THE REPRISAL.

Lancaster county is mad. For years things have been coming her way, and that the pendulum is now swinging the other way is the cause of grief and anger. Lancaster has 32 per cent of the delegates in the republican convention, the six country counties have 68 per cent. For twenty years more or less the 32 per cent has been seated at the table demanding, not alone the choicest, but all of the feast. At the convention held in this city June 1st, the dog concluded to change the procedure and set aside precedent by wagging the tail instead of permitting the tail to wag the dog as heretofore. Consequently Lancaster is mad clear through. The country counties are to be punished. The delegation to the next legislature from hogville will combine with the counties in the western part of the state to pass a re-apportionment bill which will cut down the legislature representation of Cass, Otoe, Nemaha, Richardson, Pawnee and Johnson counties. Thus will Lancaster get even.

For years these outside counties have been voting to keep the state fair at Lincoln. For years these six counties have voted in favor of large appropriations for state fair buildings and to maintain the fair as a successful institution. For years the vote of Richardson and the other counties have been favorable to the appropriations for the state university. For years every state institution located in Lincoln has received fair and liberal treatment at the hands of the legislators from the six counties. Don't be foolish, you statesmen from the empire of Lancaster. Don't try to shove the country counties. They carry "the big stick." "Don't start noth'in."

The Journal received a unique distinction this week. Bide Dudley of the Kansas City Star edits a column of fearfully and wonderfully made extracts from the country press. The article in last week's Journal entitled "A model farm" was thought to be quite up to the requirements of Mr. Dudley's column, and was accordingly sent him. He reproduced it and acknowledged its receipt with thanks, asking for further contributions of the same sort. If you failed to read this model literary production, look up last last week's Journal and do so. It is worth while. You will readily understand the remark of a Humboldt gentleman who said, "I read the Journal for its grammatical mistakes."

Next week the Tribune becomes the largest paper in Richardson County. The consolidation of the Tribune and Enterprise will give a guaranteed circulation of more than 2000 subscribers. We shall not be content with this. The half hundred stock holders are each taking an interest in increasing this circulation to three thousand before the year is out. These stockholders are scattered through every precinct from Dawson to the river and their combined efforts will make The Tribune one of the best and largest country papers in the west within the next twelve months. Remember, our circulation is guaranteed and our books open to the inspection of every advertiser.

Governor Mickey is endearing himself to people of the state by his determined and aggressive fight to compel the railroad to share their part of the tax. For years they been evading their taxes at the expense of the individual, but it seems that the day of special interests is gone by. Under the leadership of the governor and Attorney General Brown the assessment will be raised to a fair figure this year.

It is the duty of every republican to vote at the special election to be held in July. Mr. Pollard is all fours with the President on the railroad rate proposition and should receive the vote of every man in the favor of "the square deal".

The Fourth of July celebration in this city will meet the amusement demands of everybody. There will be sports of all kinds and fireworks unlimited. You owe yourself this holiday. Spend it with us.

Don't think that the policy of this paper is to be changed because of the consolidation. It will fight the battles of the republican party in much the same old way.

As the literary head of our more or less esteemed contemporary would say, "it is some warm this week".
