Republican Senatorial Convention.

The republicans of the first senatorial district of Nebraska, are hereby called to meet in convention at the Park hotel in the city of Humboldt, Nebraska, on Tuesday, August 28, 1906, at 11 o'clock in the forenoon, for the purpose of placing in nomination a candidate for state senator for the first senatorial district of Nebraska, to be voted for at the next general election to be held in the state of Nebraska, November 6, 1906, and for the transaction of such other business as may come before said convention.

The basis of representation of the counties composing said first senatorial district in said convention shall be the vote cast for Hon. Chas. B. Letton for supreme judge at the general election held November 7, 1905, giving one delegate for each 100 votes or major fraction thereof so cast for said Hon. Chas. B. Letton and one delegate at large from each county composing said first senatorial district.

Said representation entitles each county to the following representation in said convention:

Richardson.....19 Pawnee.....14

It is recommended that no proxies be allowed and that the delegates present from each county cast the entire vote of their county in the convention.

Committeeman from Pawnee county. JOHN W. POWELL, Committeeman from Richardson Co.

Consumption Threatened.

C. UNGER, 211 Maple St., Champaign Ill., writes: "I was troubled with a hacking cough for years and I thought I had consumption. I tried a great many remedies and was under the care of physicians for several months. I used one bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar. It cured me, and I have not been troubled since." For sale at McBride's Pharmacy.

FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR
Cures Colds; Prevents Pneumonia

Never before in the history of Nebraska has politics been of such vital interest to the masses as the contest now being waged in this state. The people are entitled to know the whole truth about all the men who are seeking office and about the principles that are being advocated. A paper having some personal or private interest in the outcome of such contests can rarely be relied upon to print the news from an absolutely unbiased standpoint. Has the thought occurred to you that The State Journal is the only Nebraska state newspaper whose proprietor is not an office holder or office seeker? This may be some explanation of why The Journal is so especially interesting these days. Its attitude upon all absorbing topics of public interest is in behalf of the people and not for office-getting.

Men Past Sixty in Danger.

More than half of mankind over sixty years of age suffer from kidney and bladder disorders, usually enlargement of prostate gland. This is both painful and dangerous, and Foley's Kidney Cure should be taken at the first sign of danger, as it corrects irregularities and has cured many old men of this disease. Mr. Rodney Burnett, Rockport, Mo., writes: "I suffered with enlarged prostate gland and kidney trouble for years and after taking two bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure I feel better than I have for twenty years although I am now 91 years old." For sale at McBride's Pharmacy.

DOWN ON THE RIO GRANDE

Contractor Tells of an Exciting Experience in Crossing Stream in the West.

"To give you an idea of what sort of a river the Rio Grande is I'll tell you an experience that I had in getting across it with a derrick," said Raymond McDougall, a mining man from New Mexico, to a Milwaukee Free Press man. "I was a contractor in rock work in those days and was taking my derrick from the east side of the river to the Magdalena. The derrick was on four wagon wheels and four mules were hauling it. I had my two helpers along and one of them drove the mules. He was an old timer, which was lucky, and if I had trusted to my own judgment I might have made a mistake that would have cost me my mules and derrick, if not my life.

"We reached the Rio Grande an hour before sundown and I saw a wide river bed, but no water—only dry sand from one bank to the other. It was a new kind of river to me, but my driver said that it was all right—that it was a way the Rio Grande had. The water was there, only it was flowing through the sands under the channel instead of in it. I being a tenderfoot was for camping on the nearer bank where the grass was good, but McCartney, the driver, said that would never do unless I was willing to take my chances of staying there a week or two; that water sometimes came down the channel, a good deal of it, and that it would be well to get across while we were sure that we could.

"We were starting across over the dry sands and I was thinking what an easy way it was of fording a river when of a sudden the two lead mules were floundering in a quicksand and the whole outfit came near being drawn in. We got the two leaders clear of the harness and the other two mules drew them out, one at a time. We hitched them up again and by making a long circuit got past the quicksand and to the other bank.

"By that time it was ten o'clock and the moon had risen. The mules had just begun to climb the bank when we heard a roaring noise up the channel. It came from a wall of water that stretched from bank to bank and was traveling toward us fast. It looked in the moonlight to be four feet high, and there was high water behind it sending it on. We didn't need to holler to the mules. They heard what was coming and clawed up the bank like cats.

