Roosevelt's Kind.

President Roosevelt can find no fault with the town of Charlotte, Tenn., and its surrounding territory in the matter of race suicide.

The family of J. N. Parrotts here numbers sixteen sons and two daughters. The family of Alexander Cunningham has fourteen members, the sexes being evenly divided. Pitts Powers has thirteen children. There is not a family in the whole country surrounding Charlotte that has less than eight members.

Recently an Indiana man, John Nabb, removed from Mount Vernon, Ind., to this place. He had only one child, a little girl. The Nabbs were made to feel their unpopularity to such an extent that they only remained in Charlotte for two weeks, moving from here to Milan, where race suicide feeling is not so extreme.

Buys big Ranch.

W. H. Stringfield has disposed of his Fillmore county property, consisting of a residence in Geneva and a quarter section west of town two miles, and has purchased in Holt county, near the town of Ewing, a ranch of 1040 acres.

The new property is especially adapted for stock and Mr. Stringfield will remove there in a short time with his sons, E. P. and W. S.; C. C. Stringfield will also go there some time in the future, perhaps in the fall. They have an excellent proposition for the cattle business and will push it.

In the transaction the Stringfield residence property adjoining the Gazette was secured by D. A. Huston of Ewing.—Geneva Gazette.

Man Zan Pile Remedy comes put up in a collapsible tube with a nozzle. Easy to apply right where soreness and inflammation exists. It relieves at once blind bleeding, itching or protruding piles. Guaranteed. Price 50c. Get it today. Sold by A. G. Wanner.

Boy Loses Finger.

Franklin, the nine-year-old son of Miles Jones was playing with a bone grinder Monday when he caught the index finger of the left hand in the cog wheels. The finger was so badly crushed that it was necessary to amputate it at the first joint. The little fellow went through the ordeal bravely and is now getting along all right.—Salem Sentinel.

Taft's big hit in Kansas.

Is Kansas for Taft? Well, rather! It took only part of two days for the Secretary of War to make a clean sweep of the state, and cinch it for 1908. And nothing was ever done with more ease and less trouble. It is the happy way that Taft has of walking into the favor of the people that indicates his power. By being nothing but just himself he can make more head-way with a crowd in an hour's time than a calculating, main chance politician could show in a whole campaign.

In Taft all of the Kansas fellows—square dealers and "mechanists"—are keen enough to recognize a winner. He has followers who understand well enough that they need him and couldn't get on without him; but, all considerations of self-interest aside—hypothetically speaking, of course—Taft would be bound to make a great hit in Kansas. He is smart and "able" to begin, or, to give preference to the Kansas vernacular—"brave." He is big and robust and gives physical assurance of his ability to carry things before him. He is at once keen and wholesome. He is such a blessed change and relief from the old-time "four flushers" who get their arms around you and buzz and sputter into your ears. He looks you in the eye, clear and straight; he puts his feet down, when he walks, firm and square, and he has the kind of a smile and the sort of a laugh that you don't find in men who are devious and underhanded. He is as far removed from the solemn and owl-like, frock-coat politician that exists by ironical suffrance in Kansas, as the earth is from the dog star.

In short, Taft is the real thing, and that Kansas has been so quick to find it out makes people really hopeful of that state who hardly knew what to think of it when the railroad senate was running things at Topeka last winter.—Kansas City Star.

Bad Run-Away.

A team, belonging to Jack Frakes and hitched to a harrow, ran away Tuesday. One horse was so crippled up that it was found necessary to kill it and the other was badly damaged.

This is a severe loss to Mr. Frakes in which his friends heartily sympathize.—Salem Index.

A devoted couple lived in North Missouri near the Iowa line. The husband violated a criminal statute and was sentenced to the penitentiary. Two or three months after the husband had been taken to the penitentiary the wife appeared at the county seat and called upon the sheriff to inquire about how her husband was getting along. The latter had not received any word from him since leaving him in the custody of the warden of the penitentiary. This information distressed the wife. After an outburst of tears she declared that she was going to Jefferson City to see her husband. Her means were scant, but she declared she would walk the distance. "I love my husband," she the wife, "and the long journey is nothing in comparison to the joy it will give me to see him. I know all about the trip, too, for I walked it several years ago when my first husband was in the penitentiary at Jefferson City. He is still there, but he is not my husband any more, for I got a divorce from him to marry the one I am now going to see."

