Weak Women

To weak and ailing women, there is at least one way to help. But with that way, two treatments, must be combined. One is local, one is constitutional, but both are important, both essential. Dr. Shoop's Night Cure is the local. Dr. Shoop's Restorative, the Constitutional. The former—Dr. Shoop's Night Cure—is a topical mucous membrane suppository remedy, while Dr. Shoop's Restorative is wholly an internal treatment. The Restorative reaches throughout the entire system, seeking the repair of all nerve, all tissue, and all blood ailments. The "Night Cure", as its name implies, does its work while you sleep. It soothes sore and inflamed mucous surfaces, heals local weaknesses and discharges, while the Restorative, eases nervous excitement, gives renewed vigor and ambition, builds up wasted tissues, bringing about renewed strength, vigor, and energy. Take Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—as a general tonic to the system. For positive local help, use as well

Market Letter.

Kansas City Stock Yards, January 13, 1908. The usual heavy Monday supply of cattle was reported at Chicago today, with lower prices, but this did not produce as much of a decline here as might have been expected. Trade last week after Tuesday was very pleasing to sellers, and the week closed with steers 15 to 25 cents higher than close of previous week, cows about 10 higher, and stockers and feeders 30 to 40 cents higher. The demand from all sources is rapidly broadening, and there are scarcely any traces left in the cattle market of the late panic. On last Thursday steers sold at $5.60, highest price since early in December. Today the market ranges from steady to 10 lower on a supply of 14,000 head which run is somewhat above expectations, even in view of the good close of the market last week. The limited number of cattle on feed in Kansas City territory is believed to be in old hands, who are not easily influenced by price fluctuations, and who now feel reasonably safe as to the outcome of their operations. Top steers today sold at $5.45, bulk of steers at $4.75 to $5.25, cows at $3.00 to $4.50, heifers $3.25 to $5.00, bulls $2.75 to $4.10, calves, 25 to 50 cents above a week ago, best veals today $7.00. Demand for stock and feeding cattle is improved, along with the better outlook on fed stuff, stockers $3.50 to $4.50, feeders $3.75 to $4.75. Cattle receipts so far this month show a falling off of 25 per cent from same time last year.

Hog receipts last week amounted to 532,000 head here, largest on record at Kansas City for one week. The market was sensational only in that prices did not change more than 10 cents all week, bulk of the hogs for the week $4.25 to $4.45. Supply today is 12,000 head, market 5 lower, but active, top $4.35, bulk $4.20 to $4.30. The packers are alert buyers at all times, and are now able to finance huge operations. Shipper buyers were hampered last week by the activity of packers, but secured 17,000 hogs during the week. Local range of prices is only 10 cents under Chicago prices. Sheep and lambs advanced 25 to 40 cents last week, although receipts were fairly liberal at 31,000 head, and at present there is no margin between prices here and in the East.

Supply is 10,000 today, market strong, top lambs at $7.00, yearlings $6.30, wethers worth $4.50 to $5.50, ewes $4.50 to $5.00. Fair to good lambs bring $6.65 to $6.90, and heavy yearlings around $5.60. Receipts are heavier than has been anticipated, possibly at the expense of future supplies.

New Postage Regulations

The postmaster general has promulgated this new regulation in regard to newspaper postage, of vast importance to the newspapers of the country. A reasonable time will be allowed publishers to secure renewals of subscriptions, but unless subscriptions are expressly renewed after the term for which they are paid within a reasonable period shall not be counted in the legitimate list of subscribers, and copies mailed on account thereof shall not be accepted for mailing at the second class postage rate, but may be mailed at the transient second class rate of one cent for every four ounces. The effect of this is to require a newspaper to put a one cent stamp on every paper where the subscriber is in arrears for the periods fixed by postmaster general. The object of the order is to knock out the publications used by mail order houses, but it will also enable all newspapers to clean up their subscription accounts. Along with the regulations the postmaster general has sent to each postmaster a letter stating that it is the desire of the department to give every publisher a reasonable opportunity to adjust his business to the new conditions. Publishers who show good faith and are making progress should, in fairness, have such opportunity. Postmasters are not to annoy and vex publishers whose practices are normal, but are to give such publishers time to clean up their lists.

