Hattie Lilly returned to her home near Verdon this week after a very successful year's work in the primary department of our schools. Miss Lilly has the marks of a successful teacher. Her earnest effort has been productive of splendid results and our board of education were not slow to recognize her worth and have secured her services for the coming year.

School closed on Friday, May 22. A picnic was enjoyed under the trees in the school yard. In the afternoon the pupils of the primary and intermediate grades rendered a short program consisting of recitations, dialogues and drills. A large number of parents and friends listened to the performance. Each child was remembered by the teacher with a souvenir of the year.

Through an oversight the item concerning the death of the infant child of Joseph Peters and wife was omitted last week. Little Laura Louise Peters was born January 15 of this year and died May 18. The little one was delicate but she was surrounded with every care and comfort and it was believed that she was gaining slowly until within a few hours of the end. The little one was laid to rest in Harris cemetery. We extend our heartfelt sympathy to Mr. Peters and wife in this their hour of sorrow.

L. H. Morehead, Wilson Wamsley, Charles Wileman, John Goolsby and others took fire arms and hounds and went down on Morehead Island Saturday for a hunt. The affair fulfilled their anticipations for they had scarcely reached the island before the first fox was killed, it was an old one. The dogs caught several small ones about the size of a cat. On their return the town turned out to inspect the little red animals they brought home with them.

The commencement exercises given by the eighth grade at Big Bethel church on Friday evening May 22 are worthy of more than a passing notice. The Barada class numbered six; they were assisted in the evening exercises by those finishing the eighth grade in districts 17, 20 and 24, the entire class numbering eleven. The church was tastefully decorated in the class colors of green and pink. The motto, "We build the ladder by which we climb" was a pleasant feature of the decorations. The program consisted of readings, essays, class history, the class prophecy and music. Each and every number was creditably performed and well received by a large and appreciative audience. The class and teachers feel that the success of the entertainment is due in a large measure to Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Butler, who so kindly loaned their piano for the evening. Prof. T. J. Oliver was expected to be here to present the diplomas but owing to the high water was deterred from reaching Barada, the teacher, presented the diplomas. The graduates were Edward Slagle, Lola Butler, Kittle Butler, Priscilla Woodring, Flossie Wamsley, Loy L. Franklin, Andrew Wileman, Charles Werner and Henry and Ralph Butler. Most of the class will enter the high school in September.

Mr. Freudenburg was so unfortunate on getting off the train here as to lose their return tickets, but missing them in a few minutes, returned to search for them. He was rewarded by finding two of the tickets and the pieces of the other two had been scattered for several yards. Evidently the parties finding them did not know their value, and it was fortunate for Mr. Freudenburg they dropped two of them without tearing them.

Levi Anderson had his leg broken last Monday by a horse rearing and striking him. He was on his homestead near Ellsworth, Nebr., when the accident happened, and alone, and was compelled to harness the horse and go five miles for help. He was then taken thirty-five miles to the nearest railway station, when he was brought home, not reaching here until Tuesday evening, the leg remaining unset all this time, and it was then in such a condition, that nothing could be done with it until the next day, when it was set. But as Mr. Anderson is quite old, and was crippled in this leg before, it will probably be a long time before he is able to get around.
