

Market Letter.

Kansas City Stock Yards, Aug. 12, 1907. Moderate receipts of cattle and higher prices last week had the effect of drawing out a big run today, 22,000 head, heaviest run this season, and the general market is 5 to 15 cents lower. Each day last week was a little stronger on practically all kinds, and the total gain amounted to 15 to 25 cents. Prime fed cattle are scarce today, and show the least decline, top $6.75 up to noon, and best fed heifers $5.75, top steers last week $7.20. Bulk of the supply today is grass cattle including a large proportion of stockers and feeders, which class is getting the greatest loss, 10 to 20 cents. Kansas grazed westerns, wintered and fed corn on the grass, are numerous, selling around 10 lower, at $5.10 to $6.15, light grass steers $4.00 to $4.90, grass cows $2.65 to $4.25, canners $2 to $2.60, bulls $2.40 to $3.60. Calves made the good gain of 50 to 75 cents per cwt. last week, but are lower today, ranging from $5.75 to $6.50 for choice veals, and from $4. upwards for heavy calves. Country buyers were numerous last week, and prices on their kinds advanced 10 to 15 cents, but the run is heavy today and market off 10 to 20 cents. There is a demand for extra choice native feeders, some of which sold lately to Illinois buyers up to $5.90, medium class feeders range from $4.25 to $5.25, stock steers $3 to $4.75, stock cows and heifers $2.00 to $3.75. Quarantine supply today is only 15 per cent of the total receipts.

The hog market has been doing better lately, because of small receipts, market 5 higher today, light hogs selling up to $6.32, and bulk of sales $6.10 to $6.25. Buyers for shipment set the pace on weights below 200 pounds, and heavy weights are selling better relatively than a week ago. Although there is little doubt that there are plenty of young hogs in the country, and a big crop is in prospect, demand is unprecedented for meats, and recent predictions of the market going $1 lower within sixty days may not be realized.

Sheep supplies are confined to small bands of natives mostly although Utah and Colorado shipments will come in freely before long. Market is higher all around than a week ago, steady today, lambs selling at $7. to $7.75, wethers up to $5.85, ewes $5.75, yearlings at $6. to $6.25. Some feeding yearlings sold lately at $5.50.

Blouses with Long Sleeves.

The smart blouses are all made with long sleeves, and this applies to the lace chemisette and lingerie blouse as well as to the more severe shirt waist. The striped and dotted batistes are charming and are sometimes used together. A blouse of white batiste with khaki stripes has the ruffles making the jabot and edging the cuff made of khaki batiste with white dots. It is little touches of this sort which make it difficult to copy a waist, exactly what the smart chemise places are anxious to avoid.

Dr. Shoop has closely matched old Java and Mocha coffee in flavor and taste, yet it has not a single grain of real coffee in it. Dr. Shoop's Health Coffee Imitation is made from pure toasted grains or cereals, with malt, nuts, etc. Made in a minute. No tedious wait. You will surely like it. Sold by Fred E. Schmit

A Hopeless Case.

A Scottish paper tells a story of an old Scottish woman who was "unco' drouthie," without the money to buy "a drappie," "Lassie," she said to her little granddaughter, "gang round to Donald McCallum and bring me a gill. Tell him I'll pay him in the morning."

Back came the child with a refusal. Donald declined to part with his whisky without the cash. Enraged and irritated, the old woman cast about for some means of "raising the wind," and her eye fell upon the family Bible.

"Here, lassie," she said, "give him this and tell him to keep it until I bring him the siller." Off went the little girl, but she soon returned, still carrying the Bible. Donald was obstinate.

"He says he maun hae the baubees first, granny."

In anger the disappointed grandmother threw up her hands and exclaimed: "Losh, did onybody ever hear the like o' that! That man will neither tak my word nor the word o' God for a gill o' whusky!"—Ex.

Nebraska Autos.

The little town of Angus, Neb., Nuckolls county, which has less than two hundred inhabitants, boasts an auto factory that is doing a thriving business. The autos put out by this company are claimed by competent judges to be the simplest in workmanship, most substantial and durable in structure, easiest to drive and most attractive of any auto built west of the Mississippi. There is less machinery to get out of order than any auto made. It is believed that this machine is the coming auto and will soon be heard from as surpassing the Smith, Ford or any of the now popular makes. The young man who makes these machines was a workman in an auto factory in the east and found what he believed would be a great saving in complicated machinery and set to work to make patterns which he patented. While on a visit to his parents in the little town of Angus, ten miles north of Nelson, he showed his patents and the result was a company was organized at once with capital of $50,000 and a factory is now in operation. A Mr. Kever of Wilcoxville purchased the first auto put out by the Angus auto factory. There are fifteen orders ahead that have not even been touched. Nothing less than twenty horse power is put out and the lighter machine made will climb the steepest hill without slack speed. Just watch the Angus factory and you will see an original Nebraska product that will make a proud name for Nebraska industry.

