

S T. ANTHONY

Will make the season of 1907 at my place 1 1/2 miles east and 1 1/2 miles south of Falls City.

St. Anthony is a high grade Percheron, perfect individual and admired by all who see him.

Color—Seal Brown.

Foaled—April, 1903.

Weight at a 4 year old, 1700 pounds.

Dam—a high grade Percheron mare and a good individual.

TERMS—$10 to insure a living colt. Care will be taken to avoid accidents but I will not be responsible should any occur.

J. W. CROOK.

FASHION FANCIES.

Neck ruffs for summer wear are short, edged with ribbon or ribbon velvet of the same shade, and finished with long loops and ends of velvet ribbon.

Hand embroidered linen handkerchief bags, change purses and chatelaine bags, will be carried with tub frocks.

Black suede hand bags with gun metal clasps and trimmings and used by women in half morning.

Cretonne enters into summer accessories of dress, for there are cretonne parasols and cretonne belts, bound and applied with leather.

Gold bracelets inlaid with black have been revived and link bracelets showing crystals and semi-precious stones come to match every tint of gloves.

Some of the prettiest parasols are of plain silk with scalloped and button-hole stitched edges set off by embroidered dots all in self tone, while other plain taffeta parasols show insets of fine batiste embroidery with edging to match.

The all-white hat for the summer days—due to arrive finally—is to be of the dead white type, it is predicted, but with dark facings to relieve the unbecoming tone of the outer coloring or lack of it.

A new rose is indicative of the queer conceits that find favor with women seeking distinctive effect. The center of the flower is pale pink and the color deepens until the edges of the outer petals are quite black. Flowers of this sort, or in fact, of any, are used very sparingly this season, which is a veritable feather season, with ostrich plumage still in the lead.

Some of the smartest of the summer waists are made of Cluny alone or combined with other laces. The Cluny and Irish are combined, Cluny and Valenciennes, Cluny and English embroidery, Cluny and net, Cluny and lawn, and so on.

Wide flouncings of embroidery are being extensively used both for the shirt waists and entire costumes, and this use gives both to the lingerie costume and waist an entirely new appearance. Flouncings of eyelet embroidery are the most effective for this purpose. Allover embroidery is also greatly used for shirt waists and entire costumes.

The advantage claimed for the cotton voile dress is that it launders without starch, therefore is not susceptible to dampness and does not crush when worn under a wrap.

A marked feature in the summer styles is the increased fullness shown in the new models. The waists have considerable fullness, both back and front, and the sleeves are noticeably larger, as well as somewhat longer, the three-quarter models appearing in larger proportion than at the spring openings.

The best thing to whiten red hands is lemon juice. Rub a little in every time after washing. Some people soak their hands in a weak solution of chloride of lime and water to whiten them. Only a very little of the lime must be used, or it will burn the skin.

Widows' weeds have an origin actually repulsive. These heavy, clinging garments are undoubtedly a relic of the once almost universal custom of burning a widow alive on the pyre which consumed her husband's corpse. The flowing robes and veil were then worn as a sort of grave-clothes, acting both to bind her limbs and to feed the flames. It is only in out-of-the-way corners of the East that the terrible practice still prevails, but the widows' weeds are still worn in countries which might be supposed sufficiently civilized for their people to know better.

One of the World's Noble Women.

Miss Helen M. Gould is the hitherto unknown philanthropist who purchased 100,000 acres of land near Greeley, Col., at a cost of $350,000 to be subdivided for homes for poor persons from New York tenements. Another $100,000 will be spent for farm implements, seed and fencing. Beneficiaries will be allowed to make easy payments, if they are diligent, but the shiftless will be weeded out. There will be a corps of agricultural and sanitary instructors, a library and reading room and pleasure grounds. There will be no requirements as to religion. Dairying and poultry raising will receive most attention at the start, and general farming and fruit will follow.

BEGGS' BLOOD PURIFIER
CURES catarrh of the stomach.

L. Knickerbocker made an examination of his wheat field this morning and found that the green bugs were present in large numbers. From one bunch he claims to have shaken several hundred. His field is on the Nemaha bottoms close to the Burlington depot. At Heacock's mill are several samples showing plainly the presence of the bug. Farmers are complaining that the alfalfa sown last fall appears yellow and not in good condition. At first they thought that it was the cold weather, but now some of them blame the green bug for this also.—State Journal.

Falls City.

