

FALLS CITY TRIBUNE.

CONSOLIDATED WITH THE HUMBOLDT ENTERPRISE, JUNE 23, 1905.

Vol. II

FALLS CITY, NEBRASKA, FRIDAY, JULY 28, 1905.

Whole No. 82

Can you keep warm?

Judge Wilhite spent Sunday at Stella.

W. H. Morrow was down from Shubert Tuesday.

W. G. Hummel of Dawson was seeing the carnival here Tuesday.

Will Ramsey is up from St. Joe to spend this week with his parents.

T. J. Whitaker went to Auburn Friday afternoon on business.

Willis Ransom spent a few days the first of the week in Omaha.

Mrs. Chas. Maddox and children of Preston were in town Tuesday.

Dorothy White returned Friday afternoon from a weeks visit in Hiawatha.

Miss Rhoda Naylor, of Holton, is visiting her cousins, Elizabeth and Laura Naylor in this city.

Mrs. F. C. Wiser and daughter, Nellie, returned to Verdon Monday, after spending Sunday here.

Walter Morehead, of Barada, was in town Monday and from here went to Auburn to attend the circus.

J. T. McKinney, of Omaha, spent several days with J. C. Spear and family in this city the past week.

A. D. Gise came down from Pawnee City Saturday. He was on his way to Humboldt to visit relatives a few days.

J. F. Shubert, who will be a candidate for county clerk was in town Tuesday looking after his political interests.

Mrs. Walter Van Laningham came down from Stella to spend several days with her parents, David Ransom and wife.

John Manshart, wife and son returned to their home in St. Joe after visiting his father, Rev. C. Manshart and family here.

The dog catcher is abroad in the land, and many are the curses the small boy without the price of a licence is heaping upon him.

Dr. Hannah Fleming was taken to Omaha Saturday where she will receive medical treatment. She had her ankle broken about a week ago.

You can't always tell by the prayer a man makes whether his credit is good in his home town or not.—Robinson, Kans., Index.

A number of our citizens who went to Wichita last week returned home Friday. They had a pleasant time and report that they saw some very fine land.

Mrs. Grace Strong returned to home in Strongburg, Neb., Wednesday after visiting her parents. G. H. Fisher and wife and many friends for some time.

Lucy Smith, of Barada, spent a few days the first of the week with Goldie Yocum. Monday she went to Auburn to attend chautauqua and the circus.

Anna Schmidli left the latter part of the week for St. Joe to visit her parents, J. Schmidli and wife. She will be gone several weeks and while away will take medical treatment.

Bob Moore the young colored man who recently lost a leg by falling beneath a Missouri Pacific train in this city, was down from Humboldt Tuesday seeing the carnival sights.

The members of the Presbyterian C. E. drove to the Missouri Lakes Tuesday returning home on Wednesday. They report a fine time and brought home a number of large fish.

Not What She Meant.

It is related that at a picnic held last week, a number of the girls sneaked off and went swimming. Some of the boys were searching for a fishing place, and the mermaids hearing their approach hurried out of the water and made for the brush. One of the frightened swimmers, who thought herself well concealed said to a companion, "I have a dandy hide." A boy happened along at this time and gazing critically at a leg sticking through the vines said; "It looks good to me."

Resisted Arrest.

Elmer Tuttle got drunk at Salem Tuesday and proceeded to create a disturbance. When the village marshal attempted to place him under arrest he put up a lively fight and resisted the officer of the law to the best of his ability. The marshal secured the assistance of Captain Grinstead and the two succeeded in placing Tuttle under arrest. He was brought to this city and lodged in the county jail to await trial.

The Falls City Ball Players.

In speaking of a ball game played recently between Hastings and Kearney teams, The Hastings Tribune says;

Harry Fochlinger, the fleet footed short stop, is a Falls City boy who is an experienced player.

Third base is held down in ye olden style by Claire Foster who hails from Falls City.

Gus Ruegge, pitcher, and Thomas Poteet, catcher, are two more Falls City boys who have won the confidence of the local fans.

Small Boy Hurt.

Mrs. O'Mara, a widow lady living seven miles north of the city came to town Wednesday accompanied by her seven-year old son to see the street fair. During the afternoon the boy strayed away from his mother and climbed onto the high fence surrounding the county jail in order that he might see the loop the loop. He lost his balance and fell into an open cellar way, sustaining numerous and severe bruises. His injuries were dressed, after which the little fellow was taken to his home.

Young Men Butted In.

Miss Elizabeth and Misses Elta and Clara Boose entertained the members of the Young Ladies Kensington club of the Presbyterian church on last Friday evening. The members of the club came with their kensington bags well filled with fancy work and all were busily engaged when two young men appeared on the scene. They too, had Kensington bags and fancy work. These credentials however were not recognized by the society and the male intruders were only allowed to remain and ply the needle and crochet hook, after each had paid a special license fee of one dollar. While all were present and busy with the work in hand, a mail carrier called at the house and left a sealed proposal of marriage to each maiden lady present. The members of the club, however, had reserved the right to reject any and all bids and the same was promptly done although the matter furnished much amusement for all. The evening was spent in a very pleasant manner. Refreshments were served.

Frank Todd came down from Humboldt Wednesday to attend the street fair.

The Street Fair.

