Well, it happened.

Aw, let's go hunting and forget it.

Richardson county seems to be firmly seated in the democratic circle.

The News was jubilant on the morning after over Bill McCray's election.

John Hinton did not receive every vote but he came pretty close to it.

Even Bill McCray was elected by a majority of 49. This is certainly the limit.

Fixley, Schlosser and Martin; these three, and the greatest of the three is Fixley.

You man who stayed in the corn field and neglected to vote, what do you think of it.

Now honestly, Mr. Candidate, how many liars do you think there are in this county?

Reese is elected anyway. The county may be all shot to pieces but the state remains true to the faith.

If any one can furnish the Tribune with information as to who hit William Patterson we will be greatly obliged.

The vote on supervisor indicates very clearly that the people of this city are not much in favor of a war on local institutions.

In view of Hinton's large vote it might be a good plan hereafter to employ the Journal to abuse our candidates. It would work well in Falls City at any rate.

It is not believed that any other candidate will ever again make his campaign on a promise to destroy local institutions because the Martins don't like them.

Everybody has a theory as to how and why it happened, but when the democrats skin us all along the line by majorities ranging from 400 to over 600 it is best to accept the result and say nothing.

To Bill McCray, here's to you. We don't like you a little bit and we don't believe your administration justifies the confidence of your people, but you won and we are good losers, so, Bill—McCray, here's to you.

Lack of organization, says one; direct primary fights, says another; financial flurry, says a third; second terms, half a ticket, and a hundred and one other reasons are offered for the result. All of these things contributed in some measure. Whatever did it, it accomplished the job good and plenty.

Notwithstanding the hardest kind of work done against John Hinton, notwithstanding that Mr. Hinton remained away from the polls all day and did not ask a single voter to vote for him during the entire campaign, he nevertheless received one of the largest votes ever given a candidate in the history of the city. Mr. Hinton is entitled to feel gratified at this sign of public appreciation of his personality and his services.

Mrs. Henry Wolf arrived in the city the first of the week from Springfield, Mo., to visit a short time with her mother, Mrs. John Hoffman. She will then go to St. Louis, where she and her husband expect to locate.

Often overlooked

The public schools too often overlook the practical side of the boy's or the girl's education. It therefore becomes our pleasant duty to assist the boys and girls in getting a knowledge of those things which must shortly concern their financial welfare. Our great effort is to encourage them to save money. Send them to us and we will do our utmost to get them started right.

Democrats Overwhelmingly Victorious

The word "landslide" is going to be very much overworked in this county for the next few days. Never in the county's history has such an overwhelming victory been given any party than the democrats achieved last Tuesday.

Outside of John Hinton the republicans not only failed to secure an officer, but the candidates were beaten by enormous majorities. A great deal of conjecture is indulged in as to the causes but the general sentiment seems to be that there was a total want of organization and that the fact that the democratic candidates were up for a second term aided greatly in the remarkable vote given the opposition.

The stay at home vote was, of course, a large factor in the result, but the fact that the head of the republican ticket was successful indicates clearly that a great deal of scratching was done.

We were unable to give the tabulated vote in the several precincts, we hope to supply this next week, but the total vote on those candidates who had opposition is as follows.

Reese	1700
Loomis	1686
Holt	1426
Hutchings	2069
Scott	1461
Gagnon	2029
Coons	1571
Oliver	1908
Arnold	1524
Judd	1953

It will be seen by this that the democratic county ticket has received majorities ranging from 400 to 600. We are unable to give the vote on district judges, but the republican candidates, Raper and Pemberton, received majorities in the county and are safely elected in the district, as is Judge Reese in the state.

Lord, Loree, Fenton, Reneker and Crook had no opposition and are of course elected.

Hinton, republican candidate for supervisor in Falls City received the remarkable majority of 162 over Schlosser. Fritz was elected over George Smith of Dawson by a majority of 99, and McCray beat Graham by a majority of 49.

