JUNIOR STATE NORMAL OFFICIAL PROGRAMME

Opens at McCook, Nebraska, June 6, and Closes July 29, 1912

The McCook Junior Normal has been for nine years one of the strongest forces in advancing school conditions in Southwest Nebraska.

The school was established by act of State Legislature and is supported by state money. It offers to teachers and students of this part of Nebraska an opportunity to review the branches required for county certificates or to take advanced work leading to a life certificate.

No other school in the state prepares prospective teachers for the state examination so well and in so short a time as does the Junior Normal. The subjects are taught by men and women in school work who know what are required for certificates and who are thereby in a position to be of greatest help to teachers.

A great number of teachers in this part of Nebraska stand ready to testify to the value of the work of the Junior Normal in their increased capacity and earning power as teachers. What these teachers have done, others can do and we shall be glad to welcome into the school those who desire better preparation for teaching in any grade of work.

The Junior Normals.

Junior Normal schools were established by an act of the Nebraska legislature in 1903 at Alliance, McCook and Valentine, and the state superintendent was authorized to locate two others, which he established at Holdrege and North Platte. In 1907 the number was increased to eight, the legislature locating schools at Alliance, McCook and Valentine, and the state superintendent locating the other five at Alma, Broken Bow, Geneva, O'Neill and North Platte. The total enrollment in the junior normal schools during the eight years of their existence numbers over 9,000.

Located as they are in the ex-

More than twelve hundred student teachers were enrolled in the eight junior normal schools last year. These teachers went back into their schools with a higher degree of professional training, the fruits of which are seen in the higher salaries paid teachers throughout all sections of the state within the radius of the junior normals.

The junior normals are effective agencies in carrying forward the movement which has for its motto: Better training and better paid teachers for better schools in Nebraska.

trene sections of the state, the junior normals bring the professional training afforded by the elementary courses of the state normal schools to those teachers who would find it a great hardship to attend the state normal schools on account of the expense for traveling so great a distance. The instructors are also placed in a position where they have opportunity to emphasize especially those factors which pertain to the local conditions of the schools wherein the student teachers are to work.

The junior normal schools are held during the summer season when many of the best school men and women in the state are available as instructors, and the faculties have been carefully selected, having in mind their qualifications, their fitness for the work assigned, and their knowledge of local conditions.

The Cooperative Hospital.

While the unfavorable weather during the past few weeks has interfered in the active work of the soliciting committee, the board of directors have been actively engaged in getting matters in shape to give McCook a hospital in the near future which will be a credit to our city. The board of managers have been so much encouraged of late, by promises of assistance, and the difficulty they have experienced in leasing a suitable building in which to establish the hospital, that they have given up the idea of leasing a building, and have decided to ask the citizens of McCook to assist them to build.

The board after careful consideration decided that it will require in the neighborhood of $75,000 to complete and equip a building that will meet the needs of McCook and vicinity, and are considering the erection of a brick building 36x50 feet with a basement and two stories and dormitory under the roof for the accommodation of the help. The building will be large enough to accommodate twenty-five beds, with suitable parlor, reception room and up to date operating room.

A number of our citizens, also fraternal societies who have expressed a willingness to furnish rooms in the building, are ready to make their promise good as soon as the building is completed.

Mr. H. E. Byram, vice president of the C. B. & Q. R. R. Co. has communicated with the board of managers and on behalf of the road has promised us a liberal donation, if the citizens of McCook will take an interest in the project and push the building to completion. Also the Relief Department will render to us all the assistance in their power as soon as the institution is in working order.

Besides this a prominent citizen of our city, promised the association forty acres of land adjoining the city limits, the proceeds of which to be used in the erection of a hospital for McCook.

All of this looks quite encouraging, yet if we want this modern hospital, we must come forward and help. We must show these people who are willing to help us, that we are willing to help ourselves. They will not give us their money unless we take the matter in our own hands and push it to a successful conclusion.

On the 15th of April, the committee will give a ball, the proceeds to go to the hospital fund. The tickets will be on sale in a few days, and every citizen will be called upon to purchase a ticket. Now please don't turn them down, but show your willingness to help this work along by buying a ticket, whether you attend the ball or not. The small price of the ticket will help and encourage them, and you will not miss it.

Watch the papers and we will keep you informed as to the progress being made in the work.

Pestalozzi in McCook.

If he could have lived till now and have come to the Association we feel sure that he would return home not only with pleasant recollections of the personnel and work of the S. W. Nebraska teachers' Assn., but bearing many items of apparel and accessories (such as Ladies' silk boot hose at 35c, long silk gloves at 75c, $1.00 and $1.25, "Leatherwear" 36 inch silk at 89c, the new washable hand bags, the new mull and linene and white serge and silk dresses, beautiful chalice or erpe kimono for wife, silk waists for the daughters, besides a Horace Mann hat for himself, etc.) all purchased from The Thompson D. G. Co. Let his example guide you.