"We got out all right, derrick and all—and there were not three minutes to spare. Before we had finished our supper the river bed was full bank high, with a torrent that eddied and roared as it rushed past our camping place as if it had been sorry to miss us and would like to get up where we were. There was not a cloud in the sky or a sign of rain anywhere and the flood may have come from a cloudburst in Colorado 200 miles away. But it came near getting us.

"I had learned one lesson, and that was in traveling by wagon always camp on the farther side of the stream. And I had learned to put no trust in the Rio Grande."

Sixty-Ton Steel Rope.

The biggest rope ever used for haulage purposes has just been made for a district subway in Glasgow. It is seven miles long, 4 1/2 inches in circumference, and weighs nearly 60 tons. It has been made in one unjointed and unspliced length of patent crucible steel. When in place it will form a complete circle around Glasgow, crossing the Clyde in its course, and will run at a speed of 15 miles an hour.

Size of Circus Rings.

Circus rings are always uniform in size, as circus horses are trained to perform in a standard ring 42 feet in diameter. In a larger or a smaller ring their pace becomes uneven, irregular and unreliable, and the riders in turning somersaults are liable to miscalculate the curve and miss their footing.

Argentina's New Industry.

During the last two years about 5,000,000 mulberry trees have been planted in Argentina, which has now about 10,000,000 of such trees. The production of raw silk will eventually become an important product of that country.

Market Letter.

Stock yards, Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 20, 1906. Last week was a good week in the cattle market, larger receipts, shade higher prices and more activity. Grass killing steers were the single exception, best ones holding steady, but the lower grades closed the week 10 to 25 cents lower. Total supply last week was 50,000 head, several thousand short of the normal for August, but today's run is 13,000, more nearly up to the standard, and it is likely that receipts will keep at a high figure the balance of the fall. The trade is keyed up to handle big supplies, market steady to strong today, except for medium and common killers, which are slow. Top price is $6.35 against a top of $5.30 last week, and numerous droves of dry lotters are selling at $6 and upwards, corn and grass steers $4.75 to $5.60, heavy straight grass steers up to $5.15, medium and light weights $3.40 to $4.50, Kansas grazed Texas steers, 950 to 1,100 pounds, at $3.60 to $4.20. Top heifers sell around $5, good heifers $3.75 to $4.50, grass cows $2.75 to $3.75, bulls $2 to $3, mixed and light veals $4.50 to $6, heavy calves around $3.75.

Stockers and feeders trade is healthy, but there is no extraordinary demand, last week closing with only a slight advance. Good to choice feeders bring $4 to $4.75 medium kinds, including pretty good westerns $3.50 to $4.15, stock steers $2.65 to $4.15.

The hog market lingered at the bottom first half of last week, but the situation improved 15 cents by the close Saturday, market 5 to 10 higher today, weights below 200 pounds selling at $6.20 to $6.35, medium weights $6.15 to $6.32, heavy hogs $6.10 to $6.25. Receipts are fairly liberal, 48,000 last week, 6,000 today. August receipts so far show an increase of 75 per cent over same period in August last year. Present prices are a shade under this time last year, but demand now is much larger than then, but the market is subject to severe breaks, if opportunity offers.

Mutton prices fluctuated within a small range last week, but feeding and breeding kinds are at the top notch. Spring lambs sold at $7.60 today, killing wethers $5 to $5.25, ewes $4.75 to 5, Idaho yearling wethers and ewes sold to feeders today at $5.50, Montana breeding ewes, 80 pounds, last week at $6, feeding wethers $4.80 to $5, medium breeding ewes $4.85 to $5.50. Run is moderate, 52,000 last week, 6,500 today, market strong all around.

A Highland Fish Story.

This fish story comes from Highland already, although the new road is not yet built, says the Voice of the Road. Geo. Yant, the engineer, vouches for it. A farmer near the town has a prize cow that has always been kept in the best condition. Yet for a time when she came home from the pasture at night not a drop of milk could be gotten from her. This went on for several days and baffled every effort of the farmer to find a reason. This much was observed, though, that she went into a large pond of water every day and stood awhile. It was then observed no milk could be gotten when she came out. The farmer scratched his head a moment. Next morning when that cow went to the pasture there was fixed to her a net and over the udder fish hooks of various sizes were attached. When she came out of the pond that evening she had about 50 pounds of fish hanging to her—suckers. At milking time she gave the usual amount of milk.—Brown County World.

