RUPERT & CO.

It is said that when President Polk visited Boston he was impressively received at Faneuil Hall market. The clerk walked in front of him down the length of the market, announcing in loud tones: "Make way, gentlemen, for the President of the United States! Fellow citizens, make room!" The chief had stepped into one of the stalls to look at some game, when Mr. Rhodes turned around suddenly, and finding himself alone, suddenly changed his tone and exclaimed: "My gracious where has that damned idiot got to?"—Ex.

Sewer Bonds.

M. N. Bair of Falls City was up this week looking over the field with a view to estimating on a sewer proposition for Humboldt, such as many of our people favor. He thinks about two miles of twelve inch pipe would do the business, and the cost would probably be from $5,000 to $6,000. Whether enough of our people want the sewer to carry the bonds for this amount, will soon be determined. —Humboldt Leader.

Worth While.

Hold on, hope hard in the subtle things. That's spirit.

A worthy life is impossible without a worthy motive.

The virtue of a man is measured by his every-day conduct.

Skill and assurance are an invincible couple.—Dutch Proverb.

He who realizes his own weakness thereby adds to his strength.

Keep yours fears to yourself, but share your courage with others.

Only love can keep out bitterness; love is stronger than the world's unkindness.

Beautiful is the activity that work for good and the stillness that waits for good.

The secret of success lies in the man and not in the material he works on.—Bradford.

True wisdom is to know what is best worth knowing, and to do what is best worth doing.

There is nothing so easy but that it becomes difficult when you do it with reluctance.—Terence.

Christianity was carried round the world on a bayonet point; alcohol followed it under the flag.

Nothing can bring you peace but yourself; nothing can bring you peace but the triumph of principles.

Toil, feet, thing, hope; you will be sure to dream enough before you die without arranging for it.—J. Sterling.

One of the most grievous mistakes people make is in believing that energy of mind betokens physical efficiency.

You must make it quite clear to your own mind which you are most bent upon, popularity or usefulness—else you may happen to miss both.

Man does what he can, and bears what he must, and the name by which he calls the result is left to each to decide; a clever man calls it happiness.

It is worth while to do even the smallest kindness as we go along the way. Nothing is lost. No dewdrop perishes, but, sinking into the flower, makes it sweeter.

Stomach troubles, Heart and Kidney ailments, can be quickly corrected with a prescription known to druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. The prompt and surprising relief which this remedy immediately brings is entirely due to its Restorative action upon the controlling nerves of the Stomach, etc. A weak Stomach causing dyspepsia, a weak Heart with palpitation or intermittent pulse, always means weak Stomach nerves or weak Heart nerves. Strengthen these inside or controlling nerves with Dr. Shoop's Restorative and see how quickly these ailments disappear. Dr. Shoop will mail samples free. Write for them. A test will tell. Your health is certainly worth this simple trial. Sold by all dealers.

Farmers Can Make Alcohol.

The internal revenue bureau has just issued some new regulations governing the manufacture and use of denatured alcohol. Under the new conditions, any farmer or set of farmers or other individuals, can establish a still for the production of alcohol to be denatured, and can conduct it without interference from the government, and almost without supervision. So long as the business is honestly conducted, or conducted in any such manner as to arouse no suspicion on the part of the revenue agents, there will be no governmental interference.

There will be no bonded warehouses nor other obstacles or embarrassments in the way of the agriculturists who wish to turn the refuse products of their farms into alcohol.

Speak so as to be Understood.

Since words only give expression to what is in mind, and man is endowed with speech for the purpose of uttering his thoughts, what can be greater folly than to lock up and conceal things which we wish to be understood in a tissue of unintelligible phrases and intricate sentences? Is it not better, as Seneca says, to be dumb, than to speak so as not to be understood? The more, than, language is suited to understanding, the more useful it will be.—Ex.

The Original Bryan Boom

An enthusiastic Richardson county admirer of W. J. Bryan, (the today papa of democracy) now living at Oklahoma City, has an interview which appears in Tuesday's Kansas City Star. Here it is and the faithful about town credit the authorship to Col. Frank Marvin:

"I believe I am entitled to be called one of the very original Bryan men," said a former resident of Falls City, Neb., living now in Oklahoma City. "Bryan's national prominence began with his first election to Congress from Nebraska. The original Bryan delegation in the convention that nominated him at Omaha was from Richardson county. The delegation from Lancaster, his home county, went to the convention for another man.

