Timely.

This epidemic of grip came in just at the right season for the pronunciation of Russian names.—Auburn Herald.

Foolish Feelings.

A man never knows how foolish he can feel until he has talked into a phonograph and heard the result.—Hastings Tribune.

Yes Indeed.

The persons who can successfully winter a big collection of house plants has much to be thankful for.—Verdon Vedette.

Good Advice.

When a man playfully points a pistol or gun at you, knock him down; don't stop to inquire whether it is loaded or not, knock him down. Don't be particular what you hit him with, only see that it is properly done. If a coroner's inquest is held, let it be on the other fellow—he won't be missed.—Robison Index.

Are You Growing Old?

Do you wake up in the night and wonder what time it is, and get up and make a light to see? This is a sign of age. What difference does it make what time it is? None whatever, but as you get older this insane desire to know what time it is attacks you every few hours. The light flickering in a house after night is usually carried by some barefooted old man who is on his way to peer into the face of the clock. The old women are not so wakeful, having a good deal of sleep to make up which they lost when their children were little.—Atchison Globe.

Vile Concoction.

That Iowa "bottlelegger" was a dandy. He confessed that he made most of the stuff he sold as whiskey and gave as his formula: One gallon of alcohol, two gallons of water, one pound of prunes, half pound of tobacco and one ounce of glycerine. He said that mixture did "the business" all right. No one, we imagine, will be disposed to doubt his word. It is strange however, what men will put into their stomachs and then wonder why they are not trusted with responsible positions. After taking a few drinks of such a mixture they will get on to an engine or assume most any other position of responsibility and trust, and then "roar" if individuals or corporations interpose objections interfering with what they please to term their "personal rights."—Plattsburgh Essex Herald.

The Burlington depot at Crete was destroyed by fire Saturday night.

Two store buildings at Harvard were destroyed by a serious fire which occurred Friday night.

While about to descend an elevator in the Koehler hotel building at Grand Island J. D. Harrison, contractor, had the flesh of one hand stripped off almost to the finger tips.

Dr. A. Opperman, for many years a physician in Auburn as well coroner for several terms, passed away after a protracted illness at his home in Cordell, Okla., February 18.

The lifeless body of John Mohnke, of Columbus was found Sunday morning by John Byrnes, a neighbor, hanging at the end of a rope in Mohnke's barn. It is believed he hung himself Friday night, as the body was frozen and it was his absence that led to an investigation.

Mrs. H. Schneider, wife of a farmer living near Fontanelle, died Saturday morning, aged 42, from the effects of an injury received a few days ago. She was watching a corn sheller at work on the farm and the sleeve of her dress was caught in the cogs. Before the machine could be stopped her right arm was drawn into the wheels and broken both above and below the elbow.

Mrs. Barbara Zwieble, Papillon, was the victim of an accident last week and one that is seldom recorded. While hurrying to the depot to catch a train she suddenly became totally blind in her left eye. The organ seemed as usual, only entirely devoid of sight. Prior to this her eyes were perfectly healthy. Unable to account for the misfortune Mrs. Zwieble consulted an Omaha oculist, who informed her that she had ruptured a blood vessel in the eye. The sight cannot be restored.
