Trouble With His Eyes.

For a man of his age, Grandfather Sampson had remarkably good sight, but the time had come when he could no longer see well enough to read ordinary print. Yielding to the inevitable he went to an optician's and had his eyes fitted with a pair of spectacles.

He wore them only while reading but his delight in his new aids to vision was unbounded. To be able to read once more was like having a new lease of life. At the end of a week, however, he began to have misgivings. The spectacles were hurting his eyes. The words on the printed page grew blurred and dim.

"The trouble is," he said to himself, "that I have been overdoing it. My eyes haven't got used to the things yet."

For a week longer he used the glasses less frequently, but this did no good. His powers of vision seemed steadily to fail, and in great distress he went back to the optician's.

"See here," he said, "when I got these things they were all right, but now I can't use them at all. What do you suppose is the trouble?"

"Let me see the glasses," said the optician.

Grandfather Sampson handed them over. The optician wiped them carefully and put them back on his eyes.

"What do you think is the trouble, Mr. Sampson?" he asked.

"Nothing—now?" exclaimed the old gentleman, picking up a scrap of a newspaper that lay on the show case and holding it up before him. "I can read with them as well as ever. Was that all they needed?"

"That was all."

"Say—the old man lowered his voice—"don't say anything about this to my folks, will you?"

Aged Citizen Injured.

William Lee, an aged resident of this city was the victim of a bad accident Wednesday evening and sustained injuries which if they do not result fatally, will cause him much pain and distress. The accident happened about six o'clock as Mr. Lee was walking along the road near the Long Branch bridge when a team attached to a buggy and driven by Charlie Harshberger took fright at a threshing outfit and ran away, coming down the street behind the victim. Mr. Lee, who is slightly deaf, failed to hear the approaching animals and was knocked down and both team and vehicle passed over his prostrate body. The driver was thrown out by a lurch of the buggy but was uninjured, while two companions managed to remain in the rig. Mr. Lee was removed to his home a short distance away. Dr. George Gandy found him suffering from two broken ribs and a fractured breast bone. The ribs were also torn loose from the spinal column and many severe bruises resulted.—Humboldt Leader.

[Mr. Lee passed quietly away at his home in that city Friday. Funeral services were held at the Presbyterian church Sunday afternoon and his remains followed by a large concourse of friends to the cemetery west of that city where they were laid to rest.]

Never Ask Advice.

When you have a cough or cold don't ask what is good for it and get some medicine with little or no merit and perhaps dangerous. Ask for Foley's Honey and Tar, the greatest throat and lung remedy. It cures coughs and colds quickly.

Married.

Quinton Stump and Miss Nellie Cunningham were married at the home of her father, T. C. Cunningham, living about five miles south of Stella, Wednesday evening, October 10, 1906. At eight o'clock the couple entered the parlor to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by Mrs. John Oswald of Falls City. Rev. Isaac McRae of Havelock performed the wedding ceremony, after which the guests enjoyed a two course luncheon. The tables were prettily decorated with carnations, roses and smilax.

The groom is head clerk in the general merchandise store of John Leefers at Verdon. He is a son of W. S. Stump, of the hardware firm of Stump & Timmerman. Both he and his bride are graduates of the Verdon high school.

The bride wore a princess dress of white colienne. She is a sweet and lovable girl, who is possessed of many household accomplishments. Mr. and Mrs. Stump will go to housekeeping in Verdon, a home having already been furnished. China, cut glass, silver and table linen were included in the wedding presents. Among the guests from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Edwards of Lincoln, and Mr. Cunningham's sister, Mrs. Cook of Sabetha—Stella Press.

In one of his recent speeches Congressman Pollard quoted the following from a speech of Mr. Whitney, late democratic candidate for lieutenant governor of Massachusetts: "The tribute moreover which we pay to the railroads on such food products as must be obtained in the distant west of our own country, and which greatly increases the cost of living to our own people, would be saved to them if we could purchase these necessities in the nearer and cheaper market on our north by removing the tariff imposts which now so effectively prevent our obtaining cheap Canadian wheat, oats, barley, beans, peas, hay, apples, potatoes, butter and corn." Above all things in this section of the country what we need is cheaper food. Massachusetts producer not more than five percent of the agricultural products consumed here. To bring these by rail from the far west entails too great cost. We ought to have the surplus food of Canada untouched on our tables." In commenting on this Mr. Pollard said: "The trouble with our democratic friends is that they are unable to understand the well known economic law—that both sides must benefit by trade. If the gain is all on one side one party will not prosper and the trade will soon be ruined. The total wealth produced in this country every year amounts to about $26,000,000,000. Of this we export about a billion and a half. In other words we consume over 17 times as much as we export. It is evident that it is our home market which is the great factor in our prosperity." Mr. Whitney does not see that if the cheap food of Canada were allowed to come in free and ruin the prices of farm products the western farmer would not be able to buy the eastern manufactured articles and that the latter would then in turn be ruined. The western farmer should not forget that this economic law works both ways. The American people are the greatest consumers in the world and our great market should be protected so that both the American farmer and manufacturer may continue to prosper.

A Dozen Times A Night.

