'Fresh Roasted Coffee?—bah! Mother didn't use fresh roasted coffee, she had Arbuckles.'

Arbuckle's was the first roasted packaged coffee. The pores of each coffee berry are sealed after roasting with fresh eggs and granulated sugar to hold the goodness in and make the coffee settle clear and quickly...

Worthy of Consideration.

At the meeting of the city council held Monday night Mayor Barrett submitted the following:

Falls City, Neb., Jan. 7, '07. To the honorable City Council of Falls City:

Gentlemen—I believe the time has arrived when we should no longer stand idly by with folded arms and wait for something to turn up. Our city has reached that critical point where certain conditions that now exist should be changed...

In order to start the ball rolling and open up the discussion, I will call your attention to certain conditions that in my judgment, should receive your careful consideration.

Our fire department that has always so nobly responded and accomplished results that would be a credit to the department of a city many times the size of ours, has been outgrown by our prosperous little capitol, until it is no longer, with its present equipments, able to successfully handle a fire I fear we might have sometime.

Another thing I wish to call your attention to, is the fact that our city together with its business interests, has grown to that magnitude where both light and water are indispensable, and to get along without one or both for even a short time might prove disastrous.

These are problems which cannot be solved in a day for it means the outlay of considerable money and should be planned on certain lines that will be permanent and answer the need of our growing city for years to come.

I realize the fact that the members of this council are familiar with the conditions as they now exist but a great many of our citizens are not. I, therefore, would suggest that each of you make it a point, whenever it is necessary to do so, to exchange ideas with our taxpayers with a view of formulating some plan whereby certain changes may be made that will be for the betterment of Falls City.

Respectfully submitted, GEO. M. BARRETT MAYOR.

Maidens with Acrobatic Eyes.

'With her eyes she rivited him to the spot.'

'Her eyes sparkled as they drank in every gesture.'

'Complied after reading half a dozen modern novels.'

'He stood rooted to the spot by her magnificent eyes.'

'Fixing her eyes on the reclining form, she remained immovable.'

'Her trained eyes penetrated every nook and corner of the desolate room.'

'His conceit perished before the withering gaze of her scorn filled eyes.'

'She returned his caress with a single glance from her beautiful brown orbs.'

'She permitted her eyes to rest upon the ceiling a moment, and then they roamed carelessly about the room.'

'Isabel's eyes took in everything that the room contained, and with a dignity benefitting a queen she left the place.'

'Slowly her eyes followed, as he disappeared from view o'er the distant hilltop.'—Life.

Clarence Williams Acquitted by Jury.

After having been out since Tuesday afternoon at 5 o'clock, the jury came in on Friday at 1:30 p. m., bringing in a verdict of acquittal, in the case of the state vs. Clarence Williams, charged with the killing of his father.

The verdict came as a distinct surprise to a majority of the people, who while not hearing the entire evidence at the trial thought themselves pretty well versed in the case, and who deemed that the young man might possibly be found guilty of manslaughter or murder in the second degree. They scoffed at the idea of an acquittal when broached by a few who had listened attentively to the entire testimony of the trial, and surmised that the jury was hung on the question as to just what the nature of their verdict should be as regards its severity.

From information, deemed reliable it is stated that on the first ballot of the jury, ten were for acquittal and two were for punishment. It took the balance of the period the jury was out and in session to convince the two that the ten were right, and in their action were voicing their understanding of the instructions of the court.

The many friends of young Williams, who have been sorely troubled as to the outcome of the case against him are jubilant and the young man has been the recipient of heartfelt congratulations.

As regards the case against Chas. Williams, who was charged with being an accessory to his brother in the killing of their father, the attorneys for the state have not decided as to their action in the matter. Whether the young man will be prosecuted, or the case dismissed now that his brother has been acquitted, has not been determined upon.—Auburn Herald.

Defender of Harriman.

It is so customary to abuse those who are high in the commercial and industrial world, that a world in their favor occasionally is useful for the sake of balance, and that we may not forget a sense of fairness, says the Atchison Globe. It is as well to learn the good deeds of our prominent men as their bad deeds; probably better. E. H. Harriman is now in the limelight of an interstate commerce commission investigation, but even if it is shown he has his own ideas of the transportation business, here are a few items as proof that his motives are not wholly selfish. He has given thousands of dollars for irrigation purposes, has voluntarily reduced passenger and freight rates in far western states, where the laws allow high charges. In the San Francisco disaster Harriman did probably more than any one person for the relief of the city. Besides throwing the road open and go-

Indigestion. Stomach trouble is but a symptom of, and not in itself a true disease. We think of Dyspepsia, Heartburn, and Indigestion as real diseases, yet they are symptoms only of a certain specific Nerve sickness—nothing else. It was this fact that first correctly led Dr. Shoop in the creation of that now very popular Stomach Remedy—Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Going direct to the stomach nerves, alone brought that success and favor to Dr. Shoop and his Restorative. Without that original and highly vital principle, no such lasting accomplishments are ever to be had. For stomach distress, bloating, biliousness, bad breath and salivary complexion, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—and see for yourself what it can and will do. We sell and cheerfully recommend.
