The tobacco trust has placed immense bill board signs advertising a certain five cent cigar along every transcontinental line in the United States. These signs are at intervals of three miles all the way from New York to San Francisco. The tobacco trust is managed by the ablest and most conservative men in America. Do you suppose they would make such a vast outlay of money in advertising if it was not a paying investment? There is a lesson in this to the wide-awake, progressive business man.

The various committees of the Fraternal Union met at the G. A. There seems to be an impression throughout the country that an admission fee is to be charged at this picnic, but the committee in charge wants it distinctly understood that admission will be free to every event over which they have control. Everybody should make arrangements to attend this, the largest and best attraction to be held in the county this season.

The committee adjourned to meet again at the G. A. R. hall on Monday evening, July 11, at 8 o'clock.

"Dead Easy."

Although it was announced in advance that the Atchison ball team, which played the Colts here Sunday, were a very strong team and had not lost a game this season, they proved to be "dead easy," for the Colts beat them by a score of 11 to 1. It was the easiest game the boys have had this season. On next Monday they go to Hiawatha to play Troy, Kansas.
