True Friendship.

Friendship, like everything else, is tested by results. If you wish to know the value of any friendship you must ask what it has done for you and what it has made for you.

The friendship of Jesus could stand this test. Look at the twelve! Consider what they were before they knew him, and think what his influence made them and what position they occupy now! They were humble men, some of them, perhaps, with unusual natural gifts, but rude and undeveloped every one. Without him they would never have been anything. They would have lived and died in the obscurity of their pleasant occupations and been laid in unmarked graves by the blue waters of the sea of Galilee. They would never have been heard of twenty miles from home, and would all have been forgotten in less than a century. But His intercourse and conversation raised them to a place among the best and wisest of the sons of men; and they now sit on thrones, ruling the modern world with their ideas and example.

Our friends, too, must submit to this test. There are friendships so-called which are like millstones dragging down those who are tied to them into degradation and shame. But true friendship purifies and exalts. A friend may be a second conscience. The consciousness of what he expects from us may be a spur to high endeavor. The mere memory that he exists, though it be at a distance, may stifle unworthy thoughts and prevent unworthy actions. Even when the fear of facing our own conscience might be strong enough to restrain us from evil, the knowledge that our conduct will have to encounter his judgment will make the commission of what is base intolerable.

Among the privileges of friendship one of the most valuable is the right of being told of our faults by our friend. There are ridiculous traits of character in every man which all eyes see except his own; and there are dangers to character which the eye of a friend can discern long before they are visible to ourselves. It requires some tact to administer such reproof, and it requires some grace to take it gratefully; but "faithful are the wounds of a friend," and there are few gifts of friendship more highly to be prized than words of wise correction.

Whilst, however, we estimate the value of the friendships we enjoy by their influence on us, it is no less important to remember that our own conduct in the relationship has to stand the same test. Is it good for my friend that I am his friend? In the maturity of his fully-formed judgment will he look back on the connection with approval? At the judgment-seat and in eternity will he prize it? A man will hesitate to answer these questions; but surely there is no object worthier of intense desire and earnest prayer than our friendship may never be detrimental to him we love—that it may never pull him down, but help to raise and sustain him. Would it not be a prize better than any earthly distinction, if in the distant years, when we are old and grey-headed, or perhaps beneath the sod, there were one or two who could say, "His influence was a redeeming element in my life; he made me believe in goodness and think highly of human nature; and I thank God I ever knew him?"

There is no way in which we can guarantee of exerting such an influence except by keeping ourselves in contact with the great source of good influence. Christ was the friend of Peter and John and James, of Martha and Mary and Lazarus, in Palestine long ago. But he is still the friend of men; and, if we wish it, he will be ours. There are those who walk with him and talk with him. They meet him in the morning when they awake; he is with them in the street and at their work; they tell him their secrets and appeal to him in every time of need; they know him better than any other friend. And these are they who have found the secret of existence and keep alive the faith of mankind in the reality of the life of Christ. —From Stalker's Image Christi.

War Against Moving Pictures.

A war against moving pictures is being made in Berlin. Physicians have shown that they are injurious to the eyes. It is declared that the quivering movements of the films are most harmful, particularly to the eyes of children. At present there are 200 cinematograph theaters in Berlin and the suburbs.

Had a Slow but Sure Gait.

There have been numerous disappointments in the outcome of some of the boys. We remember one boy in particular who was the butt of all ridicule from the boys of his age, and he took it good naturedly. He seemed to have no particular friends and herded by himself. His clothes always looked funny, and he had that awkward swagger over which the rest of us had much sport. No one ever thought that that plug would ever get anywhere or have anything. But today that plug is drawing a better salary than any two of the old gang. He has more money, more influence and more friends than any of the rest of us. The plug had a gait that was slow, but it was sure. He didn't appear to be a bit bright then, but he had a surface that took on a polish.—Westphalia (Mo.) Times.

