

Republican County Convention.

Falls City, Neb., July 8, 1905. The republicans of Richardson county, Nebraska, are hereby requested to meet in convention to the opera house in Stella, Nebraska, on Tuesday, September 12, 1905, at 2 o'clock p. m. for the purpose of placing in nomination, a county treasurer, a county clerk, a county judge, a superintendent of public instruction, a sheriff, a county surveyor and a coroner. Also for the purpose of selecting twenty-one delegates to the republican state convention to be held in Lincoln, Nebraska, on September 14, 1905, and for the transaction of such other business as may come before the convention.

The basis of representation being one delegate for each ten votes or major fraction thereof cast for the Hon. Theodore Roosevelt for president in 1904, the several precincts being entitled to the following delegates:

Table with 3 columns: PRECINCT, COMMITTEEMAN, NO. DEL. Lists precincts like Arago, North Barada, South Barada, Franklin, Falls City pr, Falls City 1 wd, Falls City 2 wd, Falls City 3 wd, Grant, Humboldt pr, Humboldt 1 wd, Humboldt 2 wd, Jefferson, Liberty, East Muddy, West Muddy, Nemaha, Ohio, Porter, Rulo, Salem, Speiser with their respective committeemen and number of delegates.

It is recommended the caucuses be held on Saturday September 9, 1905, at a place and hour designated by the several precinct committeemen, who are requested to make the necessary calls and arrange the details for holding the same.

Attest W. E. DORRINGTON, J. L. CLEAVER, Secretary.

Are Details Necessary?

The Omaha Bee objects to what it terms an "indefinite" approval of the policies of President Roosevelt on the part of republicans gathered in county convention. In a demand to republican conventions to "speak out plainly" the Bee says:

"A republican convention already held in Thayer county has set the pace by adopting a set of resolutions equivalent to instruction for their delegates to the state convention on these subjects. These resolutions affirm belief in the policies of President Roosevelt and favor their enactment into law. The intent of this declaration is, no doubt, good, but the expression in our opinion, is altogether too indefinite. Every convention of republicans held in Nebraska this year should not only declare approval of the president's policies, but it should vote up or down a resolution of instruction on the delegates selected in favor of a plank in the state platform specifically endorsing President Roosevelt's plan of railroad rate regulation and calling upon Nebraska representatives in congress to vote for a measure that commands the president's approval."

There is no room to doubt that the rank and file of the republican party in Nebraska is lined up in earnest support of all the important policies which President Roosevelt stands for and it really makes little difference what specific language is used in voicing that sentiment in a convention declares "that it favors the enactment into law of the policies of President Roosevelt," it means it as thoroughly as if it had catalogued those policies and answered in each instance. Nebraska is standing squarely by Roosevelt and representatives of Nebraska in senate and house know it thoroughly and well. They will show a wise discretion by not forgetting it, even if Nebraska county conventions do not indulge in details and present plans and specifications in every case.—Nebraska City Tribune.

Speaking of President Roosevelt, blessed are the peacemakers.

Market Letter.

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 4, '05:—More than 69,000 cattle came in last week, the largest run this season, but this week has got a pretty good start today, with 24,000 head. Corn fed steers and best grass steers gained 10 to 25 cents last week, and are a little higher today. Medium and common grass cattle, cow stuff and stockers and feeders sold steady to 15 cents lower last week, and these kinds are weak to 10 lower today. Seven hundred cars of stockers and feeders went to the country from here last week, and a total of 70,000 head went out during August, against 65,000 in August last year. The feature of the heavy business so far this fall is the large buying of the packers, they slaughtered 155,000 cattle here in August this year, as compared with 95,000 last year in August.

A good many steers sold at $5.75 to $6.10 last week, and one bunch sold at $6.20 today, the highest price since April. Bulk of the corn fed steers sell at $5.35 to $5.90, grass steers $4.50 to $5 for best ones, westerns $3.25 to $4.40. Some grass cows sold at $3.75 today, but most of the grass she stuff moves at $2.35 to $3.25, canners about the usual price $1.75 to $2.20, bulls $2.15 to $3.25. Veals are 25 to 50 cents higher this week, at $4. to $6 for all weights. Best heavy feeders held about steady last week at $3.80 to $4.35, medium class stockers 600 to 800 pounds, of which a large share of the receipts was made up, lost 25 cents, selling at $3.20 to $3.75, common stuff $250. to $3. The 24,000 head received today are selling fairly active, corn cattle a little higher, other cattle weak to 10 lower, veals steady. A large number of country buyers are here.

The packers have apparently set out to break the hog market. Twenty-five cents was taken off last week, and the market is 5 to 10 lower today. Receipts are extremely small, only 3000 today, but this has no effect whatever on prices. Top today is $5.80, bulk of sales $5.65 to $5.75. If receipts continue small the decline may be checked temporarily.

Sheep and lamb receipts were heavy last week, 34,000, mostly from Utah, and the run is large today, 10,000 head. Prices held about steady last week, although trade was not quite as snappy as heretofore. A good many stock and feeding sheep and lambs were secured last week, ewes at $3.50 to $4, wethers $4.25 to $4.50, yearlings up to $5 and lambs at $5 to $5.50. Fat stock sells at $7 to $7.50, for best lambs, wethers and yearlings $5 to $5.50, ewes $4.35 to $4.75. Market weak today.

With the Philosophers.

FROM THE YORK TIMES.

If people do not have real trouble they always borrow it. There is never any difficulty in finding plenty who can make it to order.

If you have a heavy load and an up-grade the only way ever to reach the top is by a steady pull. Keeping everlastingly at it wins at last.

