Mrs. Majorie Russell, the talented editor of The Earth, the magazine published by the Colonization Department of the Santa Fe Railway, recently made a trip through the Arkansas Valley. She was greatly surprised and wonderfully impressed with the present conditions and splendid outlook for the future and has written the following article which will appear in a new addition of a Kansas booklet the Santa Fe is getting out:

The climate of the Arkansas Valley of Kansas equals that of "Sunny Colorado"—its blue sky days are just as many. Winter plowing is possible throughout the greater portion of the season which is uniformly mild and open. The springs and autumns are particularly delightful, the summers pleasant, the nights cool and refreshing.

The question of rainfall is no longer a bugaboo, widespread cultivation of the soil has had its effect upon the climate in this respect not less than it has had upon the face of the land. Scientific irrigation is working wonders, and under a most admirable and assured system is making the Arkansas Valley of Kansas to blossom as a rose.

The sugar beet industry of this most favored section is rapidly increasing, and the number of beet sugar factories keep multiplying. And yet, were there three times the amount of acreage planted in beets, and three times the number of factories erected in the United States, the output of all of them, run at their full capacity during the entire season of operation, would fall short of supplying the demand for the product, and we would still be compelled to import sugar.

Alfalfa grows to perfection in the Arkansas Valley of Kansas, the climatic conditions are particularly favorable for the perfection of seed crops, and the industry is a thriving one. All kinds of vine products reach perfection not only as to richness of flavor but likewise as to size and quantity.

Orchards flourish, the apples, peaches and cherries of the Arkansas Valley are prize winners everywhere. Poultry raising is pronounced a success; while the great grain fields, hay stacks, and stock farms tell their own story of prosperity.

The country is rapidly settling up, rural deliveries, and telephone facilities extend over the entire territory. The whole valley smiles in health, wealth and plenty. The actual residents are eagerly acquiring more acres, those who have come to see for themselves are buying all they can secure, absolutely certain that they are investing in a sure thing. THERE IS STILL A CHANCE FOR YOU, BUT EVERY MONTH SEES THE CHANCE GROWING LESS. You have an opportunity now that seldom comes a second time to any man. Go and see for yourself.

The above being the idea of an official of the great Santa Fe, should carry great weight with people who are trying to make up their minds as to what country is best suited to them. "Go and see for yourself."

Call or send for our booklet and let us explain this great opportunity to you.

You Will Prosper in the Great Southwest

In Oklahoma, Indian Territory and Texas are vast areas of unimproved land—land not now yielding the crops of which it is capable. The same conditions apply to the towns. Few lines of business are adequately represented. There are openings of all sorts—for mills and factories, for small stores, for banks, newspaper and lumber yards. You have only to get on the ground to prove this. To enable you to do so the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railway offer

Rates Cheaper Than Ever
Feb. 6th and 20th
March 6th and 20th

On above dates most lines will sell both one-way and round trip tickets at exceptionally low rates. If your nearest railroad agent cannot give you the rates, write me for particulars.

If you're in any way interested in the Southwest, I'd like to send you my paper "The Coming Country." Address

The Great Paper of the Great West The Kansas City Star

Everywhere recognized as the strongest and most reliable newspaper in the most prosperous region of the United States.

Wherein It Leads.
Its Unexcelled News Service embraces the continuous report of the Associated Press, with dispatches every hour; the general and special service of the New York Herald; the Hearst transcontinental leased wire service and special correspondence from THE STAR's own representatives in Washington, D. C.; Jefferson City, Mo.; Topeka, Ks., and Guthrie, Ok., in addition to the large gist of news that comes daily from several hundred other alert representatives.

Its Market Reports and Comments have an authoritative value that causes them to be telegraphed to all parts of the United States the moment THE STAR comes from the press. No western man even indirectly interested in the value of food products, stocks and securities can afford to be without THE STAR's daily record of prices and conditions.

Its Special Features include The Chaperon's column, in which are answered questions pertaining to beauty aids and social customs and affairs, a department for inquirers on other subjects and a wide range of miscellaneous articles throwing side lights upon the world's most interesting people and events—these in addition to a vigorous editorial page, absolutely independent politically, and a Sunday issue that is full of live special matter and human interest.

13 Papers Each week for 10 cents
The Kansas City Star was the first—and is still the only newspaper to deliver a complete morning paper, THE KANSAS CITY TIMES, to its subscribers without increase in the subscription price.