May be Nebraska Prohibition.

All champagnes, still wines and foreign liquors must be branded to indicate net contents and proof of alcohol, according to the ruling of Food Commissioner Johnson last Saturday morning. The decision was in answer to a telegram received from a Chicago firm which declared that the state pure food law if enforced would mean actual prohibition in Nebraska. Food Commissioner Johnson has filed the following telegram to the Chicago firm:

"All liquors sold in Nebraska must be labeled to show percentage and proof of alcohol and net contents. This may be actual prohibition, but it is the law."—Kansas City Star.

An Inch of Rain.

Few people have an adequate idea of the amount of water that descends from the clouds during rainstorm. We read in the weather bulletin that two or three inches of rain fell in a day, and that in our last rainy spell nearly five inches fell in forty-eight hours; but these figures convey very little information to our minds and give us no idea of the prodigality of nature.

An acre contains 6,272,640 square inches of surface, and an inch of rain means, therefore, the same number of cubic inches of water. A gallon of water contains 577.27 cubic inches, and an inch of rainfall means 22,622 gallons to the acre, and as a gallon of water weighs ten pounds, the rainfall on an acre is 226,220 pounds. Counting 2,000 pounds to the ton, an inches of rain means over 113 tons per acre. An acre is about half a St. Louis block, so that a rainfall of an inch means a downpour of about 226 tons of water on every city block. Multiply this by 5, the number of inches of rainfall during the wet spell in the last week in May, and no one can wonder that the gutters were insufficient to carry off the water. The occasional overflow of a sewer in the lower part of town is regarded as a very remarkable thing but the wonder really is that there is not an overflow every time it rains.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Rounded Out Some.

The Falls City chautauqua items in this paper need to be rounded out a bit, about as follows: The writer does not think that the Falls City banks are as finely furnished or look as well as such strong, rich institutions should. He saw a chair in the window of one bank that couldn't get room in a second hand store. He dislikes the appearance of the public library because it has no sort of beauty, looking more like a store building than a library. It should have been made in keeping with the beautiful gift of the woman who left the money for its building. A general item to the effect that rich men were the stingiest got sandwiched among the chautauqua news. As a generality the statement is sometimes so, but not always. A rich man in Falls City, Stephen Miles, gave the Odd Fellows their hall and the rich men of that town, as they should be, are said to be the spenders, buying at a fair price anything and everything they like, but in matters of public concern the rich men are undoubtedly backward. They do not head the subscription papers biggest donations as the Hiawatha rich men do. The men who give the most to every public interest in this town are the bankers and moderately well-to-do. It is stated that the banks of Falls City give from 50 cents to $2 for a public celebration. The Hiawatha banks are always counted on for $20 each for a similar event. Still, Falls City is a good town, composed of most excellent people, but it would be a better and more progressive town if every business man was a good advertiser and consequently a town booster. One of the good paying things at Falls City is a vinegar factory, but who knows anything about it? It is hidden because the owners, who have made money, are not clever enough to have the printer keep it before the public. Everyone interested should keep anything worth while in the public mind and pay the printer to do the work. Otherwise how can he live? And how can the town or special interest thrive to full limit?—Hiawatha World.

Some Household Economics.

A buttonhole worked in the corner of the dishcloth will be found better than a loop by which to hang it up, because a buttonhole will last as long as the cloth itself, whereas a loop often gets pulled off.

If, when using lemon for flavoring, you need only half a one, put the other half on a plate and cover with a glass tumbler. This excludes the air and prevents it from drying up or getting moldy. Old Turkish bath towels clean wood floors much better than ordinary cloths do. Put pieces of such towels in an ordinary long handled mop, and you will find that the rough toweling gathers up the dust very effectively. To Renew Cane Chairs—If the seats have become limp and stretched, so that they sink in the center, they may be made as good as new, if none of the strips of cane are broken, by well washing them in hot water and then placing them in a current of air to dry. This causes the cane to tighten up, and, when dry, the seat will be quite flat, as when first woven.

Cut a slice of new bread about an inch thick, and place in the tin with the cake; this will help to keep the cake fresh for some time. The bread must be renewed when stale.

An apple placed in the cake tin will answer the same purpose as the bread, and should also be renewed from time to time.