Man's Character.

According to an old French saying: "A man's character is like his shadow, which sometimes follows and sometimes precedes him and which is occasionally longer, occasionally shorter, than he is."

THE VERY BEST

THE VERY CHEAPEST

Worth While.

Envy is the sorrow of fools. The best remedy for worry is trust.

To a small soul a dollar always looks big.

Hope is the twin brother of happiness.

We cannot sow bad seed and reap a good harvest.

There is no deception so dangerous as self-deception.

It isn't the biggest tree that always bears the best fruit.

The man who lives only to please himself has a hard master. It is a great mistake to suppose money can buy happiness.

There are men who help the world a great deal when they get out of it.

Malice and hatred are very fretting and make our own minds sore and uneasy.

All the knowledge in the world can't make a wicked man feel at home in a prayer meeting.

Treasure laid up in heaven don't stop drawing interest when the bank down here breaks.

If the bass drum could think, it would probably wonder why it has to keep still so much.

It isn't always the man who prays the loudest at prayer meeting that people believe in most.

From the body of one guilty deed a thousand ghostly fears and haunting thoughts proceed.

A town may not grow very fast, but there is always about the same amount of work for the evangelist.

A sound head, an honest heart and an humble spirit are the three best guides through time to eternity.

No life is successful until it is radiant. A man has no more right to go about unhappy than he has to go about ill-bred.

Worry and fret are fatal to the integrity of nerve and brain. Fear can sting like a scorpion and torment like a scourge.

Clock Installed.

The magnificent clock, which was a present to the high school by the graduating class of '07 arrived several weeks ago and, after being thoroughly tested at the store of the Auburn Music & Jewelry Co., has been installed.

The beautiful timepiece stands 84 inches high and is 24 inches broad. It has a sweep-second regulator with second hand, making circuit of the twelve-inch dial.

Its compensating pendulum weighing 25 pounds, makes atmospheric changes of no consequence, so far as accurate time is concerned. This is a most beautiful and practical gift and will keep in remembrance of future classes the glories of that of '07, the names of whose members appear on a neat panel inside the clock case.—Auburn Herald.

Lightning Does Damage.

During the severe electric storm last Thursday night St. Francis Roman Catholic church was struck by lightning. The lightning seems to have struck the east end of the church in the tower, splitting some of the weather boarding and taking a good deal of the plastering. The electric bell and most of the plastering on the north side of the confessional was destroyed, though the bells in the priest's house, which are operated by the same battery, were uninjured. At the north corner of the sacristy a great deal of the plastering was torn off the ceiling and walls while at the south corner the baseboard is ripped off almost clear across the chancel and a little of the plastering taken with it. The sacristy is in the west end of the church, far removed from the tower. In the priest's house the electric light in the dining room was torn out taking the plaster with it. No other damage was done and nobody in the house felt the shock.

A pole in front of the National hotel was struck and the lights burned out. At Al Resterer's also, the lights were damaged, as was the case in several other residences in town. Several electric light poles in the south of town were split and splintered.

The home of John Ramsey in the Crook addition, north end, was struck by lightning the same night. The family felt the shock but slightly and damage to the house was in having the shingles and the plaster torn off.

The bites and stings of insects, tan, sunburn, cuts, burns and bruises are relieved at once with Pinesalve Carbolic. Acts like a poultice and draws out inflammation. Try it. Price 25c. Sold by A. G. Wanner.

One of the large barns on Will Holt's farm was struck by lightning during the storm Thursday night and considerable damage was done. The stroke hit the cupola in the center and passed down through the hay and ran to each end of the building where the doors were splintered and some of the siding torn off. One of Billy's fine calves was pretty well stunned but recovered shortly. Fortunately there was no fire in the stroke or it is likely all the barns on the place would have gone. It was a pretty close call as it was.
