HARD HIT.

Judge Landis of the United States court in Chicago handed the Standard Oil a package last Saturday that made the crowd sit up and take notice. The company had recently been convicted on 1,462 counts for accepting rebates from the Alton railroad. Judge Landis in imposing the sentence gave the defendant the limit on each count and assessed a fine of $29,240,000.

No such fine was ever before imposed by any court in the world. Some idea of the magnitude of this sentence may be gathered from the following facts:

- The United States paid France $15,000,000 for the Louisiana territory. About one-half the fine assessed by Judge Landis. We paid Russia $7,200,000 for Alaska. We paid Spain $5,000,000 for Florida. We paid Mexico $15,000,000 for California and New Mexico. We paid Spain $20,000,000 for the Philippines. If the Standard Oil should pay this fine in installments of $4,000 a day it would require twenty years to pay it in full. A few fines like this will make rebating an unpopular pastime.

Judge Sedgwick is but one more of the good men who have been targets for the chronic mud mill to the north.

The Tribune will be a $1.50 a year after January 1st, but we are going to make you a proposition before the change that will be a money saver.

The bridge committee returned Saturday from a two weeks trip across the county during which they drove nearly 300 miles. They report the storm to have been very disastrous to bridges and that it will cost a large sum of money to repair the damage.

A coal famine is predicted and the advice is given to buy early or go without.

Now watch the price of oil and gasoline go up. John D. will make us pay that fine if he has to miss Sunday school to do it.

Be kind. Look for the best in your neighbor and give him the best in you. A cow will eat the hay and reject the weeds. Have as much sense as a cow and stop looking for weeds.

Kansas City is getting 600 tons of freight by boat every week at a saving of 35 per cent over railroad transportation. If Omaha would wake up and put in a boat line it would be a great thing for our farmers adjacent to the river.

L. M. Pemberton of Beatrice visited with our people last week in the interest of his candidacy for district judge. There are two candidates to be nominated. Judge Raper is sure to be one of them and the fight will be on the second place.

Georgia has gone prohibition, Alabama will vote on the question next week and Oklahoma the week following. The prohibition sentiment is growing rapidly and many prophets of honor are confidently predicting its universal adoption in the not far distant future.

The Falls City Commercial club is an assured fact. Already nearly four hundred shares of $25.00 each have been sold and many of our business men have not been interviewed. There is no good reason why $15,000 should not be subscribed. Is your name written there?

One of the compensations of life is the fact that a pure life is its own defense against the assaults of the slanderer. It is fortunate that there are but few men in this world who find pleasure in efforts to destroy reputations. The cruel, malicious and false charges being made by the Falls City Journal against Judge Sedgwick are horrifying to those who know how pure the character and life of the judge are. The sewer rat who throws such filth is deep in the mire indeed, so deep that nothing clean nor pure nor wholesome can abide there. He is an object of pity who can see nothing of the good, the true, the beautiful in the finest minds and hearts of his time.

Wouldn't it be a good idea for the Commercial club to buy what is left of the Journal and get rid of the rest of the gang?

RULO.

(Continued from page 8) until the close. For a number of years he has been City treasurer, holding the office until his last trip to York, and when he found himself growing weaker each day he sent in his resignation. Mr. Plumb has been married twice, his first wife dying a number of years ago. To this marriage two sons were born. Both sons are physicians one Dr. Perry Plumb living in the western part of the state and Dr. Norris Plumb living in York, Nebr. He had for many years been a consistent member of the M. E. church and it will be hard to find one who can so successfully fill his place in the church and Sunday school. The scholars of the Sunday school met the train which brought the remains home, each brought a bunch of flowers and laid their tributes of love on the casket of their silent friend and marched in a body to his home. He was laid to rest Monday, August 5th, in the Rulo cemetery. The funeral was preached by his pastor and personal friend, Rev. Maze. He talked from the twenty-third psalm, which was Mr. Plumb's favorite of all the scriptures. A great crowd attended the funeral, fully a hundred people could not gain admittance to the church. The beautiful casket was heaped with lovely flowers of every color and it was fitting that he should be laid to rest among the flowers and sunshine, who had spent so many hours among his flowers in his own home. One of his own choice roses was placed in his hand. A good man has gone, a kind neighbor, a true friend and the whole community feel as if each one had lost a personal friend, but in our grief we rejoice that he now lives where there comes no sickness, sorrow nor death. May his life be an inspiration to us that he being dead yet speaketh.