The street fair has proven a great success for the Parker Amusement Co. The aggregation arrived in the city on time and pitched its tents along Stone street and the adjacent streets. Without exception, the shows are good and those who patronized them have gotten value received. The free attractions have been conspicuous by their absence and the farmer who has come town to see the sights has found himself in the position of a man who is invited to a party and is then asked to pay for the refreshments. The streets have presented a gala appearance and the music of the band and the merry-go-round organ and the cry of the spieler have given the necessary atmosphere to the street fair. But the carnival was not what the people expected. They were led to believe that there would be free attractions and that a price would not be put upon everything in the way of amusement. The street fair will not prove a paying proposition from a business standpoint. Entertainment has been afforded to those who cared to pay for it.

It is only from a business point of view that the street fair has been unsuccessful for the company has given clean entertainments and all connected with it have conducted themselves in a proper manner. One can hardly blame them for getting the best of the bargain when they are able to do so.

NOTES.

The band is not the best in the world, but, it is above the average travelling organization of this kind.

The merry-go-round organ has attracted considerable attention. It is a wonderful piece of mechanism. It is clever mechanical device—in fact it is more interesting from a mechanical than from a musical standpoint.

The necessary apparatus for a high dive had been installed in front of Wahl's store, but Tuesday a passing wagon ran into a guy rope and the damage was sufficient to put that apparatus out of commission. A schute for the loop-the-gap act was then erected and a man mounted on a bicycle has performed this thrilling feat every day to the delight of the assembled multitudes.

A Falls City man who ought to know, says that the Katzenjammer castle idea was originated by some poor devil, "in the cold gray dawn of the morning after."

Those ice cream sandwiches are doubtless very good, but the person eating one appears about as awkward as a man eating green corn from the cob.

The trip to the Alps was very entertaining. Mechanical ingenuity assisted by a healthy imagination enabled the beholder to duly appreciate the spectacle.

The statue turning to life is an old illusion but never fails to entertain and mystify.

A young man and woman from Dawson were riding on the Ferris wheel Tuesday night. "Wouldn't it be nice," said the young man as they reached the top of the wheel, "if we could ride this way through life together?" He followed the question with a more direct proposal, but just then the wheel stopped and the young lady, taking it as a bad sign, turned down his proposition.

On last Thursday County Judge Wilhite performed the ceremony uniting in marriage Samuel Knowles and Sadie G. Wing, both of Mound City, Mo.

Congressman Pollard Married.

Hon. E. M. Pollard, the newly elected congressman from the first district and Gertrude Waterman were married at the home of the bride's parents in Omaha on Tuesday evening. The romance which led to the marriage began in Lincoln some time ago and while in the midst of the recent congressional campaign, Mr. Pollard was also making plans for the important step that has just been taken. The congressman-elect and his bride have left for a trip to the Pacific coast.

No Law Suit.

Under the above caption the last issue of the Journal related an alleged attempt on the part of a local lawyer to involve the city in a law suit with the Jesse James show. Of course the account was a baseless falsehood. The proprietor of the show did seek advice of a lawyer with reference to his rights in the matter and was told that he could sue out a mandamus to compel the mayor to sign the show license, but inasmuch as the application would have to be time enough to get the writ signed as no judge of that court was in the city. Judge Wilhite says that the statement of the Journal to the effect that he was asked to issue an injunction is not correct, as no such request was made by anyone. If the legal department of that paper would stop and think for a moment he would know that no lawyer would ask for an injunction in the case where the thing required is compulsory action and not to restrain action. We might add further that if the Journal is correct in saying that industry tends to increase a lawyers, business, that it would not be a bad idea for its legal department to get busy.

Warm Time at Council Meeting.

In response to an invitation from the mayor all of the clergy men of the city together with a number of our most representative citizens met with the council Monday evening to remonstrate over the gambling and other illegal things now taking place in this city. The mayor was in consultation with Francis Martin on the steps of the German church immediately before the session, and from what we learn was loaded for bear when the show commenced. We have been unable to get the exact facts but one the participants said "the mayor spent most of his time in lauding himself and the rest of the time in abusing us and The Tribune. I told our people what we might expect and had the satisfaction of saying I told you so after the adjournment." It is to be regretted that the present conditions, but The Tribune can say with the preacher, "we told you so."

Child Injured.

On last Thursday the infant son of Chas. Heineman stepped on a nail the point of which entirely pierced the little fellows foot. Dr. Burchard was called to dress the injury, which proved to be exceedingly painful and caused the unfortunate little fellow much distress. The wound is healing perfectly.

Joe Morris, Hugh Leatherman, Lou Beard and Herb Dorland were among the Humboldt people who came down Wednesday to visit the fair.

Miss Emma Frank of Quincy, Ill. was a guest at the home of J. C. Tanner this week.

Notice

The Richardson county teachers' institute will be held in Falls City, August 7-12th inclusive. It seems that the enrollment will reach 175. We are anxious to secure boarding places for these teachers. Those who will take teachers to room and board will confer a favor by making the same known to me.

Lost Valuable Hog

Wm Brandow, owner of the Nemaha Valley herd of Duroc Jerseys has had the misfortune to lose Eskort 29501, one of his most valuable animals. The animal was a grandson of Duroc Challenger 11163, a hog that was valued at more than $750. The loss is a heavy one, although Mr. Brandow reports that the other animals comprising this noted herd are in fine condition.
