

Twice Told Tales.

CHANGES AT RESERVE.

There has been quite a change at Reserve since the resignation of M. S. Watson as postmaster. Miss Moore, the new postmaster, will occupy part of what is now the post-office and maintain the office in its present location until some time in the early summer, when in all probability a building will be secured by her for a residence and postoffice. Until she becomes familiar with the duties of the office, Mr. Willard will be her deputy, after which she will take complete charge with her mother as assistant, Mr. Willard retiring. Those who know the circumstances in assuming charge of a postoffice, will readily see the wisdom of making one who is so thoroughly familiar with the department rules as Mr. Willard, her temporary deputy, for perhaps a week or ten days. Miss Moore will be succeeded in the telephone exchange by Dan A. Watson who will have charge of the Northeast Co's interest there. Mrs. Watson will be the operator and Mr. Watson will continue his farming interests as in the past. Mr. Watson's residence will probably be occupied by his sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Schulze who are now residing in Hiawatha. —Hiawatha World.

Will Skalak lost a valuable Percheron mare last week as the result of the carelessness of hunters. Some time ago the animal was shot and blood poisoning resulted and she died. True sportsmen who know how to handle guns are blessed with a fair amount of common sense do not do these things and sometimes wonder why farmers post signs forbidding hunting on their premises. Sometimes they think it is because the farmer is selfish and cranky and simply wants to prevent others from having a good time. Such is seldom the case, but it is more often such losses as Mr. Skalak has sustained that compels the farmer to get behind the anti trespass laws for protection. Anyhow we believe that hunters ought to be compelled to take out a license and show that they are competent to handle a gun before being allowed to do so. —Humboldt Enterprise.

PROTECT THE QUAIL.

Hunters bring in reports to the effect that unless something is done to save them, thousands of quail will perish from starvation before the snow leaves the ground. Those who took part in the big hunt Tuesday say that they saw large coveys sitting in the snow with absolutely no visible food. In some cases the quail were seen trying to eat frozen hedge balls. If the farmers would each clear the snow from a small area on their land and scatter grain many quail might be saved. A stringent game law is no use if the birds are to be allowed to die of starvation. Protect the quail! —Humboldt Enterprise.

THINGS TO BE DESPISED.

There ought to be no "factions" in a country town. The prosperity of one individual affects the prosperity of every individual and every improvement made enhances the value of all the property in the corporation. A village is simply one big family. When there is discord there is little progress. When there is a united pull for anything its accomplishment is made easy. Envy, jealousy and hatred are things to be despised. Envy is a canker that gnaws at the heart and makes folks sour, disgruntled and unhappy. Jealousy wars the intellect and makes you unfair in passing judgment. Hatred doesn't pay even from a sordid point of view. The man you dislike is the man you don't know. Every human being has his good points. An English Sparrow isn't a nightingale. But why remind the sparrow of the fact? Life is short and complex at best. Why not make the best of it? Why not speak good instead of evil? Why not look for the silver lining in the cloud? Why not be fair and reasonable and just? And above all do not be an idler. Only the busy man or woman is happy. As a well known writer has so aptly said, "Do you work as well as you can and be kind—and be kind." —Ex.

Mrs. Fred E. Hoover has not been so well as usual the last month, and her mother, Mrs. Mary Chambers of Auburn came to her home to help take care of her. About three weeks ago Mrs. Chambers, Mrs. Harriet Hoover and baby Hoover were all taken sick on the same day, making four sick people in the house at one time. Mrs. Harriet Hoover died Monday night, and the others have been on the mend for over a week. Baby Hoover was seriously sick with pneumonia. —Stella Press.

COUGH UP DOC.

A citizen called at this office recently and complained because The World didn't mention him by his title. He was told that he ought to pay for his advertising like a man, if he feels the need of it. Too many professional men sponge off the printer. The doctor or lawyer who fails to carry a card in a paper should be charged ten cents a line for every mention of his name and title in print. —Hiawatha World.

Two girls from a neighboring town came near hair pulling on the street last Friday evening after the show. One girl was married and the other was not; and she who was unmarried was with and had attended the show with the husband of the other. Authorities interfered, saying if they had further trouble in Stella they would be arrested and fined. —Stella Press.

While coon hunting on the fair grounds, Wednesday evening C. Walker a son of Wm. Walker was shot in the thigh by the accidental discharge of a shot gun in the hands of Ray Lillidol.
