Our Premium!

We have just completed the first volume of The Tribune under the consolidation and enlargement and are more than pleased with the result of our effort to give our readers a paper that will make them satisfied subscribers. Our list has grown steadily since the enlargement of the paper, not a week having passed without numerous new names being added to the list of readers.

While we are not running large headlines across the front page proclaiming to have 'the largest circulation' on earth, we do invite our advertisers to call and inspect the list at any time and if they do not find it better than represented, we will make them a present of their past month's advertising.

We club with no other journal but have arranged to give FREE for one year, the Kansas Farmer, the price of which is $1, to all new subscribers who pay one year in advance or to any subscriber who pays arrearage and a year in advance. Both papers a year from date for $1. This proposition is good until July 31. Don't delay, do it now.

Judicial Convention.

The judicial voters of the First Judicial District of Nebraska, are hereby called to meet in convention at Tecumseh, Neb., on Monday, the 20th day of August, 1906, at 3:30 in the afternoon, at the court house in said city, for the purpose of nominating one candidate for District Judge in said district, to fill the unexpired term of Hon. A. H. Babcock, deceased and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before it. The basis of representation in said convention will be one delegate at large from each county, and the delegate for each one hundred votes cast for A. H. Babcock for District Judge in 1903, and major fraction thereof; this basis will give the different counties the following representation in said convention: Gage, 33; Richardson, 20; Jefferson, 16; Nemaha, 13; Johnson, 13 and Pawnee, 13.

It is recommended that no proxies be admitted to said convention.

W. H. WILSON, Chairman.
 S. S. STEWART Secretary Pro Tem.
 Table Rock, Neb., June 26 1906.

The acting seals and the sea lions which perform with The Great Adam Forepaugh and Sells Brother's Enormous Shows United amazingly illustrates in juggling comedy effects and musical acts the highest known achievements in animal training. Captain Webb, who was the first to attempt the education of these curious creatures of the deep seas, spent many years of his life in the Arctic regions, and there, far away from civilized life, home and friends, he made a study of their nature and brain structure, and after a long time, and the exercise of much patience, finally developed the wonderful performance which is now a remarkable feature of The Great Adam Forepaugh and Sells Brother's Enormous Shows United. The performance is given on two big stages, and every move of the intelligent animals may be plainly seen from every part of the enormous tent. This trained animal act is beyond question the most marvellous exhibition ever offered for public instruction and entertainment.

Sheldon's Idea.

Senator Sheldon makes some pointed remarks before large audiences at various towns where he has spoken.

"There never will be a square deal in this state until the railroad machine is overthrown and its pernicious pass system abolished."

During these prosperous and busy times the great mass of the people have been paying very little attention to politics. The railroads that have large interests at stake, being always alert, have been able to exercise a great influence in politics. They have organized a political machine in this state in which the Burlington and the Union Pacific railroads are the leading spirit. The object of this machine has been and is to control as far as possible the politics of this state and to prevent such legislation as they might deem unfavorable to the railroads. This machine knows no party. It works in all parties. It is organized for business reasons, for the benefit of the railroads, and is used at all times and within all parties for the interest of the railroads. They exert their influence largely through the power they have in selecting candidates for public office and from the good will they obtain from influential men and public officials by the benefit of the pass.

The railroad machine is much stronger in some parts of the state than in others. So far as my observation has been, this county has been comparatively free from the influence of the railroad machine. However, there are counties in this state where the machine is so strong that no man for a number of years past could be nominated for any public office unless he had been a "good Indian," or promised that he would be one. This railroad machine has its political agents over the state. These men it is true, almost without exception are honorable men. However, when it comes to matters of politics or to anything that pertains to the railroad to which they are affiliated, they know their business and do their duty.

