

Shakesperian Party.

A New Year's eve Shakesperian party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Gist, Saturday evening.

Broken quotations from Shakespere were given the guests to complete, also quotations which the guests were to locate and give the name of the character who altered them, W. A. Greenwald, E. S. Towle, A. G. Wanner, J. R. Cain and V. G. Lyford were among the most successful men guessers, while Mrs. D. D. Reavis, Mrs. J. C. Yutzzy, Mrs. W. W. Abbey and Mrs. A. G. Wanner were the successful ladies. After delicious refreshments, favors were given each guest. These were wrapped in large packages and each successive package contained a name of another guest with instructions to place the package in some out of the way place for the true owner to find. This feature proved very amusing before the favors, which were New Years bells, found their true owners. Reavis Gist favored those present with several very pretty vocal selections. The company dispersed just as the bells and guns were announcing the advent of 1905.

A New Years Wedding.

The first wedding of the New Year in Falls City occurred January 1st at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. S. Albright, when their daughter, Miss Claude Albright, was united to Mr. Hayden Prater. At three o'clock in the afternoon the words that made them husband and wife were pronounced by Dr. F. Pougéon in the presence of many immediate relatives.

These young people are well known and popular in this city; the bride being the daughter of Mr. George Albright, the popular miller in the Douglas Mills, and the groom being the son of Samuel Prater, one of Falls City's popular blacksmiths.

The Tribune joins in with their many friends in extending congratulations and wishing them a long, prosperous and happy journey on the sea of life and matrimony.

An Omission.

Because of lack of space we omitted several interesting interviews with local merchants last week. Among these was one with Chas. M. Wilson the grocer, who from a small room has built up his trade until he now occupies the whole lower floor of the Smucker building. Mr. Wilson speaks of the trade during 1904 as an improvement over the previous year, especially so in the fine line of china which he carries. Charlie has learned that the best is always the cheapest and because he has put his knowledge into his business career he is today among the first of Falls City's business men in stock and volume of business.

Another omission was that of John Wilson the popular tailor. Mr. Wilson has now been established here for several years, and each season finds his business of greater preceeding one. He says that 1904 was his best year and that if his customers are as well satisfied as he there is no one left to find fault. Mr. Wilson does not contemplate any change in policy, being satisfied to contain business on his personal quarter and "your money back if you are not satisfied" policy.

Congratulation.

Mr. John H. Cullon, Editor of the Garland, Texas, News, has written a letter of congratulations to the manufactureres of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, as follows: "Sixteen years ago when our first child was a baby he was subject to croupy spells and we would be very uneasy about him. We began using Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in 1887, and finding it such a reliable remedy for colds and croup, we have never been without it in the house since that time. We have five children and have given it to all of them with good results. For sale by A. G. Wanner.

This is the time of the rural route man's discontent. Imagine a twenty mile drive on Tuesday of last week. The farmers should show their gratitude to these faithful men in a substantial manner. A chicken, home made sausage, a few apples or potatoes will help settle the bread and butter question for them and augment their meager salaries considerably.

'T'was the morning after Christmas, "The cold gray dawn of the morning after." An old man stood on the streets of Falls City begging the price of a drink. He had been celebrating the anniversary of the birth of the child Jesus. He was ill clad, his nerves were in shreds, there were little puffy places under his red eyes. He had been having a good time the night before he said, "Christmas comes but once a year you know. I wish you would give me the price of a bracer, I'm all in." So he took the dime and got "the drink," and unwittingly preached a powerful temperance lecture to those who saw and heard him.

G. H. Fallstead Mgr. So. Dist. for the GERMANIA LIFE INSURANCE Co. of New York, has a plan of investment as an accumulation and guaranteed income for the education of the child at any given age. This plan embraces guaranteed results only found in what is known as Endowment Assurance. Parents will do well to investigate and receive information which we hope will be of interest to them. 2