There was a fine bunch of very happy men in No. 18 at Falls City on the night of the 24th of April, and the Grand Chancellor seemed to be about the happiest of the lot. They are all a pretty cheerful bunch, but their good humor was a little more conspicuous on this occasion than usual. They had forty-eight visitors from Hiawatha, across the line in the Jayhawker state, and several delegations from neighboring lodges in Nebraska. They had been invited to witness a ceremony. It was a celebration. No. 18 owns its own lodge room and is free from debt. They have cause for celebrating. Wilber Leyda had an ambition to see the lodge debt canceled before his term as Grand Chancellor would expire. Through the loyalty and energy of his brother members the ambition was gratified. Of course he was happy. It was difficult to tell whether he or George Falstead, the Chancellor Commander, wore the broadest smile. George had trouble with the Grand Chancellor just the same. Brother Leyda had so many things to say he wanted to talk all the time. Brother Falstead wanted to hear from the visitors, and he did. It was a treat to hear those visitors talk, especially the Jayhawkers. They seemed to be as pleased to see Brother Leyda burn that mortgage as were the members of No. 18. After the bonfire there was a feast and that, too, was enjoyed. The primary or paramount thought in this whole business is that a lodge of seventy-nine members should undertake such an enterprise, and that at its conclusion there are less than a hundred; but they have built as fine a temple as there is in the West, outside of some large city, and they did it without any outside help. There are five other lodges in the Domain larger than No. 18 and only one of the five owns its lodge room. There is no doubt but a lodge which owns its castle hall is a more permanent institution than one that is a tenant. It behooves some of these larger lodges to bestir themselves. What No. 18 has done others can do, and the sooner they do it the better.—The Pythian Sunbeam.

Buffalo Bill's Memory of Faces.

A face once seen is forever photographed upon Colonel Cody's memory. In London a few seasons ago, where the Wild West was performing with a number of royalty in the boxes, he came forward to give the usual announcement and caught sight of, in the immense sea of faces, a somewhat familiar countenance. The name he could not recall, but he was sure the man was from North Platte, and pointing to the party in question, said: "And you North Platte, Nebraska, man, come to my tent when the show is over." The Nebraska fellow, a stranger in a strange land, who had but slight acquaintance with the Wild West showman, considered it a kindly complement to be singled out of the multitude, both to his section and to himself, and a remarkable proof of the colonel's loyalty to his home people.

Let me mail you free, to prove merit samples of my Dr. Shoop's Restorative and my Book on either Dyspepsia, The Heart, or The Kidneys. Address me, Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. Troubles of the Stomach, Heart or Kidneys, are merely symptoms of a deeper ailment. Don't make the common error of treating symptoms only. Symptom treatment is treating the result of your ailment, and not the cause. Weak Stomach nerves—the inside nerves—means Stomach weakness, always. And the Heart, and Kidneys as well, have their controlling or inside nerves. Weaken these nerves, and you inevitably have weak vital organs. Here is where Dr. Shoop's Restorative has made its fame. No other remedy even claims to treat the "inside nerves." Also for bloating, biliousness, bad breath or complexion, use Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Write for my free Book now Dr. Shoop's Restorative sold by all dealers.

Coughs and colds contracted at this season of the year should have immediate attention. Bees Laxative Cough Syrup, contains Honey and Tar and is unequalled for hoarseness, croup and coughs. Notice of Settlement and for an Order of Distribution.

In the County Court of Richardson County, Nebraska. In the matter of the estate of Endolph Cook, deceased. To the Creditors, Heirs, Legatees and all others interested in said estate. Take notice that C. F. Reavis has filed in said Court a report of his doings as administrator of said estate for his final settlement thereof, also filed a petition for an order of distribution of the residue of said estate in his hands.

It is ordered by the Court that the same be heard in the County Court room in said County on the 8th day of June 1907, at 10 o'clock a. m., when and where all parties may appear and oppose the same. Ordered further, that upon the approval of said report, a decree of distribution of said residue will be made to the parties entitled thereto.

By order of the court dated May 16, 1907.

Legal Notice.

TRACY E. COURTRIGHT, Plaintiff, vs. RICHARD L. COURTRIGHT, Defendant. The above named defendant will take notice that on April 27th, 1907 the plaintiff filed her petition in the district court of Richardson County, Nebraska, against you, the object and prayer of which are to obtain an absolute divorce from you and to obtain the care, control and custody of the minor child, Raymond Banks Courtright, on the grounds that you are an habitual drunkard, that you have willfully abandoned the plaintiff without just cause and have willfully failed and refused to support her though able to do so. You will plead to said petition on or before June 11th, 1907, or the allegations of said petition will be taken as true and a decree rendered accordingly.