Two Bottles Cured Him.

"I was troubled with kidney complaint for about two years," writes A. H. Davis, of Mt. Sterling, Ia., "but two bottles of Foley's Kidney cure effected a permanent cure." Sound kidneys are safeguards of life. Make the kidneys healthy with Foley's Kidney Cure. For sale at Moore's Pharmacy.

Superintendent Oliver's Opinion.

By request I write a few thoughts in reply to three letters published in the Falls City Tribune of last week.

It seems a little remarkable to me that out of the many letters we hear about that have been written concerning the resolution placed before the republican county convention that three of them should be selected for publication in the state and county papers. Three letters came to this office from the same three gentlemen. It seems at first thought this may be for personal notoriety. There are some who have their objections to House Roll No. 48. The law is not a perfect one. There is room for improvement. The claims made in favor of the law are: Uniformity of grades; a higher standard for teachers and higher wages for teachers. Examine the law in the light of its operation and you will find there is not much in these claims. If knowledge of text books was all the requirement and the only essential qualification for the good teacher we might with propriety grant the first claim.

But there are other things equally essential. Character, tact to govern and ability to teach are qualifications equally essential and important. These are entirely ignored. The answer papers are sent to the state house with only a number written on them to indicate the person. The parties who grade these papers have nothing to indicate the character of the individual; nothing to indicate her ability to lead children; nothing to indicate her aptness to teach.

We will let Supt. Carrington and his 110 teachers in the Nemaha county institute answer the second, the high standard for teachers. "Whereas, The new law has not affected the supply of teachers in Nemaha county in the least, there being more now than there were last year, and Whereas, A less number of teachers failed under this than have failed heretofore.

If the law raises the standard of teachers it must eliminate the poorer ones. This it may do by frightening them away or by making the examination so difficult they cannot pass. Now the law is very flexible. Much has been said about the susceptibility of the county superintendent to political influences. Of course this does not apply to the state superintendent. The office lifts him above such things; the ordinary things of this mundane sphere do not reach him any more. After all, you will find that he is made of about as common clay as the rest of us.

You may recall that in January of this year, and I think as late as April, the state superintendent published over his signature that fifty per cent of the teachers were failing.

They are not now. Why? You answer the question. If space and time permitted I could point out some of the objectionable features of the law. I have a very sick child at home, have lost much sleep and have much office work calling for my attention. Before closing let me say, there are some good things in this law. It is not all bad. When I have less cares at home because of sickness I may write more fully upon this law.

T. J. OLIVER.

If there is any one thing daughter likes, it is to say how she would just love to be a business woman, but have you noticed that the milkman always has to wait while she searches everything from her writing desk upstairs to the coal bin in the basement for the milk tickets? The world at large may be fooled by a girl's claim that she has business ability, but ask the milk man. He knows.

Make It a Real Vacation.

The country learns sympathetically that the president often shows traces of nervousness and needs a long rest. Curiously enough, that is the way we all feel, and the longer the president's vacation the better will be his health, and the health of all of us. Mr. Roosevelt will therefore appreciate that entire goodwill accompanies him to Oyster Bay. The longer he stays there the more a great many will like it. We shall read with interest measurably free from anxiety what he does there. When he cuts down trees and goes camping with his boys he is commending himself to the affections of all of us. We will not deny him his needs for the good he has accomplished in his wrestle with the octopus, and we are sure he intended none of the ill which has resulted.

Perhaps by next winter he will appreciate that one thing well done is better than several half done, and that it is not necessary that everything should be done, or even attempted, at once. Perhaps he sees now that instead of making one hand wash the other he has really made one hand fight the other, and that he has fought a drawn game rather than a winning one, for there are off-sets to his achievements. He will not have Russia and Japan on his names this summer, and he may forget everything except his health until after, say New Year's. He is not running for anything this fall, and what happens in the various states need not engage his attention. He will do his party no good by meddling in Iowa or elsewhere. A long and quiet vacation for him and the nation is the cordial wish of eighty millions and more.—New York Times.

As a ship was nearing the harbor of Athens a woman passenger approached the captain, and pointing to distant hills covered with snow, asked: "What is that white stuff on the hills, captain?" "That is snow madam," answered the captain. "Is it, really?" remarked the woman. "I thought so; but a gentleman has just told me that it was Greece!"
