

The privileged resolution that Mr. Pollard at the opening of the present session, requesting the Judiciary Committee of the House to report upon his legal right to receive pay for the period from March 4 to July 18, 1905, was acted upon a few days ago. The Judiciary Committee held that the Sergeant-at-arms of the House did not act within authority of law when he paid out this money and that therefore Mr. Pollard had no right to it. The same day that the Judiciary Committee made this report Mr. Pollard introduced a bill authorizing the Treasurer of the U. S. to receive the amount of his salary that is in controversy. This bill was referred to the Ways and Means Committee which is the ranking committee of the House and contains not only the greatest lawyers but the ablest members that are now in Congress. This committee unanimously reported that the Sergeant-at-arms did act within authority of law and that Mr. Pollard was legally and morally, entitled to the salary he received from March 4 to July 18th, the date of his election. In closing their report the Ways and Means Committee said "We believe that Mr. Pollard was entitled to his pay and that the proper construction of the statute was put upon it by the disbursing officers of the House of Representatives, but inasmuch as Mr. Pollard insists on returning this money to the Treasury of the United States and for the purpose of aiding him to that end, we report the bill favorably after striking out the words "without authority of law." While Mr. Pollard was able to get the bill reported from the Ways and Means Committee, yet, he could not get it up for consideration in the House. All the lawyers in the House both Democrat and Republican were practically unanimous in the opinion that Mr. Pollard was entitled to the money under the law and that if the bill were permitted to pass it would overturn a long line of precedents that have been running for almost half a century. They contended that the passage of the bill would make a serious reflection upon the character of a number of renown now serving in Congress as well as some who are now deceased. Among the latter were Mr. Hitt of Illinois and Mr. Nelson Dingley of Maine. When Mr. Pollard returned the money to the Sergeant-at-arms he did so because as he said, "I do not propose to retain any money when there is the least question of doubt as to my right." This question of doubt has not been removed. Yesterday Mr. Pollard called upon Mr. Treat, Treasurer of the U. S. in order to ascertain whether he could receive the amount of the salary in dispute. Mr. Treat said that he could receive the money and would give Mr. Pollard a receipt therefor and that the money would be turned into the general fund of the Treasury. As soon as Mr. Pollard found out that he could convert the money back in to the Treasury he decided to close for all time this vexatious question. This morning he mailed a check to the Treasurer of the U. S. for the amount of the disputed salary; feeling that inasmuch as there was still some doubt as to his right to the money he did not care to retain it.

Does Advertising Pay?
The suspension of publication by the four daily papers in Butte and Anaconda has had a remarkable effect on all business in Butte. For a week no daily paper has been printed in Butte, because of the strike of twelve pressman and the lockout of printers, news writers, etc., and the business of merchants has dropped from 25 to 50 per cent. Department stores claim their business has fallen off 60 per cent, and dentists, jewelers, etc., have almost been wiped out.
