

A Chocolatiere Tested.

A chocolatiere is distinctly a woman's function, frequently taking the place of afternoon tea. The refreshments all have chocolate in some form. There is hot chocolate with whipped cream to drink, chocolate ice cream, chocolate cakes with white frosting or white cakes with chocolate frosting and chocolate bonbons. As chocolate is apt to become cloying when no other flavor is employed the sandwiches are preferably of plain bread and butter, while olives stuffed or plain and salted nuts fit in well with the chocolate scheme.

VIENNA CHOCOLATE.—Put in to a double boiler one or one and a half scant quarts milk and heat nearly to the boiling point. Cut four ounces chocolate in fine bits and put into a small granite ware or iron saucepan with a level salt spoonful salt, two table-spoonfuls sugar and two table-spoonfuls hot water. Cook until smooth and shiny and do not be afraid of cooking too long. Now whisk into the hot milk beating lightly with a Dover egg beater. Flavor with vanilla or cinnamon and serve at once, putting a table-spoonful whipped cream in each cup and filling up with the chocolate. Cooking the chocolate in this way prevents it from settling in cups and does away with the greasy taste that many object to.

CHOCOLATE COOKIES.—Beat to a cream a half cup butter measured generously. Add gradually beating thoroughly, one cup sugar, a teaspoonful cinnamon, saltspoonful salt, and two ounces chocolate melted. Add one well beaten egg and a half teaspoonful soda dissolved in two table-spoonfuls milk with flour to enable you to roll the dough thin. It will take about two and a half cups, but put in no more than absolutely necessary. Cut in circles and bake in a quick oven. As fast as baked take from the pan, rolling each cookie on the molding board to make its edges even and perfect.

COCOA BISCUITS.—These are nice to serve with tea. To make them sift together one pint of flour that has been sifted, three level teaspoonfuls baking powder, two level teaspoonfuls sugar, a saltspoonful salt and four scant table-spoonfuls butter, then stir in enough milk to make a firm but not stiff dough. Toss out on a lightly floured board, put on the desired thickness, cut into tiny circles (a canister top an inch in diameter is good cutter), place together in a pan and bake in a very hot oven ten or 15 minutes. Serve hot.

CHOCOLATE PETIT FOURS.—Make a light plain sponge cake, using two eggs, one cup sugar, a cup and a quarter of flour, a gill of cold water, a table-spoonful baking powder, and an ounce grated chocolate. Beat three minutes, then pour the batter in two pans and bake in a moderate oven about 20 minutes. When done lift one sheet from the pan and spread with half glass jelly, any kind preferred, then press the other sheet over it. When cool cut into diamonds, squares or triangles, ice with a plain white icing or a chocolate glaze.

Samuel M. Rinaker, son of Hon. and Mrs. Samuel Rinaker of Beatrice was Saturday honored by having conferred upon him the Cecil Rhodes scholarship for Nebraska. Some time ago the examinations were held at Lincoln, and Rinaker was one of the three young men who qualified. The duty of selecting the winner of the scholarship was with a board composed of the presidents of sectarian colleges of the state and the chancellor of the state university. One scholarship is granted each year in each state of the United States, and it entitles the winner to attend Oxford University in England for three years and carries with it $1,500 a year in cash.

Child Labor.

One of the advocates before the legislature of the child labor bill tells of a little Lincoln girl who was asked the other day the usual question about what she intended to do when she grew up. "Get married" said she, "and have a lot of children to work for me in the beet fields." It is a common remark among the people who spend their summers working in the sugar beet districts that every child is worth a hundred dollars a year in the beet fields. The reverse side of the picture is seen in the fact that the average school attendance of these children is only a small fraction of the number of days per year which the law requires. Some time ago a firm established itself opposite the Doolittle school in Chicago to sell cheap jewelry on commission through child peddlers. In a short time 300 of the pupils played truant to go to selling jewelry. Fortunately there was a child labor law forbidden the employment of children under fourteen as peddlers, and the jewelry firm, after being fined once, preferred pulling up stakes to suffering 200 prosecutions more. Apparently it is a choice between restricting the commercial instincts which the children seem to have absorbed from their elders, and closing the schools.

Work's Garment Cutting Ladies' Tailoring and Dressmaking School of St. Louis, Mo.

Will open Tuesday, Feb. 5, over Sam Wahl's store, in Falls City, Neb. All ladies interested in high art Dressmaking and Tailoring, should not fail to avail themselves of this opportunity.

You will learn the Diagram Method

The same as the tailors use. We are the only concern in this country publishing the latest imported fashions and complete diagrams for drafting each fashion. No lady's education is complete without the art of dressmaking, no trade or art is so greatly needed. The art of dressmaking will be no burden to anyone, no matter what her position may be, she can never lose it, no one can ever deprive her of it. She is an independent woman. The only way to learn dressmaking is to go to school where every branch of the trade is taught, where you cut, fit and make each garment under the supervision of an instructor paid to teach you.

We have now in Falls City one of the most complete schools ever taught in this part of the country

The art of Ladies' Tailoring and fine dressmaking will solve the question of dressing yourself, your family or dressmaking for others. You can make your own garments while learning the trade, free of charge. This is a very important thing to take into consideration when learning this trade. Our sewing department is under the management of skilled lady tailors and dressmakers. Each pupil will be taught drafting, cutting, fitting, basting, sewing, stitching, and pressing scientifically in any and all styles of garments for ladies and children and when you leave our school you will be your own dress maker. Our schools are very successful, our patrons are the wives and daughters of the best families, as well as the middle class and the poor, they are all treated alike by us.
