

KIDNEY DISEASES CAUSE ONE-THIRD OF THE TOTAL DEATHS.

When the Kidneys fail to perform their functions properly by not straining out the poisonous waste matter from the blood as it passes through them, the poisons are carried by the circulation to every part of the body, deranging the different organs. This causes heart trouble, stomach trouble, sluggish liver and a host of other ills, all due to deranged Kidneys.

CURED OF BRIGHT'S DISEASE.

Mr. Robert G. Burke, Elnora, Saratoga Co., N. Y., writes:—I am glad to have an opportunity of telling what magnificent results I have had from using FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE after having tried other advertised medicines and several physicians. Before I began it I had to get up from 12 to 20 times each night to relieve my bladder. I was all bloated up with dropsy and my eyesight was so impaired that I could scarcely see one of my family across the room. In fact, I was so badly used up that I had given up hope of living when I was urged by a friend to try FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE. One 50-cent bottle worked wonders, and before I had taken the third bottle the superfluous flesh had gone, as well as all other symptoms of Kidney trouble. My friends were surprised that I was cured, as they all thought I was going to die. Every few days some one comes from miles away to learn the name of the wonderful medicine that cured me of Bright's Disease, and not one that has tried it has failed to be benefitted.

whole system, and the diseases that have resulted from disordered Kidneys disappear, because the cause has been removed. Commence taking FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE at the first sign of danger. Do not risk having Bright's Disease or Diabetes.

RULO SCHOOL NOTES.

The reading circle met Friday evening, May 12, and finished the work of the year.

Last Friday the school held a picnic in the park. Many parents were present. We had a May pole dance, races, boy's base ball game and girl's base ball game, the third room girls winning over the fourth grade girls.

Our high school graduating exercises were held last Friday evening. The pupils did splendidly. At the close of the exercises five eighth grade graduates marched forward and received eighth grade diplomas. The pupils in the grades have done strong work, many promotions being made from each class.

Our institute will be held August 7 to 12, inclusive. The school laws of Nebraska require each teacher to attend the institute.

The Stella high school received $9.48 as their share of the net proceeds of the county Field day.

This was to defray expenses, but the boys have put it in the athletic treasury to buy what things they need for their next year's sport.

The graduates of Rulo high school met in the school room on Tuesday evening, May 23, and organized an Alumni association. The following officers were elected: President, James Hosford; vice president, Miss Rose Plante; treasurer, Mrs. Malvena Horan; secretary, Miss Ella Carpenter. After a short program light refreshments were served. About 85 were present.

District No. 101, Vesta Williams teacher. The interest in our school kept up well until the close. The last day we gave a big dinner, 44 visitors were present. The pupils gave a program in the afternoon and ciphered against the visitors. We have a library of 60 volumes, 30 books and the dictionary were added this year.

GERMANY'S BLACK LETTER.

Comparison of Texts Used in Printing in the Fatherland—Show Unprogressiveness.

"It is remarkable that so practical a people as the Germans should continue to use their blind black letter," says Jerome Hart, in the New Orleans Times-Democrat. "The German text is ugly, and when printed from small type, on dingy paper, with high-speed presses, as is the case with most daily newspapers, it is difficult to decipher. Ever since the days of Cadmus alphabets have been designed to convey ideas, and those alphabets which transfer thought with the most quickness, clearness and precision are the best. Considered from these standpoints the German alphabet is one of the worst. That it is a failure is shown unconsciously in many ways. Advertisers, for example, have no sentiment about them. They want to reach the reader and reach him quickly. Therefore, nearly all the display advertisements in German newspapers are printed in Latin characters.

"So, too, with the commercial and financial pages. Stock brokers and merchants have no time to waste in deciphering badly printed German text; therefore the commercial page in the German dailies is now nearly always set up in Roman type. Circus advertisements, theater placards and advertising posters generally; the names of streets on the corner signs; the lettering on cars and omnibuses; even temporary signs, such as 'No Thoroughfare' or 'Street Closed,' you nearly always see in Latin characters.

"Another proof of the inferiority of the German text is the fact that nearly all German scientific works are printed in Roman. This has been the case for years, but it has had little effect on the printing of books of a general nature. Bismarck did much to retard this needed improvement, for he clung steadily to the German text and frequently sent back books which were printed in Roman, refusing to read them."

SMALL RAY OF HOPE LEFT.

Story Doesn't Say Whether the Girl Felt the Same Way—Tale by Governor Folk.

Gov. Folk of Missouri was talking about the bill prohibiting the use of alum in baking powder, says the New York Tribune.

A legislator described to the governor two conflicting aspects of the alum and baking powder question, and each of these aspects was lamentable.

"I am reminded," said Gov. Folk, smiling, "of a Tennessean named George Jones. George lived in Brownsville—Brownsville is my native town—and he had red hair.

"Red hair is fashionable now, but in George Jones' early youth it was considered a good deal of a disgrace. Hence George, though a fascinating chap, did not have much success with the young women.

"However, one fine night he raked up enough courage to propose to a girl with whom he was very deeply in love. She replied to his suit in a sad voice:

"I am sorry, George, but I could never marry anyone with red hair."

"George smiled hopefully and said:

"That is nothing. My barber tells me that at the rate my hair is falling out I'll be completely bald in two years."

Matter of Stripes.

A small boy from the north who was visiting a relative in one of the southern states where convict labor is employed in public improvements became interested in the men in their black and white striped clothes. One day he went to a circus and for the first time in his life saw a zebra.

"Oh, auntie," he cried, "look at the convict mule!"—Lippincott's Magazine.

Congratulations.

When Ethel cabled to her father from London her engagement to the duke of Manchester, he replied simply: "Congratulations;" and when, a week later, she cabled that the engagement was off again, he answered with cheerful reiteration: "Congratulations."—Reader Magazine.

"Going Up?"

"What was the man with the turned-up nose asking you?" said a man coming out of a New York office building, to a friend.

"Oh, he was looking for some one on the 15th floor, and I told him to follow his nose."—Yonkers Statesman.