"I have had kidney and bladder trouble for years and it became so bad that I was obliged to get up at least a dozen times a night," says Mr. Owen Dunn of Benton Ferry, W. Va. "I never received any permanent benefit from any medicine until I took Foley's Kidney Cure. After using two bottles I am cured." For sale at all drug stores.

"We have just received from the Burlington Passenger Department a very useful leaflet describing the wonderful resources, as a mixed farming and dairying country, of western Nebraska, northwest Kansas and eastern Colorado. The folder tells how a man can start in this country with a herd of about twenty cows and with no assets but strong hands and a clear head and become independent in a very few years. It covers thoroughly every county in this region, giving prices of land and lists of land agents from whom definite information can be obtained. This folder should be in the hands of every man who wants to better his condition; who wants to start his son on the road to success and independence, and especially, every renter, who wants to become a land holder. This folder will be sent free on application to everyone writing for same to the Passenger Department of the Burlington Route at Omaha."

HOME-MADE BEDSPREADS.

Suggestions for the Treatment of Different Beds and What Materials to Use.

A very pretty one was recently made from a linen sheet. A hem six inches wide was turned up on three sides of it, and hem-stitched. A simple scallop was then worked all around it on the double edge and cut out. A design showing bunches of chrysanthemums and leaves, joined by a running design of ribbon, was made exactly to fit the top of the bed—and a similar design was put across the upper end to go over the bolster roll. The work was done in heavy, white mercerized cotton—the ribbon being darned in, and the flowers and leaves heavily stuffed and worked in satin stitch.

For a yellow and white room the spread was made of six yards of plain yellow wash material, 36 inches wide, costing eight cents a yard. This was cut into six pieces, each one yard square, and joined together, three pieces on each side, with insertion about three inches wide. In the center of each square was marked a conventional figure.

For an old-fashioned four-post mahogany bed a handsome India cotton print was used. This came 12 feet long and six wide. The ground was white, with gay red and blue figures of birds and flowers across the two ends. The pattern took the form of a wide border. These two ends were cut off and sewed along the upper part of the two sides, the square openings at the corners being left for the posts. The whole spread was edged with some old lace and insertion ripped from discarded curtains.

Another spread was made from Irish unbleached linen, which comes 90 inches wide. This spread was made three and one-half yards long so as to allow of an extra piece to put over the bolster roll. The whole surface was worked in a Mount Mellish design, using the heavier grades of knitting cotton; the edges of this spread were hemstitched, but could be scalloped.

A FEW HEALTH HINTS.

Green Vegetables Highly Recommended and Hot Water a Great Aid to Digestion.

Green vegetables and salads will counteract a tendency to pimples and other skin eruptions. Sufferers from eczema should eat sparingly of fruit, which, as a rule, contains too much acid to be suitable for them.

The best toilet preparation in the world is plain hot water. Drink a glass of it every night if you want a good digestion, clear complexion and a good sleep.

If the hair is in a very weakened state, as it is after illness or fever, brushing, clipping and vigorous shampoos are too severe treatment for it. Massage the scalp for five minutes every day, or for half an hour twice a week, rubbing a very little vaseline into the roots of the hair. Let the hair hang loose and free as often as possible and dress it as simply as possible, so that much handling will not be necessary. Give it a rest. Its weak condition demands that it be left alone instead of being fussed over.

In spite of the danger of the old-fashioned punishment of a box on the ears, it is one which is often inflicted on troublesome children by their parents, without the smallest regard of consequences. The parents are ignorant, not cruel, but they ought to know that such a punishment is likely to cause lifelong injury. Deafness is probably the most frequent ill result of ear-boxing, but it may cause injury to the brain and insanity.—Farmers' Review.

Stewed Veal with Barley.

Put a knuckle of veal in a saucepan with a bit of butter the size of a walnut, and fry the meat a nice brown all over. Just cover the meat with quite boiling water, put in a tencupful of barley, two heads of celery, cleaned and cut in inch lengths, two carrots, two turnips, two large onions, a sprig of lemon thyme, marjoram and two sage leaves. Let this simmer for two hours; put the meat on a hot dish, season the vegetables with pepper and salt, pour over the meat, and serve with a tablespoonful of finely chopped parsley sprinkled over.

To Remove a Grease Spot.

Here is a new way to remove a grease spot, which answers excellently: First place a double thickness of blotting paper on an ironing board. Lay the material on this and sponge well with benzine. Now put two more thicknesses of blotting paper on top and iron with a moderately hot iron. Remember that benzine is inflammable, so don't do this near a fire or light, and see that your flatiron isn't at scorching heat.

Present for a Baby's Basket.

You can make a very dainty little present for the baby's basket by taking ribbon an inch wide in pink or blue, and sewing it in four long loops, leaving enough ribbon at one end to form a rosette at the top. On each loop place a crocheted silk ring, about the size of a quarter, and attach to these rings safety pins of various sizes. This is easily made, inexpensive and always a welcome gift.

Little Moire Coats.

Moire is newer than taffeta for the little silk coat that is to be worn this spring. Faille, which always comes in with moire, is used for the same purpose. The coats range all the way from little postage stamp jackets to be worn with corselet skirts through the ordinary eton and the little sack coat to all lengths and degrees of coats with skirts.
