THE SENATORIAL SITUATION.

The United States senatorial contest is rapidly developing and embryonic candidates are being eliminated. There was a time when John L. Webster of Omaha was quite a factor and his boom promised to assume large proportions. The result of the municipal campaign in Omaha however, has put a damper on his chances. Webster was a supporter of Benson the republican candidate for Mayor of Omaha. Benton was defeated and Jim Dahlman the "liberal" candidate on the democratic ticket was elected. Rumor, and well defined rumor at that, has it that Dahlman and Rosewater had an understanding by which Rosewater was to assist him and in return receive the assistance of the ring if Dahlman was elected. As soon as Dahlman was elected, Victor Rosewater, son of Edward, announced the candidacy of his father through the Bee. A visit to Omaha last week convinced the writer that Millard will soon withdraw in favor of Rosewater. The entire Federal crowd, most of whom owe their appointments to Millard, are working tooth and nail for Rosewater. It is hardly to be presumed that they would do so contrary to the wishes of the man who appointed them. If Millard is for Rosewater, and the city machine democratic though it is, fulfills the agreement made by Dahlman, together with the powerful and widespread influence of the Omaha Bee, it seems reasonably certain that Rosewater will have Douglas county in the state convention. In the meantime Norris Brown goes on with his work as Attorney General, meeting the requirements of his office as no other Attorney General in this state ever has, bothering himself with no deals or tie ups with any rings either republican or democratic and depending on the good sense and the better judgment of the people as a whole for his chance of election.

The situations seems up to the School board, the city council and the County Attorney.

Nothing more strenuous than Sunday school picnics will be tolerated in this good old town.

While time in its relentlessness seems cruel and we would with childish hands stop its progress if we could, still the passing years have their compensations. In but a year and a half Bill McCray will be retired from the county board.

It is suggested that at the next meeting of the county board a brass band be employed to welcome Bill McCray as an evidence of appreciation for his neglect as chairman of the bridge committee and as expressive of our appreciation of his fidelity indicated so clearly by the passage of his resolution after the damage had been done.

We understand that Bill McCray has another resolution which he will introduce at the next meeting of the supervisors. That it will be passed there is no doubt. Report has it that at one time William's assistance was desired on the question of county printing and after he agreed to the proposition the question was asked, "what will the rest of the board do?" to which William is reported to have replied, "They will do what I say." So when William gets his board together again we may expect another resolution.

The Meanest Man.

We have heard of many mean men in our time but a story related by a farmer friend this week tells of the meanest man of all. It didn't happen in Falls City, but it did happen within ten miles of here. A man went to a merchant with whom he had traded (on a years credit) and said he was badly in need of $10 and wanted to borrow it of the merchant. The merchant replied that he was hard up, many of his customers were owing him and it required every cent of his money to support his wife and children and meet his business obligations as they fell due. The man replied, I have always been a customer of yours and you ought to favor me in such a trifling matter. The merchant gave him the money, charged it with the years old account and let it go with that. Within a short time the merchant found out that his money had been sent to Montgomery-Ward in Chicago to buy goods for his needy customer, the merchant made a demand for his money together with what was due him on the years account, and was answered with a hard luck story. The merchant sued and the man filed his exemption schedule and beat the merchant out of his money and the account as well. This story seems so mean and little that you may have some difficulty in believing it but it is true. If the man lived or traded in Falls City we would give his name, but in as much as he lives elsewhere we will refrain though the temptation is great.

The express companies have been doing quite a business in the lasts week in the wet goods line.

Mr. and Mrs. Bryant and daughter Ruth who have been visiting with Mrs. Albert Maust returned Tuesday to their home in Drexel, Mo.

Montgomery Ward in their answer to Mr. Wahl say that they sell Fleisher yarn for 23 cents. The wholesale price of that yarn is today 24 cents. Draw your own conclusions.

If you want interesting reading look over the advertisements of the local firms in this issue answering the preposterous statements made in the new Montgomery Ward catalogue.

Whenever Montgomery Ward want dependable goods, goods with no misrepresentation or graft connected with them, we advise them to send their Mr. Walker back to Falls City to make their purchases.

O. Schoenheit, Mahlon Stump, Peter Frederick, jr., M. Gianinni and James Powell were among the fishing contingent Wednesday. That they caught nothing may be attributed to the fact that they had the wrong kind of bait.

If Montgomery Ward handle anything in the booze line their Mr. Walker might find it worth while to visit Falls City just at this time.
