

Twice Told Tales

I'd like to wander back again and feel and feel the olden thrill
That used to make it jolly fun to coast on Cameron's hill.
How slow the clock hands moved around; how long it seemed till four!
When books and slates were laid aside and daily tasks were o'er.
As through the schoolroom window panes we watched the snowflakes fall,
Our thoughts were on the row of sleds that waited in the hall.
To teach the youngsters anything sore tried the teacher's skill
When snow and ice combined to make good coasting on the hill.

I'd like to wander back again and join the girls and boys
Who made the best, on Cameron's hill of winter's richest joys.
Beneath me I would like to feel the polished runners glide,
Though walking up the hill again were tribute for the ride.
But not so much for these alone would I the years retrace,
But more to see the smiling glow of many a vanished face.
To know that I, and all those friends, were happy youngster still,
I'd gladly backward turn to coast on Cameron's hill.

I'd like to wander back again—but ah, 'twere all in vain:
Of boys and girls and gliding sleds, but memories remain.
My boyhood sled long years ago has crumbled into dust,
Its polished runners, once so fleet, are eaten by the rust.
The same old bell perchance may ring forth from the same old tower,
Announcing in the same old way the glad dismissal hour;
The same old hill may still invite with smooth and icy track—
But not the same old boys and girls—they're never coming back!

The court house officials at Falls City generously contributed $2.75 to the poor of that city.—Hiawatha World.

George W. Wertz of St. Joe arrived Monday and will visit several days with friends and relatives.—Salem Index.

SEND HIM TO THE ISLE OF SPICE.
He saw her step upon the walk
(The ice began to thaw.)
Just then her heels flew in the air
But that was all he saw.—Hastings Tribune.

A. J. Weaver and Ed Falloon were up from Falls City on legal business the latter part of last week.—Humboldt Leader.

J. B. Babcock, Joseph Ray, Ben Mullen and Aaron King were at Falls City most of the week serving on the petit jury in district court.—Humboldt Leader.

Rev. and Mrs. Garbertson accompanied by a crowd of young people started to Falls City Tuesday night to attend the revival meetings but was unable to get through the snow drifts.—Salem Index.

The action of President Roosevelt in designating a citizen of Humboldt for a much coveted place on the federal bench, is an honor to the city, to the county and to the state, and it is no more than fitting that our people should let it be so understood.—Humboldt Leader.

THE BREAD AND DOUGH QUESTION.

A young man who has not been many years a benedict carefully laid aside a piece of bread the other night and said to his wife: "I wish you could make bread such as my mother used to make." The young wife smiled and remarked in a voice that did not tremble: "Well Syd, I wish you could make the dough that father used to make." A hush as silent as that of death fell so suddenly that Syd almost lost his breath and the bread and dough question hasn't come up for family discussion since.—Newton Journal.

Ed King was one of the few traveling men to make Humboldt this week. There are no figures on the thermometer to indicate a temperature low enough to keep Mr. King from discharging his duties.—Humboldt Enterprise.

J. T. Locke, a young farmer living near this city made a splendid record last year. He had 106 acres in corn and cribbed 6300 bushels. He also fed 800 sheep and marketed them at a net profit of $1,400.—Humboldt Enterprise.

HENRY TAKES A TRIP.

A committee from the state legislature visited the Iowa state agriculture college at Ames, on a tour of inspection. When a committee from a republican legislature makes such a tour the democrats refer to it as a "junketing trip" or a pleasure trip at the expense of the state, and therefore some thing very wrong. This being the case, it pained us very much to note that our friend Henry Gerdes was a member of the committee that went to Ames.—Humboldt Enterprise.

F. C. SPORTS GREAT KILLERS.

Sixteen Falls City men who could have been engaged in a great deal better business killed 367 rabbits, four crows, four owls and three jack-rabbits in the big "hunt" the other day. What sport there is in slaughtering rabbits by the wagon load is more than the sporting editor of this paper can understand. The men ought to be prosecuted for killing the owls, which are of inestimable value around a farm.—Hiawatha World.

VIRTUE ITS OWN REWARD.

Joe Vandevere, a colored citizen of Highland, died recently. The best church in town was opened for his funeral and it was crowded, although the day was cold. The schools were also closed for a half day. Vandevere was only a humble citizen who earned a living by doing odd jobs of house cleaning, portering, etc., but he was honest, kind, competent, industrious and made himself one of the most beloved citizens of the town.—Hiawatha World.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy the Mother's Favorite.

The soothing and healing properties of this remedy, its pleasant taste and prompt and permanent cures have made it a favorite with people everywhere. It is especially prized by mothers of small children, for colds, croup and whooping cough, as it always affords quick relief, and as it contains no opium or other harmful drug, it may be given as confidently to a baby as to an adult. For sale at Kerrs Drug Store.

A Business Change.

Werner & Mosiman have purchased the Jacob Daeschner implement business, together with the residence of the latter. Mr. Daeschner has been in poor health for some time and felt it necessary to be released from business cares. We are informed that he intends to remove to his farm in McPherson county, Kan. While Falls City will greatly regret the departure of Mr. Daeschner and his estimable family, it is a pleasure to record the great advance made by the firm of Werner & Mosiman in the implement business. This firm for a time will operate two houses, one where they are now situated and the one recently acquired by the purchase above noted. It is their intention to release their present building in the near future and confine themselves to the Daeschner building recently purchased.

Dave DeHaven was quite ill the first of the week.
