those who had the pleasure and profit of hearing his sermons and address to men. The address to men in the afternoon was especially worthy of note. The bishop is a specialist in this line. A virile, masculine type, he preaches a robust religion, which consists more in doing than in not doing things; his is an aggressive religion; he is a real member of the church militant. The members of McCook lodge, A. F. & A. M. attended afternoon services in numbers; and they particularly enjoyed his sermon—the bishop has for years been grand chaplain of the Nebraska lodge. All the other services of the day in which the bishop presided, confirmation and the evening service at St. Alban's chapel, were largely attended, and the bishop added to the other services of day in which he held in McCook.

Social.

The Ladies Circle No. 1 and 2, of the Baptist church will give a social at the church on Thursday evening of this week. A program will be given, refreshments served and other matters of interest will take place. An admission of 10 cents will be taken at the door. Everybody invited.

Just Fair.

"The Traveling Man," at the Temple, Saturday evening, was just fair. Many laughs, but not much to it. The old maid easily divided the honors with the traveling man. There was a fair-sized audience, and it was kept in good humor during the evening.