The vote this year was very light but if the republicans who voted the head of the ticket had remained loyal to the county candidates we would soon have a few republican officers in the court house. As it is we will have to wait until another time for our inning.

Our City Dads.

The city council met in regular session at the council chamber on Monday evening and transacted the regular routine of business. Bills to the amount of $2,121.37 were allowed. Bids for hauling coal were opened and the contract given to E. A. Maust at 35 cents per ton.

After discussing different questions of importance the council adjourned.

HAD POOR IDEA OF FUN

Messenger Boy's "Joke" in This Case Was Connected with Working Recoil Attachment.

A boy who was until recently employed as a messenger at one of the local telegraph offices has an overweening sense of humor, says the Duluth News-Tribune. It is of the penetrating type, which nearly always furnishes the laugh for him alone and regrets for the other fellow. In fact, he recently left the employ of the company rather unceremoniously because of it. Business was dull one day and, overcome by ennui, the boy in question went to the telephone. He called up the home of one of the other employes and asked for the latter's mother.

"I am awfully sorry to have to tell you, Mrs. Blank," he said, "but your son was just run over and had his leg cut off."

Then he hung up. Fortunately the conversation was overheard and the frantic woman quickly reassured.

"Why did you do it?" asked the manager.

"Just for fun."

"Well, I know something funnier than that," said the manager. "You get out of here just for fun and don't come back, just for fun or anything else."

DAYS OF WHALING GONE.

"Newfoundland's coastwise whale fishery, of which so much was expected, has utterly collapsed," writes Consul Cornelius at St. Johns. "Started about ten years ago, with modern steamers and equipment, the first operators did so well that from a single ship it grew to 17. The result was the speedy killing out of the herds of gigantic mammals, 1,500 of which were destroyed in a single year. Gradually, however, the catch fell off, and within the past year six or seven of the steamers have been sold for similar work on the British Columbia and Japanese coasts, while the companies owning them have gone into liquidation. During the season of 1907 it is not expected that there will be more than seven or eight whalers operating in all."

TOLD OF SECRETARY ROOT.

When Secretary Root was at Panama on his return from South America, Gov. Magoon gave him a dinner, at which were present various dignitaries. An invited banker who failed to appear called next day with explanations. A birth had occurred just at that time in his family, by which another girl had been added to six predecessors.

"Too bad it was not a boy," said Gov. Magoon, "you might have called him Elihu Root."

"Oh," said the father, "we had decided to call him that if the child had been a boy. But not being able to call the child exactly that, I shall call her Rootine."

ARCTIC PHENOMENA.

One of the peculiar phenomena of the Arctic regions is "sea smoke." Explorers tell of a steam as if from a boiling kettle which rises from the water when the temperature is 15 degrees below zero. At 40 degrees the snow and human bodies emit this vapor, which changes into tiny icy particles which fill the air and make a light noise like the rustle of silk. At 40 degrees tree trunks burst with a loud report, rocks break up and streams of smoking water flow from great cracks in the earth's surface, knives break in cutting butter and lighted cigars go out by contact with the ice upon the beard.

NEWSBOYS AID A FRIEND

Tender-Hearted Salt Lake Youngsters Provided "Arm Cheer" for Their Afflicted Companion.

Henry Watterson, the world-famous editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal, once said words to this effect:

"The presidents and senators of to-day are the newsboys of the past; the great American citizenship of the future will be the newsboy of to-day."

Recently Mugsy and Germany and Freckles and Swipes and Braggo and a lot more of this great American citizenship of the future undertook the task of providing Dick Bicknell with an invalid's chair, says the Salt Lake Herald. Dick Bicknell was born in Indiana and he was struck by lightning when he was six months old. He is practically helpless. After passing years in Kansas City and Denver, Dick came to Salt Lake City. He was here a long time before one of the kids said:

"Es git Swede a arm cheer."

And presently the "arm cheer" was got, albeit, it had to come all the way from Toledo, where it was manufactured expressly for the purpose to which it is now devoted. Dick Bicknell rides hither and thence and thence and hither with ease and with speed now, selling his papers with convenience.

