We think it worse than useless to attempt to cure constipation with cathartic drugs. Cathartics may do much harm. They may cause a reaction, irritate and weaken the bowels, and make constipation more chronic.

Constipation is often accompanied and may be caused by weakness of the nerves and muscles of the large intestine or colon. To expect a cure you must therefore tone up and strengthen those parts and restore them to healthier activity.

Ottawa, Ill.-Starved Rock passed into the hands of the state of Illinois recently, when negotiations were concluded between the Illinois park commission and Ferdinand Walther of Chicago, who has owned the property for the past 22 years. The papers signed and exchanged show that the state paid the sum of $46,000 for the 290-acre tract, which it is expected will prove to be the nucleus of one of the finest state parks in the country.

The new state park preserve lies ten males west of Ottawa on the south side of the Illinois river, and in addition to Starved Rock proper consists of precipitous cliffs, canyons and glens the best-known intestinal tonics which rival many of America's most

The boundaries of the park district, including 1,155 acres, were laid out by Mr. Richards, secretary of the commission. This tract has a frontage of five miles along the river, extending from the Utica bridge to the South Ottawa township line, including Fishburn's cave and Salt Well. The balance of this property is owned by about twenty people and options have been secured on practically all of it.

POSSIBLY TOO MUCH FOR HER

Man Should Have Recognized That There Are Limits Even to Fairy's Power.

Once upon a time a man who lived out Bloomfield way did an unusual service for a fairy queen. I don't remember exactly what it was; perhaps he stepped into a drift to let her pass. At any rate she said to him in grati-

"Sir, for your kindness I will reward you by granting you three wishes. Name what you desire most in all the world and it shall be yours."

The man who lived out Bloomfield way thought a moment. He ought have lived out South Orange way or down Elizabeth way or over Arlington way, but it happened that he dwelt out Bloomfield way, and as this is a true story, I must tell it exactly as it was. He thought a moment, and then he thought another moment, making two moments all told, after which he said:

"I wish people would quit eating peanuts in the street cars. It gives the cars such a vegetable air, and besides, it is very harmful, for, as you know, people should have cheerful surroundings at meals."

On hearing this request the fairy queen vanished in a flash of flame with a deafening report, and the next time the man got aboard a car to go to his home out Bloomfield way, the passengers were still eating peanuts polishing of all exposed tooth surand the car had a breath.

cate Thoroughly and Give the Saliva a Chance.

At a recent dental meeting, held in Indiana, a speaker made this state ment: "The education of the average man, woman and child has been sadly neglected. They have been taught to eat, but have not been taught to use their teeth. But the American habit is to spit, and the Americans are the greatest spitters in the world, Between meals they spit out the in! valuable saliva; then when they chew, they wash down every unchewed mouthful of food with copious draughts of water, coffee or in summer, iced tea: What a foelish, disgusting habit it is, and more than foolish, more than disgusting, it is killing in its hurtfulness. A habitual spitter at middle age will have the broken down digestive apparatus of an old man at seventy-five. Men wb5 boit their food, who put their saliva out of business, are drug shop chasers and slow suicides."

in answer to inquiries addressed to one hundred and fifty leading physiclans in this country, 98 per cent. of these physicians said that chewing of food was an important factor towards good health, and that the bolting of food frequently caused cancer, catarrh of the stomach and gastric ulcers. If food is not thoroughly chewed and is permitted to reach the stomach in large lumps or masses, there is no question that it must injure the soft lining of that organ, producing many of the cases of ulcer and catarrh that nged careful and consistent medical attention.

It has been said that fully 75 per cent, of the people of this country bolt their food. This habit is usually acquired during the early years of childhood, and carried on during one's whole life. In many of the homes the early morning hours are given to preparing the children for school. Very frequently they are permitted to sleep late, and then in the hurry and bustle to get them to school on time, the breakfast is bolted. These same conditions of hurried meals apply to the lunch hour and at supper time. From day to day this is permitted, until the habit is firmly established, carried up of the bolting of food. Walk into the County Soldiers' Relief quick lunch room of the cities and see fund these "hustlers" at work. Look down the long row of tables, see the rapid movement of the eating contest, for which prizes are offered to the fellow that gets through first. Many of these lunch rooms advertise how quickly you may be filled from their larder, and take pride in the number that can be filled in a given time.

It should be the duty of all parents to make their children eat slowly, and chew their food properly. Nature has placed the teeth in our mouth for a very valuable purpose. If we neg lect to keep them in shape and to properly use them, we are inviting conditions that seriously threaten our health and general welfare.

GUM DISEASE IS PREVALENT

Many Persons Afflicted With Pyorrhea Alveolaris, Which Attacks Tissues Around the Teeth.

The disease known as pyorrhea alveolaris is probably the most prevalent of all dental diseases, for more teeth are lost from this condition than all others combined. The disease occurs in the mouths of all classes of people-more frequently, however, in rather neglectful in regard to the care of the teeth. Yet pyorrhea can and does occur in the mouths of those who give their teeth the best attention The disease differs from "decay of the teeth" in that the tissues around the teeth are attacked and destroyed rather than the teeth themselves. The most important thing to be impressed upon the mind of the patient is the fact that the best and most permanent results can be obtained in the treatment of the disease when it is recognized and corrected in its earlier stages. The disease generally begins by some foreign substance, such as tartar, deposited on the teeth, causing irritation of the gums. Unless this tartar is carefully removed the disease gradually progresses and the tissues around the roots of the teeth are dedestroyed. Thus pockets are formed about, the teeth into which filth and bacteria accumulate.

This condition will generally be manifested by the teeth shifting their position-either spreading apart or rotating or both; pus flowing from the pockets when pressure is made over the tooth root and the affected tooth gradually becoming loose and the gums sore or tender and bleeding easily.

The vital thing for the patient to know is whether or not the tendency towards pyorrhea is evidenced in his mouth and if so what can be done to hold the disease in abeyance or check its progress.

No medicine has ever been suggested which will cure pyorrhea and the sooner this fact is recognized by both dentist and patient the better for all concerned. The best treatment is the thorough removal of all irritating substances of whatever nature and the faces and the subsequent proper use of Willow Grove precinct, Red