I will mail you free, to prove merit, samples of my Dr. Shoop's Restorative, and my book on either Dyspepsia, the Heart or the Kidneys. Troubles of the Stomach, Heart and Kidneys are merely symptoms of a deeper ailment. Don't make the common error of treating symptoms only. Symptom treatment is treating the result of your ailment, and not the cause. Weak stomach nerves—the inside nerves—mean stomach weakness, always. And the heart, and kidneys as well, have their controlling or inside nerves. Weaken these nerves and you inevitably have weak vital organs. Here is where Dr. Shoop's Restorative has made its fame. No other remedy even claims to treat the "inside nerves." Also for bloating, biliousness, bad breath or complexion, use Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Write me today for sample and free book. Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. The Restorative is sold by all dealers.

Judge Not.

It was Paul who said: "Wherein thou judgest another, thou condemnest thyself." And Jesus said: "Judge not that ye be not judged, for with what judgement ye judges ye shall be judged, and with what measure ye mete it shall be measured to you again." And some Modern ones have written, "The earth remains jagged and broken only to him or her who remains jagged and broken." We are all on different planes of thought and action. There are as many planes as there are people. We kill our saints and when we know how good they are we sing praises over their tombs. When we understand all we forgive all. —Ex.

Gone Visitin'.

"It don't cut no figger with Duncan what folks sez 'bout fambly spats; I ain't got no time for a bath 'or old mads with corksew an' cats; It may be that marriage ain't restful an' sometimes th' babies IS thick. A addin' to duties an' sorrows an' multiplied cares when they're sick! But gimme th' many heart throbbings that spring from a union of love— I guess that they ain't nothin' goin' that matches it—'ceptin' above!

My 'gal' she went visitin' lately an' tuck all th' joy from my face— Why, darn it, this here little dove-cote ain't nuthin' now'days but a 'place'! A place to sit in an' git lonesome an' wish that yer loved uns was back! Th' rooms is all darkened an' solemn, th' chairs is all pushed in a stack! Ye've cum from yer work on invited; th' kitchen is hot as a den! Ain't no one, not even th' grocer, has been there since we-uns has been! Th' walls snaps an' cracks like creation —you never have knowed it afore— While papers an' ashes an' mathes is scattered all over th' floor! You move along inter th' bed room an' 'low that you'll sleep and forget— Right over there, sir, in th' corner is where baby's shoes allus set! They're there, too, by cracky—the old uns; the new ones she wore with her ma. You reach for them shoes and you wonder if baby is thinkin' o' pa!

It's then that a great wad of something cums up in yer throat and ye choke To git out yer pipe and terbacker and pour out yer sorrier in smoke! So it don't cut no figger with Duncan what folks say 'bout marriage ties— I reckon that 'bout half that's goin' is nothin' nohow but jest lies! I'm married and proud o' th' title—al though I'm some lonely to-night!— To-morrer they'll cum with ther lafter a blessin' th' home with ther light! Hello, here's a telegrft message!—Cum in—don't stand waitin' outside! My God, I hope nothin' ain't happened my 'gal' an' my baby, my pride! 'A wreck on th' Illinois flyer; we're safe but delayed for a day!' signed 'Sally'— Here, boy, is a quarter jest run along now and be gay! Safe! Safe! an' a comin' home happy— Oh! jest let me git that thar shoe An' hug it, an' kiss it, an' love it— They're comin' to 'Pap' an' t' you!"

Divorce in England.

Statistics relating to divorce in England and Wales show that only 752 petitions for divorce were filed in 1905, against 720 in 1904, and 889 and 824 in 1902 and 1903, respectively. Three hundred and twenty-three of the 1905 petitions were presented by wives. Decrees were granted to wives in 261 cases and to husbands in 362 cases.

Shoemaker's Last.

The following is taken from a handbill issued by a provincial bootmaker: "The shoemaker is a man of great learning. He is a doctor as well as a surgeon, for he not only heels but performs many cutting operations. He is a fish-monger, for he sells soles and heels. He is a schoolmaster, for he gives good understanding. He is a good speaker, for he always works the thread of his argument, waxes warm to his subject, and holds all to the last."