A BEAUTIFUL VERB.

At a party in upper Fifth avenue the other night there was an interesting and highly amusing discussion of the Carnegie discredited spelling, says the New York Press. A young blade discoursed eloquently on parts of speech. A beautiful young woman asked: "What part of speech am I?" He answered instantly: "You are an abstract noun." "I! An abstract noun, sir! Why am I not a verb?" "Because no one has ever yet been able to conjugate you." (Great laughter and applause.) "Well," she continued, "I should like to be conjugated; can you not conjugate me?" (Loud, long and rapturous applause.) "No, miss, I am reluctantly compelled to decline you. All single ladies must be compelled to pass as nouns; and they are abstract because they are generally all sweetness and goodness." (Loud and continued applause.)

NERVE PHOBIAS.

There is a class of well-defined "phobias," as they are called, with which nerve sufferers are plagued; "monophobia," or fear of being alone; "claustrophobia," or fear of closed-in spaces; a "goraphobia," or fear of crowds or of broad open spaces; "insomniaphobia," or fear of not going to sleep, and many others. The one great remedy for all these and similar mental miseries, writes Dr. Samuel McComb, in Good Housekeeping, is auto-suggestion.

WEDS ARMLESS PATIENT.

A remarkable romance has just been associated with the accident hospital at Widnes, Lancashire, England. A young man met with a terrible accident at the railway station, Widnes, in September, which rendered it necessary for his arms to be amputated at the shoulders. He was tenderly nursed by a pretty young member of the hospital staff, and the feelings of friendship between them gradually ripened into love. The nurse has just married her armless lover. She has some small private means and intends to work for herself and her husband.

GOLD FOUND IN SCOTLAND

Deposits of the Precious Metal Have Been Discovered on Shores of Loch Fyne.

The fame of Loch Fyne, in Scotland, has hitherto been confined to its scenery and its herrings. Now, however, gold has been discovered on its shores, and if the ore is found to contain the precious metal in sufficient quantities to pay for its extraction, it is probable that all else will be neglected. The auriferous ores have been found near Ardrihaig, on the Stronachullin estate, which is owned by Mr. R. Graham-Campbell of Strivan. The estate, which has an area of about 4,000 acres, is at present given up to grouse.

The presence of old lead and copper workings show that efforts were made about half a century ago to turn to advantage the mineral riches of the land. Careful analysis of a sample of quartz has proved the existence of gold as well as copper and lead. So far the quartz has been taken from the surface, and it appears to contain considerable quantities of gold, but as no sinkings have yet been made it is uncertain to what depth the vein of quartz descends. A trial shipment of 20 tons of quartz was sent to Swansea recently to have the value tested, and the ore met with a ready sale.

Several miles above Mr. Graham-Campbell's estate on the shores of Loch Fyne veins of silver were profitably worked in the seventeenth century, and the property on which they existed was entitled Silver Craigs. Gold workings are, of course, no new discovery in Scotland. When the king was on a visit to Lord Colebrooke at Abington, Lanarkshire, last year, he made a pilgrimage to the ruins of Crawford Castle, which is in a former gold-bearing country. James V., father of Mary, queen of Scots, employed foreign experts, who are said to have produced for their royal employer gold to the value of £100,000.

BIG FISH IN SHALLOW WATER.

A sturgeon eight feet long and weighing 200 pounds was taken from Squaw creek a mile and a half above this place recently by Fred Brooks. The big fish was seen floundering in water a foot and one-half deep. Brooks tried to shoot it and failed. Then he and his family threw rocks at it and could not kill it. Finally Brooks threw a lasso around its tail and dragged it out still alive.

It is supposed that the big fish came up Squaw creek during the high water and failed to return to its habitat before the water receded. Where it was taken the water was too shallow for it to swim.—Copper City correspondence Sacramento Bee.