The kids love Dick Bicknell. He is older than they are, and he gives them good advice and wise counsel. He is not a "king" of newsboys—he is simply their friend, and they are his.

NOT A WATER DOG.

A Springfield man who went to Orange yesterday visiting relatives was accompanied by his $100 French bulldog, which was greatly admired by many people, partly because it was from the city and because there were none in the town of that breed. A young woman who had only a plain dog invited the Springfield man to go down to the river and see her dog swim, and he was so well pleased with the swimming of the plain dog that he threw his fancy animal into the water, which was unfortunately very deep, and the fancy dog sank to the bottom like a log. Unfortunately there was no bathing suit of his size handy, so he jumped into the water, which was over his head, and by a mighty effort he saved the dog's life, though he was put to much inconvenience the rest of his visit, as he did not have an extra suit of clothes.—Springfield Republican.

THAT SPELLING.

Critic—I have read your article over, and I must say it shows a great deal of originality.

Poet—Thanks. I flatter myself there were some good ideas in it.

Critic—Oh, I was not speaking of the composition, but of the spelling.

EAGLES HATCHED BY HEN.

Shamokin, Pa., comes to the front with an entirely original story. Two young eagles were hatched out under a hen.

Two months ago Roman Ukleski, of Shamokin, received from his brother in Germany two eagle's eggs. He placed them under a hen and awaited results. Tuesday night the eggs, having ripened, bore forth fruit and two tiny little eagles are being cared for by the proud mother hen. There will be further doings when the lords of the air attain their full growth.

NOT PRACTICAL.

"Why are you so dissatisfied with that young man?"

"He spends too much time committing to memory the advice of rich men on how to succeed in life, instead of getting out and hustling for business."—Washington Star.

THE WISE MOTHER.

"Her mother usually asks her daughter to sing, doesn't she?"

"Only when disagreeable guests are present."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

A Dislocated Shoulder.

Clyde Ellington, who is now in jail awaiting trial for the murder of Chers Wilson, underwent a very painful operation on Friday.

The young man has been complaining ever since his arrest of a severe pain in his shoulder, saying it had been injured by Wilson in the trouble the night before the killing. No attention was paid to his complaint until last Thursday, when his suffering became unbearable and he asked for a physician. Dr. Boose was called and upon examination found a badly dislocated shoulder. The next day he called Dr. Reneker to his assistance and together they replaced the dislocated member, being compelled to administer an anaesthetic in order to do so.

Owing to the long standing of the injury the arm of the unfortunate boy is in a bad condition, being considerably shrunk and partially paralyzed.

Library Notes.

Children, do you know? There is a place for you at the library.

There are low tables and chairs. There are shelves full of books for you.

There are little books for little children and older books for older children.

If you can read and sign your name you can have a card.

If you have a card you can take books home.

Every child in Falls City is invited to the library.

The library board met Tuesday evening and transacted the usual routine of business. The librarian's report was accepted showing a circulation of 1672 volumes, 1941 visitors and 117 cards sold during the month.

One of the interesting new books which has come to the library is the Shakespeare Country by John Leyland. It is finely illustrated with half-tone plates of buildings, places and things of interest to the student of Shakespeare or of English scenery. The pictures are of things as they're to be found now, but it takes only a slight effort of the imagination to people them with Shakespeare's personalities and read in the series the story of his life from boyhood to the grave.

Mrs. Ranger of Salen spent Sunday in this city with her daughter Mrs. Everett Scott.

At the Gehling

"When We Were Friends," was the attraction at the Gehling Friday night, and drew a small but very appreciative audience. Wm. Macauley, who has the leading role, is good and has good support throughout. The costumes and scenery were exceptionally fine. The bill for tonight is "Slow Poke," with W.B. Patton as the star. Mr. Patton has played in our city before and has a great many admirers here who will be sure to see him in his new play, "Slow Poke."
