

Now and Then.

Charlie Abbey is doing nicely and has been removed from the hospital to his home.

Falls City has a grand old man of 76 who beats the game of sausage and buckwheat cakes for breakfast every morning. His son, with whom he lives and who makes a breakfast out of toasted crackers and grape nuts, says the old man is an ostrich.

A good story is told of a local girl whose father is a grouchy old fellow in love with the good old times and out of sorts with everything young. The girl has a fellow and the old man kicked. "Why don't you marry some steady, sober man of fifty who is well settled," asked the father. "I believe," replied the girl, "that I would rather have two of twenty-five if its just the same to you."

The dinner by the ladies of the Shakespeare club to their friends last Tuesday evening was as dainty and tasteful as one could wish, it didn't suit the husband of one of the members however, as he said very audibly as the meat course was being discussed, "I'd rather have backbone and kraut a dang site."

This ice proposition is becoming serious. George Culp wears a worried look and Charlie Stanton is getting as thin as a rail from worry. Dr. Yutzy has done his best and started things toward the bottom of the thermometer several times, but so far there is nothing doing towards an ice crop.

If the lady that baked the bread baked at the Methodist exchange last week should ever be in search of employment, she can learn something to her advantage by communicating with this office.

The world looked like a child's idea of Heaven last Saturday morning with the trees and shrubbery cloaked and swathed in snow. It looked like a woman's idea of hell a few hours after the sun had got in his work and the walks and crossings were cloaked and swathed in mud.

Ed Howe says if you want to go to the Orient go to Honolulu but no further as it will be but a repetition. He advises all of his friends to forget all ideas of a trip around the world. The truth is, Howe is homesick.

Ned Towle nearly broke up a whist party the other evening talking about the division. What he doesn't know about probabilities and possibilities isn't worth knowing, and his enthusiasm is contagious.

This Tribune desires good correspondents in every part of the county. If you would like to see items from your locality in the paper we would be glad to hear from you that we may perfect arrangements to the mutual advantage of both. We want this paper to be a county paper and are willing to make great sacrifices to accomplish this end.

The winter of 1906 is one that old timers will be talking of for many years to come. In the language of a distinguished citizen "it is the mildest winter I have ever seen and I've seen a hundred of them."

Are you reading "The Spenders" the continued story in The Tribune? It is becoming very interesting and will increase in interest with each succeeding chapter. If you have not been reading it look back over your old papers or read the synopsis and start this week. You will miss a treat if you fail to read the story.

The local company has been saying that the proposition submitted by them was satisfactory to most of the subscribers of the mutual telephone companies but that their committees were misrepresenting the wishes of the subscribers by refusing anything but a toll station. It may throw some light on this phase of the subject to state that the Preston company in annual session last week decided by a vote of 45 to 3 to decline the Falls City proposition and again appeal to the citizens of Falls City for a toll station. It seems to a man up a tree that the people of Falls City might be able to settle their difficulties without interference on the part of the local company. Who owns the streets of Falls City, anyway? Why should our highways be used for personal profit and in a way that creates a feeling among the farmers so antagonistic to our merchants that open letters are being published from such men as Will Grush calling upon telephone subscribers to boycott our town. This is not a personal matter with The Tribune. It won't mean a cent to us whatever the termination of the controversy is. It is a personal matter to the merchants of the city, it is dollars and cents to them. We feel that every candidate for Mayor and council this spring should be compelled to declare himself one way or the other on a question of such importance.

Alice and Nick are married and the bride is Alice in wonderland no longer. The Sunday papers were filled with glowing accounts of the happy bride the sun shone on. A detailed account of the presents was given with the price mark attached to each. We don't know what that thing was the President of France gave, but it cost $50,000, and Cuba's present cost $25,000. The nations of the world laugh at the commercialism of America and laugh justly at that. The idea of turning the wedding of the President's daughter into a matter of dollars and cents. The idea of looking gift horse in the mouth and putting the price mark on the presents of nations, rulers and friends. Be it said to the credit of King Edward nobody knows the character of his present nor its cost, and no right minded man cares. The next thing we know they will be giving the cost of grave clothes, the casket and the flowers. What are we coming to anyway that we cannot read of the wedding of the President's daughter without the nauseating details of the cost of wedding presents, that we cannot say "we hope you will be very, very happy my dear," without evidencing our good wishes in dollars and cents?

The death of Con Reagan removed one of Falls City's oldest and most respected citizens. There was a good deal of a man about Con. He was always cheerful and happy. His heart was full of sympathy for the wrongs and griefs of his friends. He was always happy in their happiness. Everybody liked him because he liked everybody. He never intentionally hurt a fellow man. He has gone to his reward. Peace to his ashes.

Ed King, Eph Sandusky, Fred Kellar and Bob Cain are all equally elated because of the stub trains. The service will permit them to spend much more of their time at home where formerly they put in most of their time in other places or in making night rides to get back to their own firesides.

Nobody seems able to locate John D. Rockefeller who for several weeks has been mysteriously absent. They might try a Tribune want ad.

Mothers can safely give Foley's Honey and Tar to their children for coughs and colds, for it contains no opiates or other poisons. For sale at Moore's Pharmacy.

- No. 220—Tomatoes.
- No. 229—The production of good seed corn.

I will be very glad to mail one or more of these bulletins to any of my constituents on request. I should like to suggest that these bulletins contain very valuable information which I am sure will be very instructive to the progressive farmers of my district.

Sincerely yours,
ERNEST M. POLLARD.

Two For Less Than The Price Of One.

The regular subscription price of The Chicago Daily Tribune is $4.00 a year, the regular price of The Falls City Tribune is $1 a year.

By a special arrangement with the publishers of The Tribune for a limited time, we can accept a year's subscription to our paper and the daily Tribune both for $3.

It would seem unnecessary to say more about this extraordinary newspaper bargain. The Daily Tribune is "The World's Greatest Newspaper," and of course you will want our local newspaper.

The Tribune Company reserves the right to withdraw this offer on one day's notice.

If you are now a subscriber to either or both papers, your subscription will be extended one year from present date of expiration.

Subscription for less than one year cannot be accepted at less than the regular rates. Make all remittances direct to: FALLS CITY TRIBUNE, Falls City, Nebr.

A Night Alarm.

Worse than an alarm of fire at night is the brassy cough of croup, which sounds like the children's death knell and it means death unless something is done quickly. Foley's Honey and Tar never fails to give instant relief and quickly cures the worst forms of croup. Mrs. P. L. Corder, of Mannington, Ky., says: "My three year old girl had a severe case of croup; the doctor said she could not live. I got a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar, the first dose gave quick relief and saved her life." Foley's Honey and Tar is best for croup and whooping cough, contains no opiates, and cures quickly. Careful mothers keep it in house. Refuse substitutes. For sale at Moore's Pharmacy.