Taft on First Vote

President Roosevelt is of the opinion that Secretary Taft will be nominated at Chicago on the first ballot. The president is convinced that the Taft candidacy has received such an impetus in the west that all western states except those which may present favorite son candidates will vote for Taft.

The south, he believes, will give Taft a majority of its votes in convention, and he believes New England's vote will be so divided that Taft will receive more than any of his opponents.

The president's sources of information are better than those of any other man in the United States. Every day he receives callers from every state in the union, including men of all professions and callings. Up to within a few weeks the president believed Governor Hughes would be Secretary Taft's strongest opponent. He no longer believes this to be true on account of the unwillingness of the New York governor to make public the views on public questions and the reactionary character of his presidential support.

"I trust this may be read by many sufferers from kidney and bladder trouble," writes Mrs. Joe King of Woodland, Texas. "I suffered four years and could find nothing to give even temporary relief. Our druggist at last induced me to try your 30 days' treatment of Pineules for $1. This one bottle has cured me and money could not buy the value it has been to me. Guaranteed. Sold by A. G. Wanner, druggist."

Was Home Grown

"Talk about your blossoming, blooming violets and California weather" said Wm. Watson, jr., to a Herald reporter last Monday. "I had something yesterday that was as novel for this country, and a whole lot more practical."

"For my Sunday dinner I picked from my own garden some most excellent lettuce, three to four inches high, and as crisp and tender as though the month was May instead of January. Violets are very pretty and sentimental, but good lettuce goes much farther toward filling an aching void and making practical use of our southern climate."

This lettuce was raised in the open garden, with no protection whatever.—Auburn Herald.

IN PRAISE OF LAZINESS

Here Are Two Successful Men Who By No Means Consider It a Vice.

One of the most celebrated admirals of our day, whose name is closely associated with deeds of conspicuous hardihood and valor, when asked by a friend the secret of his remarkable success, answered naively: "I'll tell you, my boy. It was just through being a thoroughly lazy man."

Sir Francis Laking, the King's physician, is very much in sympathy with that especial form of laziness which produces heroes and heroes, says a writer in The Young Man. He is not at all of the same opinion as those hustling folk who maintain that change of work is as good as a holiday, and that laziness is under all circumstances a vice.

Whenever any one of this great doctor's patients is starting off on a pleasure trip he offers some such commonsense advice as this:

"Don't overtire yourself. Don't let bracing air and novel surroundings persuade you to take too long walks. Don't shorten your hours of sleep, and—don't eat too much."

EITHER WAY.

Barber—Shall I take a little off the ends of your hair, sir?
Customer—Yes, yes! I think you better take it off the ends, unless you can get it out of the middle.

OUR OWN MINSTRELS.

"Mistah Jenkins, why am a scoldin' woman's tongue, when it's goin' all de time?"

"I am not sure, George, that I understand you. 'Why is a scolding woman's tongue when it's going all the time'—what is the rest, George?"
"Ain't no rest to it. Got caught off yo' base dat time, didn't yo', Mistah Jenkins?"

"Ladies and gentlemen, the eminent tenor, M'sien Yellike Phewry, will now sing the favorite sentimental ballad, 'Answer Me the Old, Old Question, Love; How Do You Eat a Soft Shell Crab?'"

CHINESE THRIFT.

Nothing more marvellous than the rapidity with which the restless energy and thrift of the Chinaman raises him to a position of affluence. Even beggars grow rich without any apparent effort beyond the magic of their industry, and return to China with fortunes. In Singapore are numerous instances of Chinese who have raised themselves to wealth from literal beggary. Yesterday in rags, they are today rich. They own handsome villas with wonderful gardens, they drive in elegant carriages and smoke the most costly cigars.

THEY WERE ON THE FRIEZE.

Private John Allen, excongressman and wit, was laughing recently in a rathskeller when a row of little Dutch girls in quaint caps and aprons ornamenting the walls attracted the attention of a member of Mr. Allen's party.

"What are those children doin'?" said the man in question, studying attentively the decoration.
"They must be skating," answered John Allen, soberly; "they're on the frieze, you know."

OFFICERS AND SWORDS.

During the Boer war many fish officers lost their lives by having carried their swords in their pockets, the weapons enabling the riflemen to distinguish officers from the rank and file. The losses came so serious that orders were issued for officers to carry rifles equipment similar to that of the private soldier. These orders have existed in existence up to the present time, but their further necessity is now a matter of debate.
