Probably no play ever written has done as much for the uplifting and education of humanity as that masterpiece of dramatic composition, Damon and Pythias, written by John Banin when he was but twenty-six years old. The story of Damon and Pythias is so impressive that now an order of over 600,000 of the best citizens of this continent owes its existence to the teachings of this great drama. Not even the immortal Shakespeare could claim to have written a play that has accomplished so much. Mr. Sandford Dodge, the well known classic and Shakespearean actor, has surrounded himself with a company of special merit this season for the presentation of this wonderful drama. He has equipped his attraction with all the scenery, costumes and accessories that money can buy. In fact nothing has been omitted to insure one of the greatest dramatic treats of the season to those who attend this magnificent production of Damon and Pythias. Those who believe in patronizing the highest form of the drama, those who believe in elevating the stage, those who wish to see a great and powerful play, well acted, should not fail to witness this performance June 20, at the Gehling opera house. Admission 35, 50, and 75 cents.

Lewis Plege was at Leavenworth Thursday last and made arrangements for another shipment of ice. He tells us that it will be impossible to hold the present price on this commodity and the consumer may look for an advance. So far Falls City consumers have been getting lower rates than any of our neighbors and while this price looks high we must have it and ought not to expect the ice man to work for nothing.

The Knights of Pythias of this city have in view an entertainment of rare merit, not only for their own members and friends but for the general public as well.
