Another chapter of the Miles case has been completed. What a long book it will make.

Harriman has joined the "Dear Maria" class, which is the class of the also rans.

The sport now hunts the morning paper to learn how the games went the day before.

In the meantime please remember that The Tribune is the best and most inexpensive county paper.

If there is any brand of weather you haven't experienced in the last ten days, just call for it.

The community is now discussing the question, "who is the best lawyer, Webster or Mahony?"

Soon the merry and joy inspiring thump, thump, thump of the man and the carpet will be heard in the land.

Have you left your contribution with the banks to aid the starving millions in China. Nearly every little town in the state is doing its part. Lincoln gave $1500 last week.

Through the kindness of Norman Musselman we have been permitted to read a splendid article in the New York Times from the pen of his relative who was a member of the Thaw jury. It seems that the jury paid no attention to the unwritten law but divided solely on the question of insanity. The article is written in the most finished style and makes a most readable story.

The manner in which Judge Raper has tried the Miles case has won for him the most universal praise. With all the property involved and the great bitterness of the contest the judge has shown such eminent fairness and ability that the very force of his example has made the trial very peaceful compared to what it formerly has been. The writer of this asked one of the counsel, who by the way is one of the best lawyers in the west, what he thought of Judge Raper, he replied: "I think Raper the best district judge in Nebraska." For once The Tribune feels like saying we told you so."

This is a pretty good old world after all. One Anderson, a federal prisoner, escaped from the Leavenworth penitentiary nine years ago, and has lived in Kansas City ever since. He has been industrious, honest and sober. He married shortly after his escape and a little baby girl was born. Nobody knew of his having been a felon, not even his wife. However, one of the fellows who love money above everything betrayed him to the authorities for $60. Anderson was taken back to the pen, his home ruined, his wife stricken with grief and his baby disgraced. The people of Kansas City arose in wrath and are showering petitions upon the president to pardon him. All over the country like petitions are being prepared. Dave Sowles sent in a long one from Falls City. Of course, Anderson is unknown here, but it doesn't fit in with Falls City's idea of the square deal to see a man live a virtuous, upright life for nine years and then be sent back to confinement and disgrace.

Professor Caldwell went to Norfolk Saturday with an art exhibit prepared by his pupils.
C. E. Benson of the Senior class has been elected superintendent of the Nelson schools.
Professor Caldwell has accepted a position in Brown's business college at Lincoln where he will teach drawing, writing and book-keeping.
The following persons from Verdon visited the Normal last week: J. H. Hall, Vashti Cornell, W. F. Veach, wife and daughter, Marjorie.
The last number of the lecture course was given at the chapel Monday evening. Rabbi Leon Harrison gave his lecture, "A Plea for Shylock."
The students were given a half holiday Monday afternoon. The boys spent the afternoon working on the cinder track at the athletic field; the girls serving refreshments at supper time.
Save Your Old Clothing.
While you are cleaning house this spring do not cast away all of your old clothing which you do not care to keep yourselves. Do them up in a bundle and notify Humane Officer Hershey, who will call for them at your home. Thus the city's poor will be looked after and you will not be losing much time by tying them up in preference to burning them.
