Falls City's Carnival.

The C. W. Parker shows have no followers, in other words grafters, fakirs or gamblers. It is one particular pride of the management that any lady or child can go up and down the "Pike" accompanied, visit every show and have a good time without seeing anything immoral or being afraid of grafts or insults. They have in their employ two special detectives whose whole duty is to see that the patrons of the attractions are properly taken care of. He also carries numerous gentlemanly ushers whose sole duty is to supply information and look after the general welfare of the patrons. The date in Falls City is July 24 to 30 and the management especially invites the ladies and children to be their guests up and down the Pike.

Persistence is not Seasonable Like Fall and Summer Goods :: ::

We as merchants and you as customers know that success in anything depends upon careful and persistent industry at all times.