We can all get rich. It's a pity we can not all be contented. That is ever so much better than being rich.

Some people get just as mad if you make a mistake as though you did them an intentional injury.

Prejudice is often the father of opinion.

KIDNEY DISEASES CAUSE ONE-THIRD OF THE TOTAL DEATHS.

When the Kidneys fail to perform their functions properly by not straining out the poisonous waste matter from the blood as it passes through them, the poisons are carried by the circulation to every part of the body, deranging the different organs. This causes heart trouble, stomach trouble, sluggish liver and a host of other ills, all due to deranged Kidneys.

FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE

corrects irregularities and cures Kidney and Bladder diseases in every form, tones up the whole system, and the diseases that have resulted from disordered Kidneys disappear, because the cause has been removed. Commence taking FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE at the first sign of danger. Do not risk having Bright's Disease or Diabetes.

CURED OF BRIGHT'S DISEASE. Mr. Robert G. Burke, Elmore, Saratoga Co., N. Y., writes:—I am glad to have an opportunity of telling what magnificent results I have had from using FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE after having tried other advertised medicines and several physicians. Before I began it I had to get up from 12 to 20 times each night to relieve my bladder. I was all bloated up with dropsy and my eyesight was so impaired that I could scarcely see one of my family across the room. In fact, I was so badly used up that I had given up hope of living when I was urged by a friend to try FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE. One 50-cent bottle worked wonders, and before I had taken the third bottle the superfluous flesh had gone, as well as all other symptoms of Kidney trouble. My friends were surprised that I was cured, as they all thought I was going to die. Every few days some one comes from miles away to learn the name of the wonderful medicine that cured me of Bright's Disease, and not one that has tried it has failed to be benefitted.

Two Sizes, 50 Cents and $1.00.

Limitations on Roosevelt.

From the National Review.

President Roosevelt is forbidden by the constitution to leave the country, even for a day. This is an old, unwritten law respected by all successors of George Washington. It would not be correct to say that he is forbidden by statute, for such is not the case. But it would be constitutionally incorrect. President McKinley went on one occasion to meet President Diaz of Mexico somewhere near the boundary of the sister republic. The state department were much concerned that Mr. McKinley should not cross the frontier even for a few hours. But Mr. McKinley wanted to see Mexico. Here was a real difficulty. From El Paso there extends into Mexico the international bridge over the Rio Grande. Whether the president would dare cross this or not, the members of his suite asked each other apprehensively. He did not. He went to the bridge and caught sight of Sierra Madre. Half way across the bridge was a line. Stepping over this was putting a foot upon Mexican territory. President Harrison had ventured as far as this line ten years before. But McKinley did not so much as place his foot upon the bridge! Two presidents have been accused of defying this law. General Arthur in 1893, gave his political enemies a handle by venturing dangerously near Canadian frontier; and Mr. Cleveland got into trouble by passing the three-mile limit outside the American coast line on an expedition past Cape Hatteras.

Mr. Roosevelt recently described the presidency as a post "of ceaseless anxiety and continual toil." This was no empty phrase, for the chief of the United States cannot delegate his powers to anybody, not even the vice president. Only in case of the removal of the president from office, of his death, or of his "inability," can his duties devolve upon the vice-president. Congress has never defined "inability." It certainly would not include a desire for a short holiday or pleasure trip. While President Garfield lay dying, a quarrel arose among the members of the government as to whether the vice-president should assume the duties. This General Arthur stoutly refused to do so long as the president retain a spark of life. Even upon his death bed Mr. Garfield had to be roused, according to this cruel etiquette, to put his name to a state paper.

President Roosevelt must not enter a foreign embassy or legation. This is an other unwritten law. The official residence of an ambassador or minister is regarded in every country as foreign territory. But America is not content with the legal immunity which is thus always granted to the ambassador's establishments. King Edward or the German emperor do not hesitate to dine at the table of any foreign representative in London or Berlin. At Washington, however, no matter how friendly might be the personal relation between President Roosevelt and, say the British ambassador, the "and tapers" would be up in a second if they heard of a quiet dinner party, with Mr. Roosevelt as guest. The idea seems to be that the acceptance of hospitality would put the president under an obligation to the foreigner. President Arthur was accused of breaking this rule, too, having been it is said, a frequent guest of the German minister. Further, it would be highly improper for Mr. Roosevelt to go on board a foreign warship, even when anchored in an American harbor.

The Conference.

The Nebraska conference of the M. E. church will meet in our city September 19, 1905. It has been eleven years since the conference visited Falls City. Two hundred men, representing one of the largest religious denominations of the United States, should be kindly welcomed.

We respectfully appeal to the people of our city to aid in entertaining this conference. We need meals for forty-five men at once. If you can furnish meals for two at your home or at one of the boarding houses or hotels it will be appreciated. Those who can help please notify the pastor or one of the officials.

Sells & Downs United Shows.

The Great Sells & Downs United Shows will exhibit in Falls City, Monday, September 11th, giving two performances. From a look at the array of talent that Sells & Downs have engaged for this season it would seem that they have made the effort of their lives to give the public a performance superior to any that has ever been given. They will present the famous Pontiac Zouaves, 27 in number, the finest drilled soldiers in the world, and Capt. Winston's educated Seals and Sea Lions. These mild-eyed denizens of the mighty deep are trained to play upon musical instruments—guitars, drums and cymbals—fire off guns, drill like soldiers, play base ball, and many other astonishing feats, and to cap the climax they are taught to sing solos, all joining in the chorus, "A home in the deep blue sea," to them not a meaningless melody, but a touching ballad, awakening thoughts of home and kindred, that these seals seem to understand.
