Austin Hill Sloan was born July 31, 1834, in the state of Kentucky and died at his home in Verdon Sunday, April 14, 1907, aged 72 years, 8 months, and 13 days. Mr. Sloan was one of the pioneers of Nebraska, having come here in the year of 1854. A few years later he homesteaded a farm northeast of town which he held until recently. He was one of the first school teachers of Richardson county. He served several years as justice of the peace and was deputy sheriff for some time; he also served as postmaster for eight years. He had been a Christian for half a century, being one of the charter members of the Verdon Church of Christ. The vicinity is greatly indebted to Mr. Sloan for his interest and labors in the advancement of the community. His life has always been more or less of a hardship, he has been a cripple for many years the result of having his feet frozen in a Nebraska blizzard. The latter years of his life was filled with much suffering, being unable to walk or to care for himself. Mr. Sloan has passed from this earth yet he lives on. His grave needs no stone as a memorial, for he dwells in the hearts of his friends. In addition to his host of friends and relatives he leaves three sisters, two brothers, two sons and a daughter to mourn their loss: Mrs. Sallie Walker, of Nelson, Neb.; Mrs. Emerson Smith, of Shubert; Mrs. Susan Brown, Denver, Col; Steve Sloan, of Norcat, Kans.; Charley Sloan of Oregon, Kans.; Willie Sloan of Verdon, Otis E. Sloan, of Dutz, Wy.; Lorena Sloan of Thermopolis, Wy., a brother and sister have preceded him. Funeral services preached by Rev. Hunt, interment at the Maple Grove cemetery.
