The Business Way.

A farmer out at Minneapolis writes a letter to his home paper giving his experience with a public sale that contains a lesson. He contracted for a liberal space in his home paper and in addition to that had enough bills printed to place in every mail box along the rural routes in his vicinity by putting a one cent stamp on them. He spent about $20.00 in advertising his sale and when the day arrived had over 1,000 people present when the auctioneer got ready to go to work and the sale was a big success. This farmer simply followed out the plan of good business men, went into the sale in a business way and made it pay him big returns.

Rheumatism

I have found a tried and tested cure for Rheumatism! Not a remedy that will straighten the distorted limbs of chronic cripples, nor turn bony growths back to flesh again. That is impossible. But I can now surely kill the pains and pangs of this deplorable disease.

In Germany—with a Chemist in the City of Darmstadt—I found the last ingredient with which Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy was made a perfected, dependable prescription. Without that last ingredient, I successfully treated many, many cases of Rheumatism; but now, at last, it uniformly cures all curable cases of this horrible, much dreaded disease. Those sand-like granular wastes, found in Rheumatic Blood, seem to dissolve and pass away under the action of this remedy as freely as does sugar when added to pure water. And then, when dissolved, these poisonous wastes freely pass from the system, and the cause of Rheumatism is gone forever. There is now no real need—no actual excuse to suffer longer without help. We sell, and in confidence recommend

Rheumatic Remedy
(ALL DEALERS)

A tickling cough, from any cause, is quickly stopped by Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. And it is so thoroughly harmless and safe, that Dr. Shoop tells mothers everywhere to give it without hesitation even to very young babies. The wholesome green leaves and tender stems of a lung-healing mountainous shrub, furnish the curative properties to Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. It calms the cough, and heals the sore and sensitive bronchial membranes. No opium, no chloroform, nothing harsh used to injure or suppress. Simply a resinous plant extract, that helps to heal aching lungs. The Spaniards call this shrub which the Doctor uses, "The Sacred Herb." Demand Dr. Shoop's. Take no other. Sold by all dealers.

Market Letter.

Kansas City Stock Yards, Nov. 18, 1907. Heavy cattle receipts last week at all points, and the conservative orders of buyers, brought about a decline of 25 to 40 cents the first half of last week. Reduced runs after Wednesday caused a slight recovery from the low time. The decline affected all kinds, except veal calves, which made a gain of 25 cents for the week. Today the supply is 14,000 head, market 5 to 15 lower on everything except light killing steers, which are almost steady, and veal calves also selling good. The financial weakness has taken all the speculative features out of the market, and buyers are making purchases on a bed rock business basis. Choice fed steers brought $6.00 late last week, but few steers will get above $5.50 this week and short fed steers sell at $4.25 to $5.00 mainly Westerns have not suffered as much as heavy fed steers, grassers selling at $3.30 to $4.40, cows $2.25 to $3.50, heifers $2.80 to $4.00, bulls $2.10 to $3.50, top veals $6.25, heavy calves $3.50 to $4.25. Country buying fell off sharply last week, 120 car loads bought for the country and prices declined 20 to 30 cents, now standing at the low point of the fall season, and with a weaker tendency today. Stockers bring $2.50 to $4.00, feeders $3.25 to $4.35. The yards were pretty well cleared out Saturday night, only about 6000 head held over for today, nearly all stockers and feeders in the hands of yard traders.

After big fluctuations from day to day last week, the hog market closed practically unchanged from the close of previous week. The run is heavy today, 11,000 head, market off 15 to 25 cents, top today, $5.00, bulk of sales $4.75 to $4.90. A strong feature recently is liberal buying for shipment east, which includes hogs of all weights, one West Virginia concern taking twelve doubles of 250 pound hogs last week. Packers also operate freely when the price gets below $5.00, and predictions favor a market about like today's or possibly a little lower, for the immediate future.

Sheep and lambs are holding up strong right along, in the face of liberal receipts. Run is 12,000 today, market steady and active, particularly on killing grades. Range stuff constitutes about the entire receipts, and country kinds are to be had cheap, lambs at $5.10 to $5.50, weathers, yearlings and ewes at $3.75 to $4.50. Killing lambs bring $5.65 to $6.15, weathers and yearlings up to $4.75, ewes $4.30.

