

Educational Department

Conducted by County Superintendent Crocker

The school in Dist. 3 gave a basket supper Tuesday evening.

The school in Dist. 20 will take a four weeks vacation beginning Oct. 28.

A meeting of school officers and patrons was held in the Barada school house Tuesday evening. The general subject was, "Co-operation of the Home and school." The people were well pleased with the meeting, and it seems certain much good will result from it and that it will bring about a closer sympathy between the home and the school. Prof. D. P. Smith of the Falls City Business College and the county superintendent were present. It is the present plan to hold about 10 such meetings in different parts of the county.

The Barada teachers reading circle will hold its next meeting Tuesday evening, Nov. 7th.

The Lincoln papers tell us that Louis C. Folts was suffocated while bathing Saturday night, and that his wife became unconscious from the effects of the gas. The tragedy is a pathetic one. The couple were married only three months ago and had just settled in a new cottage after their return from the wedding trip. Mrs. Folts was Miss Grace Abbott. She is known by many Richardson county teachers having taught for two years as assistant principle in the Humboldt high school.

The superintendents and principles meeting held in Lincoln last week was attended by several Richardson county teachers.

Prof. Barbour will give a life-sized picture of this monster which at one time made himself at home in Richardson county. Enormous birds and bats lived here at one time, and the following cut will give some idea of their immense size.

This lecture will be given in the Methodist church and only a small admission will be charged to help pay expenses. All are invited.

A lecture course of four or five numbers has been arranged for Humboldt. The first number to be a lecture by L. B. Wickersham to be a strong and earnest speaker. The people of Humboldt are fortunate to secure him.

The next meeting of the Richardson County Teachers' Association will be held in Falls City Friday evening and Saturday, November 11 and 12. Programs will be sent out early next week. Friday evening, Nov. 11, Dr. E. H. Barbour, Professor of Geology University of Nebraska, will address the teachers and other friends of education on the subject, "Beauties and Wonders of the West." We will be taken on a geological journey through the Home of the Cliff Dwellers, the Petrified Forests, Canons of the Colorado, Yellow Stone Park and the Bad Lands of Nebraska. Twelve Hundred Dollars worth of colored slides and the Three Hundred Dollar lamp will be managed by an expert. Prof. Barbour's discoveries in Nebraska are world famous and have really revolutionized certain departments in the scientific world. It is surprising to know that animals of enormous size once roamed the prairies of Nebraska. Remains of these animals have been found here in Richardson County. Just recently a single tooth weighing about five pounds was found in a sand pit near Dawson.

A Touch of Nature.

How the world loves a lover. Last Monday night was one of the most perfect moonlight nights I have ever seen. Out at Fort Hazel school house, way up in the hills of Arago, it was a scene of beauty never to be forgotten. The hills and oak woods were bathed in the white light, and the shadows huddled in the hollows like the memory of a dream—pale and unreal in the moonlight. I stood on the porch while the candidates remained in the school room talking realities and practical politics with the voters. A young lady—almost a little girl stepped out on the porch and a shy and embarrassed boy came toward her out of the shadow and to the accompaniment of the snickers of his companions said haltingly "may—I—see—you—home." She was surprised—of course she was. It was the last thing in the world she expected—this coming of the boy out of the shadow. Neither had thought of politics or political speakers that evening. They had been engrossed with more important things; for instance, the walk home in the moonlight. And so the little girl answered him, in a very self-conscious way, as she had been taught was proper; "with pleasure." And she took his arm and they walked out of the grove down onto the white highway down the hill to where the shadows lay; falling in love in the good old-fashioned way.

I was glad that I might see the simple beauty of it all again and to think of it during all the long drive home.

It Saved His Life After the Doctor Said He Had Consumption.

I commenced taking Foley's Honey and Tar and found relief from the first and three bottles cured me completely."

A Policeman's Testimony.

J. N. Patterson, night policeman, of Nashua, Iowa, writes: "Last winter I had a bad cold on my lungs and tried at least a half-dozen advertised cough medicines and had treatment from two physicians without getting any benefit. A friend recommended Foley's Honey and Tar and two-thirds of a bottle cured me. I consider it the greatest cough and lung medicine in the world."
