

Republican State Convention

Wilson, but each county to be entitled to at least one delegate. Said apportionment entitles the several counties to the following representation in said convention:

A Narrow Escape

Many people have a narrow escape from pneumonia and consumption as a result of a cold that hangs on. Foley's Honey and Tar cures coughs and colds no matter how deep seated and prevents pneumonia and consumption. Refuse substitutes. Kerr's Pharmacy.

A Big Increase.

Those who have been cherishing the belief that the oil inspection department is of little value to the people from a practical standpoint will certainly change their minds after examining the 1907 report and noting the work that has been accomplished by the inspector and his five deputies.

The inspections of kerosene and gasoline, the illuminating fluids covered by the law, increased from 222,712 barrels in 1906 to 262,495 barrels in 1907, a growth of 18 per cent. The receipts, based on an inspection fee of 10 cents per barrel, correspondingly increased. The expense of maintaining the office increased 6 per cent. The amount turned into the state treasury, after paying all expenses of the department, increased from $9,228.78 in 1906 to $13,845.34 in 1907, an increase of 50 per cent.

Fresh Air For Pneumonia.

We treat pneumonia differently now than they did as little as ten years ago. Now, very largely, we let the patient fight his own battle, and the most effective weapon we give him is fresh air, real fresh air, and lots of it.

The fact that pneumonia might be called simply a shutting off of oxygen shows how important this is to give the patient plenty of fresh air. In a large New York hospital, says the February Delineator, sufferers from the disease are carried to the roof and kept there day and night. When your child grows ill move it to the largest and sunniest room in the house, and open the windows. If it is too cold for that, have another room near by into which the patient may be moved at least three times a day, to permit a thorough ventilation of the sick room. All unnecessary furniture and all pictures, hangings and other impediments should be taken out of both rooms.

An attack of pneumonia begins in a manner which suggests a very bad cold. The patient has a chill and a fever and suffers from pains in the side. A cough soon appears, and the breath comes short and quick. The valiant battle of the overworked heart is indicated by a headache, sleeplessness and (sometimes) delirium.

During all this period the blood is waging a tremendous war upon the invading germs. If it is destined to lose, the exhaustion will grow more and more marked and the patient will die. But if it is destined to win there will come a time—it will be between the fifth and tenth day—when the patient will suddenly seem brighter. The temperature will fall, the breathing will be more regular, and the violent jumping of the pulse will cease. When this happens it is a sign that the battle is won.

Death of An Old Pioneer

The following taken from the Lincoln Journal of Monday, will be of interest to our readers, as deceased was a resident of this city a number of years ago and was well known to many of our people, who unite with The Tribune in extending sympathy to the bereaved ones:

Anson Rising, whose death occurred on Saturday, and who will be buried at 10 o'clock this morning from the family home at 2315 Lynn street, was a pioneer of Nebraska. He was born in Sheffield, Conn., on April 25, 1820, and was therefore in his 88th year. He spent a good share of his early life in Boston, later coming west to Chicago and finally settling in Warren, Ill., in 1854. On the last day of the year 1860 he arrived in Nebraska, crossing the state line from Kansas overland. Even then he was so enthusiastic over Nebraska that at the state line he caused everybody in his party to get out of their wagons and give three cheers for the coming state. He settled at Salem, where he lived for 25 years. After a term of residence in Falls City he removed to Lincoln in 1891. He was always deeply interested in public affairs. One of the things he prized most highly was his membership in the society of territorial pioneers. For several years the infirmities of age have been upon him, and during the last six months he had been in such condition that it was known that he was fast nearing his end.

Two years ago Mr. and Mrs. Rising celebrated their golden wedding. Mrs. Rising survives him. His daughter, Mrs. C. H. Gurney of Hillsdale, Mich., has been here for two weeks, and his sons were also here. They are Freeman A. Rising of Wauwata, Neb., and Charles A. Rising of the western weighing association of this city. His stepson, DeLoss T. Smith also lives in Lincoln.

Missouri Pacific Changes

After March 1, the telegraph service will be discontinued at the following M. P. stations: Myrard, Wyoming, Paul, Glenrock, Lorton, Cook, Burr, Douglas, Panama, Hickman, Kramer, Crete, Walton and Wabash. Commencing Monday this city will be made a division point for the local freights which will result in No. 193 from Atchison, which formerly went to Auburn, both making this their division point. This change will be of distinct benefit to our town as it means the coming of a number of families, who will become residents.—Nebraska City Daily Press.

A Age of Experts

We are living in an age of specialism; an age when success can only be attained by the concentration of every thought upon the unswerving pursuit of a single object. Musty theories, and quack cures cannot stand out against progressive medical science. Recent discoveries are forcing old methods of treatment in the shade. Extraordinary diseases require extraordinary treatment. This is the kind given by the German Specialists of Council Bluffs, Ia., who state the time to cure various diseases elsewhere in this paper. Sincere devotion to their art, unimpeachable medical talent, and skill have placed these experts upon a pinnacle never before reached by other doctors. All afflicted should write for appointment card to secure free consultation.

Burlington's Exhibit Car to Visit Falls City.

To show in a practicable way the heavy and fine crops of grains, grasses, vegetables, fruit and alfalfa that can be raised by irrigation in the North Platte Valley and the Big Horn Basin, also the excellent crops produced by the dry farming methods, the Burlington road handsomely fitted up an exhibit car of these products and has kept it moving continuously through Iowa, Illinois and Missouri ever since the 15th of last August.

This interesting car has been exhibited at scores of towns, at many state and county fairs and over 200,000 visitors have passed through the car, admiring the wealth and possibilities of the crops of western Nebraska and the Big Horn Basin.

Complying with the law, the Burlington cancelled its free transportation to land agents, but the passenger department sought a way to continue the good work of settling up Nebraska. The road turned out a special car from the shops, fitted it with exhibits, placed salaried men in charge of the car and started it east to bring Nebraska and the northwest closely among the farmers of the east. It is thought that the leisure time of Nebraska farmers during the winter will permit them to visit the car while it is on side track at our town, between the dates of March 8-11. There is no admission, visitors are the guests of the railroad.

Foley's Orino Laxative is sold under a positive guarantee to cure constipation, sick headache or stomach trouble, or any form of indigestion. If it fails, the manufacturers refund your money. What more can any one do. Kerr's Pharmacy.

The citizens of Auburn are again agitating the water and sewerage question, and at a meeting last week it was decided to hold a special election in May to vote $65,000 bonds for these much needed improvements. We hope they will be more successful than they were last fall, when the same proposition was defeated. Auburn has practically no fire protection, and while a few of the progressive citizens realize their great needs, like every other town, have the kickers to overcome before anything can be accomplished.