The Youth's Companion Calendar For 1908.

The publishers of The Youth's Companion will as always at this season, present to every subscriber whose subscription ($1.75) is paid for 1908 a beautiful Calendar for the new year. Four paintings by artists of distinction are reproduced in the four panels of the Calendar by a process of color-printing which has been recently brought to remarkable excellence. The first of the panels is an inspiring sea scene, full of the beauty of the wide ocean and sky, and the joyous rush of the homeward-bound ship. The second is a fine cattle piece. The third pictures an old mill at Zandam—typically Dutch in treatment. The fourth panel depicts a "Girl with Roses"—a charming face, exquisite in color and expression. All the pictures are worthy of preservation long after 1908 has passed into the good old times.

A Weather Sharp.

In spite of the cold snap which visited this section, Sunday, a local weather sharp predicts that we will have a mild winter.

His prophecy has been the result of observations of nature and for fear that he might become involved in an unusual controversy with President Roosevelt for "nature taking" we with hold his name.

The weather sharp in question says: "My theory that we will have a mild winter is based upon the fact that the muskrats have not even begun to build their winter quarters. The ducks have been slow in coming from the north and their flight is very irregular. They are scarcer this year than they have been for a number of years. The owls are still in the open."

It is a sure sign of a hard winter when they withdraw to the depths of the woods. The songbirds still linger; the toadstools have few or no wrinkles; corn shucks are not thick; the 'possum has only one wrinkle to its tail; the wild geese are still sojourning on the northern lakes; the hens are late in moulting and there is no thick down under their feathers nor bony growth on their feet; the goose-bone is fair and unspotted; vermin under planks and logs are more numerous and lively than ever before; fishworms are nearer the surface."

These are the signs that our weather wise friend says are the voices of nature proclaiming that this will be an open and mild winter. In spite of these and with all due respect to him, we would advise the coal man to remain in business and we would also recommend that none of our readers trade their base burners for refrigerators or their overcoats for Panama hats and duck trousers.—Auburn Republican.

Must Test Eggs.

"It is unlawful to sell rotten in Nebraska, and the penalties provided by the pure food law may be invoked against anyone who disposes of them."

This is the holding of Food and Dairy Commissioner J. W. Johnson, to whom several complaints have lately been made regarding the quality of the hen fruit retailed in certain communities in Nebraska. Not only the grocery men or creamery men who get the aluminous ovals second, but also the farmers who bring them to town in basket, is liable under the law for selling putrid specimens.

If the testing of eggs becomes necessary, as at this time seems imminent, it will doubtless make the farmer much more labor and must necessarily advance the price.

Find Teeth of A Titanotherium.

How would you like to have lived in Nebraska during the days when the titanotherium was among the prominent citizens?

The titanotherium was about the size of a large elephant and capable of slipping a man into his mouth without stretching his jaws abnormally. Just how many men he could put away at one sitting is not known.

Remains of this strange animal are imbedded in the banks of the Platte river in Northwestern Nebraska. A. A. Jones, a civil engineer, who has been with the Union Pacific, unearthed pieces of teeth and other parts of the anatomy of an animal about fifty feet up a bluff on the Platte river, two miles from the head of the Mitchell irrigation ditch and about the same distance from the state line.

He and his associates were unable to distinguish the bones, so he took a tooth and other pieces to Lincoln and laid them before Professor E. M. Barbour, curator of the museum and head of the geological department of the University of Nebraska.

"Those are from the titanotherium," said Professor Barbour without a moment's hesitation. "Here, I'll draw a sketch of the animal which these remnants represent."

And, taking his pencil, he drew what resembles a rhinoceros somewhat. It has tusks that stand up and are large in dimensions. Professor Barbour said that a very long time ago these animals infested this section of the country in large numbers.

"It struck me as most extraordinary that any man should be able to name the animal merely from two or three fragments of his anatomy after so many ages," said Mr. Jones. "Where we found these remnants it seemed that they had but recently been washed out of the ground. We found a tusk protruding from the embankment."