Whenever the machine is not able to nominate the man of their first choice they endeavor to nominate their second choice, and often fool the convention in that respect. At first they throw their influence and the weight of their power to nominate the man of their first choice. If they fail to nominate him they ingeniously begin to throw votes to their second choice. Delegates anxious to defeat the will of the machine, seeing an opportunity to nominate a man who is generally supposed to be free from railroad influence tumble over each other in their endeavor to get ahead of the band wagon. Again, the railroad machine believe in men, and if forced to, will give a platform if they can thereby secure the nomination of their men.

Yes, the railroad political machine is active everywhere. Whenever the legislature assembles they maintain a strong and powerful lobby composed of the best men that their great means can command. These men are men of high integrity and sobriety; they are men of large experience in their line of work; they are genial clever men who by their persistent and able efforts are able to accomplish much for the railroads which they represent.

Every man who in his official or representative capacity has stood for the interests of the whole people and for the business interests of the whole state in matters where there was a conflict between the interests of the public and the interests of the railroads, has been branded by this railroad machine as a "bad Indian" and they usually have been successful in retiring him from public life. They have assigned to their political cemetery many men who have served their county well and would have continued to serve it well if they had been permitted to remain in public service. The public has, therefore, been deprived of the services of many men who are true servants of the public.

The railroads have dominated state politics in Nebraska for a long time. This railroad machine has stood in the way of equitable taxation. It has kept from public life many noble and worthy men. It has appropriated unto itself millions of dollars that should have remained in the pockets of the producers and the consumers. It has been able to annul what legislation has been made in the past effecting railroad rates, and above all it has deprived the people, in some respects, of true representative ### government.

Let us be sober minded but determined men. Nothing can be accomplished by tearing down or crippling any business interests of the state. Nothing of that sort is demanded or desired. Let the motto of our state, "equality before the law," be enforced throughout the land. The constitution of the state and of the United States guarantees to everyone fairness and justice. Let us remember that the representatives of the people can be trusted to deal fairly with the railroads, but that representatives of the railroads cannot be trusted to deal fairly with the people.

When the people's will is expressed and written as the law of the land, there will be a square deal. The people's will, the law of the land, is a square deal, nothing less.

"Let independence be our boast,
 Ever mindful what it cost."

Because it describes so well the unquestionable superiority of

Our New Bottled Beer

We give hearty thanks to all who were kind enough to send us a suggestion, but there could only be one winner. The lucky man is Mr. K. Kearney, of Sheridan, Wyo.

He suggested "Luxus," which is taken from the words luxury and luxurious, and the committee composed of R. H. Kastor of H. W. Kastor & Sons Advertising Co., Chicago, Ill., A. D. Mayo, General Advertising Dept. Record-Herald, Chicago, Ill., and Samuel S. Sherman, Business Mgr. of the Inter Ocean, Chicago, Ill., who were appointed to pass on all names, felt that nothing else was quite so good as this, though there were thousands of mighty good ones. Some of the names suggested could not be considered, as they were already in use by other brewers; others were repeated so often that, had any of them been selected, it would have been impossible to determine to whom the prize was to be awarded.

Mr. Kearney says it's easy money, but it's worth every cent of it to us.

Watch for the appearance of

Luxus Bottled Beer

and ask for it at your dealer's about July 14th. It's ready now—Pure, Sparkling, Well Aged, Wholesome, Satisfying, Refreshing—but we can't get it on the market until the labels are ready.

Fred. Krug Brewing Co.
 Omaha, Nebraska

It will be sold everywhere in the West and we have three shifts in our bottling department working day and night, getting ready for the enormous demand that is bound to come for

The Best Beer Brewed

It is light in color and is not heavy or sticky—but delightful with meals or for refreshments. It is not only a pure beer—it is not only made right—but it is made expressly to suit your taste. We have brewed beer in Omaha for 50 years—long enough to learn what the public wants, and long enough to learn how to make beer that pleases the public taste exactly. We are not trying to force our taste upon you, but are catering entirely to your taste.

We know how good "Luxus" Bottled Beer is now—You will know in a few weeks.

We thank you again for your suggestions, also for the interest you have taken in our name contest.
