The ball team that Falls City has not is a dandy.

How do your summer undercloths feel by this time?

What has become of Harry Thaw and his brain storms?

This has been a dreary spring; one of the worst for many years.

If you have something to say to the buyer you will find The Tribune the most effective medium to reach him.

Just the same you might keep your eyes on Governor Hughes of New York when looking for the next President.

R. E. Grinstead and John R. Smith are having a duel in poetry. From what we have seen the weapons appear deadly.

The weather man seems to be beating Dave Berry seven ways from the Jack. He is stopping all fishing, both legal and illegal.

A Kansas paper thinks it would be terrible for a witness after listening to a ten thousand word hypothetical question to say, "Hey?"

The high school track team is entitled to all the honors being showered upon it. The boys certainly made good with a vengeance.

If the weather will warm up and the evenings become pleasant enough for the people to be abroad we may expect the long anticipated band concerts.

Peru won the debate last Friday with Kansas and the fact that Miss Belle Bolejack of Dawson won the individual honors is a source of pride and satisfaction to her friends.

The President is going to see that the republicans of Ohio not only endorse the right man for his successor but he will also attend to the selection of the next United States senator from that state.

What is the city administration going to do about a general clean up day? It would require a few dollars to employ teams to cart the garbage away, but such expenditure would be an investment.

The city administration owes it to the people of this community to submit the proposition of buying the park in obedience to the mandate of the mass convention at which the city officers were nominated.

The chautauqua management seems to think it unwise to let the people know anything about the assembly. If we can be of any service in keeping it secret you may count on our services hereafter.

The merchant who has laid in a seasonable stock is having a hard time to dispose of it. But warmer weather is coming, and when it comes you will see that the merchant who sells his stock will be the one who has been using printer's ink as an assistant.

Death of P. W. Burkhauser.

P. H. Jessen received a telegram Wednesday announcing the death of P. W. Burkhauser at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Olmstead, Wednesday morning. To them a host of friends extend sincere sympathy.

M. W. Musselman takes Charge.

The following is taken from The Bartletville (I. T.) Enterprise concerning our old friend and townsman, Milt Musselman. "M. W. Musselman, formerly of Newkirk, Okla., is now manager of the Nowata-Bartletville abstract company, and he's a good one, too. Mr. Musselman has had a quarter of a century's experience in abstracting and there is not a man in the Southwest more capable of managing the affairs of such a large abstract firm than he. Withal he is a gentleman and an agreeable fellow and is rapidly forming fast friends with all with whom he comes in contact. The company made a good move when it placed Mr. Musselman in charge of the Bartletville office, and the Enterprise takes pleasure in welcoming him to the city."

Arrested for Felony.

Matt Donaker was bound over to the district court by Judge Spraggins this week to answer the charge of destroying a promissory note. It appeared by the evidence that George Falstead had a note of Peter Frederick, sr., against Mr. Donaker for collection. Upon being notified Donaker called on Falstead and asked to see the note. Upon Falstead handing him the note he tore it into fragments and threw the pieces to the floor. Mr. Frederick thereupon had Donaker arrested. The penalty for such an offense is imprisonment in the penitentiary.

New Hampshire expects to add materially to the improvement of her humane societies by the appointing of women to the office of deputy sheriff. Deputies were appointed a year ago and their work in preventing cruelty to children and animals has been so marked that many more appointments are to follow. This is an entirely new field for women and their ability has been fully demonstrated.

Will Sager of Forreston, Ills. is in town renewing acquaintance with old friends. Mr. Sager is a relative of John Wagner and lived with the family at one time during their residence in the city. Political Possibilities.

Among the bubbles about the political pot we see the name of Harry Pence for county assessor. His friends have been urging this move for some time past and he has at last consented to allow his name to come before the republicans of this county for that office. Harry has every qualification required to give the people just such service as goes to make an efficient assessor—one who would do his whole duty without fear or favor. Let us choose wisely and receive the hearty endorsement of the voter.
