

Home of the Sunnyside Poland Chinas

A mile and a half north of Humboldt is situated the Sunnyside Breeding farm of which Segrist & Stout are the proprietors. This fine and well equipped farm is the home of the noted Sunnyside herd of Poland Chinas, a herd that is known all over the west for the excellence of its individuals as well as from its collective merits. The farm has every improvement and convenience necessary to the model stock farm and the picture of the fine large barn, which appears herewith will give some idea of the nature of the improvements. Both Mr. Segrist and Mr. Stout are practical hog men and take great pride in their herd and lose no opportunity to strengthen and improve it. Mr. Segrist is the head field man for the Nebraska Farmer and his work keeps him close contact with the leading breeders of the west and enables him to keep up-to-date in his ideas and to profit by the best experience of men who have been eminently successful in the business. Mr. Stout has the herd constantly under his personal supervision and his knowledge, ability and judgement contributes largely to that high degree of excellence to which the Sunnyside herd has been raised.

China. No judge of Poland Chinas has ever seen Sir Gaspar without being impressed by striking individuality and his smooth and well balanced build. At the head of the Sunnyside herd he has proven a wonder. His get has always proven him a good sire and his descendants now head some of the largest and best known herds in this and other states.

Another animal of which the proprietors of the Sunnyside herd are justly proud, is McK'S Choice Tecumseh 3d 33020. Of him Segrist & Stout have well said, "His get show much quality and are very attractive. He has done us a wonderful lot of good and his get goes out and does the buyer good as well. He comes from a good family, having both a winning sire and dam. McK'S was the top price pig of McKelvie's sale two years ago. His pigs are liked by all good judges of hogs. One of his get was shown at the recent state fair and won third honors in a class of near fifty."

Segrist & Stout have just announced their annual sale of Sunnyside Poland Chinas to be held at the sale pavilion in Humboldt on Wednesday, October 18. The sale will attract much attention from breeders and hog men generally. Their sale last year was one of the biggest in the state attracting buyers from great distances. This year they are offering forty-five head of thrifty Polands.

With the Publishers.

Last week was the busiest week in the history of The Tribune office. The big run of job work kept everybody busy and the presses were kept running all of every day and a part of every night. Sometimes we wondered how we were going to get everything done, but our perplexity only led to redoubled efforts and when on Saturday night, we looked over the big pile of finished work we felt that we had accomplished a good deal. When the force in The Tribune office works under pressure, the excitement seems to act as a stimulant and it seems as though the more they have to do the more they can do, and as the effect of the stimulant becomes more marked, everything seems to move to the rhythm of the presses and the popping of the engine. Tired? Yes, we were all very tired Saturday night, but most of us have been in the business too long to notice a little thing like that.

The rush of job work was due principally to the near approach of the public sale season and scarcely was one stock catalogue turned over to the binders, when the copy for another was taken from the hook. And then there were sale bills and work of many other kinds all demanding more or less immediate attention. This busy week was very gratifying to us because it gave us an opportunity to show what our job department could do and to demonstrate that we can handle a large amount of high class business and turn out creditable and satisfactory work even when we are "rushed to death."

And still the end is not yet. More work is coming in and we find that we will have to hustle right along if we are going to keep up with the demands of our customers. But we are not afraid to hustle. That's what we are here for.

Just a word about the paper. We are sending out about 4,500 copies of this issue. This is about 2,500 in excess of our regular list. The other day a man came into the office and asked to see a copy of the paper. We gave him one and he remarked that he had never before seen The Tribune. We made up our minds that this must not happen again and so we are going to place a copy in practically every home in the county this week. We believe that it is better to introduce the paper this way than to employ solicitors and pay them fancy salaries and commissions. The cutting out of all needless expense makes it possible for us to keep the subscription price at one dollar per year.

The fact that The Tribune is growing in popular favor is shown by the steady increase in the subscription list. We have recently put on the names of several who, in the beginning, were not friendly to us but they have stated that their reason for doing so was the fact that The Tribune is a good local newspaper and is really worth more than we charge for it considering the subscription price of others.

But we want to make the paper better. We want them to feel free to come to the office and talk over the situation with us. We have some plans of our own and believe that when put into effect they will make the paper better and stronger in most of its departments. This winter we expect to introduce some special features that we know our readers will appreciate.

WIRELESS MESSAGES.

You told me in the long ago
That flowers beside the way would grow
All radiant with the dews of morn,
(But I have only found the thorn)

You told me in the days of old
The largess of the years was gold
That I should garner as I pass
(But I have found it tarnished brass)

You told me in the days ago
The song of life would ripple on
The wail of woe drowned in its tones
(Yet I have heard but sorrows groans)

And yet perhaps in years gone by
Your fond lips spake no willful lie;
Perhaps along the road so rough
I have not traveled far enough.

Hell is paved with good intentions and it is not written that the management ever had any trouble with the contractor.

The new railroad to be built from Falls City to the southwest will probably be neither a steam nor an electric road. We understand that it is to be run by Sycamore Springs.

When the roaring blizzard rages
And coal prices upward climb,
How I'll wish I'd saved my wages
In the good old summer time!