"Late one night the Richardson county delegation was in caucus at Peter Kaiser's saloon. The delegation had not been committed to any candidate and as a compliment its support was offered to Edward Falloon, a Falls City lawyer, afterwards employed in the noted Miles will case.

"Not for me," said Fallon. "I have had enough empty honors. Stand for some man who is hungry for it."

"The district, by the way, was about 3,000 republican.

"Clay Davis, editor of the Richardson county News, broke in saying, 'Boys, what's the matter with giving a complimentary vote to Young Bryan. He seems to be a decent sort of a chap and we certainly can't lose anything by it.'"

"Bryan had stumped the district two years before for J. Sterling Morton. Morton, you know, was defeated. It was agreed that this was the thing to do. Samuel Wahl, a local merchant on the delegation, went to his store and got a lot of ribbon for badges, which was taken to the News office, where Clay Davis set the type and printed the badges, which read: 'For Congress, William J. Bryan of Lancaster county.' Davis kicked off the badges, on a job press.

"The delegation started for the convention with the badges pinned conspicuously on their coats. As other delegations got aboard the train, there was a running fire of joshing questions such as, 'Who is Bryan, anyhow?' By the time the Richardson county delegation had reached Omaha every delegate had his badge in his vest pocket. Clay Davis was the only one that braved the 'joshing.' He wore his badge to the convention.

"Before nominations were in order, Bryan was called upon for a speech. He made a speech that has always impressed me as being far better than the one with which he won his presidential nomination at Chicago. What happened at Chicago happened at Omaha. He had been speaking not more than ten minutes when the applause became so great that the Richardson county delegates that slipped their badges into vest pockets were taking them out and pinning them on their coats. When the stampede began that resulted in Bryan's nomination by acclamation, other delegations swooped down upon the 'originals' from Richardson county and began scrambling for the badges.

"Bryan never forgot the service of Richardson county, and always responded, however great the inconvenience, to calls for speeches. He probably never knew that the original Bryan caucus was in 'Pete' Kaiser's saloon."

NEW AND POWERFUL DRUG

Adrenalin is Costly, but Will Be of the Greatest Value to Both Physicians and Surgeons.

One of the newest and most expensive drugs on earth is that known as adrenalin, says the London Standard. Those who are not physicians will be first interested in learning that adrenalin costs $7,000 a pound.

Adrenalin is the most powerful astringent, hemostatic and heart tonic known. Adrenalin puckers up the walls of the smaller blood vessels so that the blood can flow from them even if their ends are severed. Since this costly drug closes and contracts the arteries, even when they are cut by the surgeon's knife, it is valuable in all forms of hemorrhage.

But it has another great and important use. Experiments have proved that it is a powerful heart stimulant. It will revive a heart that is being killed by chloroform. Chloroform, though quick in its action, is dangerous, but must often be used, when every moment is valuable.

So, if chloroform is necessary, it is of great value to know that adrenalin can be injected into a vein and prevent such heart failure as an overdose of chloroform often causes. This action of adrenalin has been proved by many experiments.

WATCHES NEED OILING.

When did you oil your watch last? Never?

You may remember when you lubricated your sewing machine, typewriter, lawn mower or grindstone—within a year, probably—but your watch you never oiled, that you can remember.

Yet in a period of 18 months the balance wheel turns on its axis 13,996,800,000 times.

Expert watchmakers say that a watch should be thoroughly cleaned and oiled every 18 months. Many persons wear a watch for years, winding it up each night, and never oil it.

Watches are instruments of uncertain age; some run indefinitely; keeping accurate time, without need of repairs. As a matter of fact, nothing is so neglected as this small, delicate and useful instrument.

THE EXPLANATION.

"Dear me! How is it you've got jam all over your fingers, Miss Dolly?"
"I s'pose it's 'cause I haven't licked it off."

MUDDY WATER FISH STORY.

Several negroes came into the city the other day from the northern section of the city with long strings of fish. They report that the rise in the river caused its water to get so muddy that the fish were forced to the top in order to get air as the water was too impure to allow them to breathe sufficiently. The negroes report that they took sacks, nets and in some instances used merely their hands to scoop the fish out onto the banks of the stream.—San Antonio Express.

RUSSIAN BRIDAL CUSTOMS.

At a Russian betrothal feast, the bride-elect cuts off a long strand of her hair and presents it to her fiancé, while he gives her a silver ring set with turquoise, bread and salt in token that in their united future he will furnish her all the necessities of life, and last but not least to the lover of pretty feminine varieties almond cake in sweet promise of luxuries that she may expect from his generous love.
