LON BOWERS

"Personally," where do the democratic nominees stand on county option?

October 1st will be Taft day in Falls City. Let everybody come out and see the next President.

Tell your neighbors that Mr. Taft will be here Oct. 1st. There should be 10,000 people here to see and hear the next president of our country.

Any policy which puts a premium on the reckless banker and discounts the honest banker, does not meet with the approval of the fair minded men of the country.

Where the democratic national committee got its $300,000 is as much of a mystery as what Bryan's brother-in-law, Tom Allen, of Lincoln, did with the $15,000 Wall street sent him in Bryan's interest.

The republican party stands upon a record of deeds done. The democratic party can point to nothing but a record of promises. Watch, Mr. Voter, will you support the party which has successfully done things or the party which has done nothing.

The republican party has never stood for a line of policies which it has been compelled to abandon. Our democratic friends have been compelled to retreat on the extension of human slavery, resumption of specie payment, the establishment of rural free delivery, 16 to 1, imperialism, free trade and government ownership of railroads. How do you like the comparison?

If those favoring county option do not think its opponents are busy in this campaign, they are entitled to one more think. Both the republican and democratic delegates to the state conventions, are receiving bushels of literature every day from brewers, liquor dealers association, business mens associations and kindred organizations, attacking county option and urging them to keep it out of the state platforms. On the other hand not a circular or letter has been received from any source in favor of county option.

HASKEL OF OKLAHOMA

Gov. Haskell of Oklahoma, father of the bank guarantee feature of the democratic platform, treasurer of the democratic national committee, Bryan's chief spell-binder, and the general utility man of the disappearance, seems to have received his'n this week.

Hearst, the unspeakable, has been showing a few things on the governor that has made the democratic national committee sit up and take notice. Haskell said at first that he wasn't the Haskell, that it was another man who bore the same name, the same initials, looked like him, talked like him, but was another fellow. This sort of a denial has nuts for Hearst and Haskell has taken to the woods. We have neither the space or inclination to repeat all of the Hearst charges, being content to speak of the more serious ones.

Hearst produces books and affidavits to show among other things that Haskell is the paid agent of Standard oil. That he has secured a contribution of $300,000 from Standard oil to the Bryan fund, and that he is one of the men that offered Frank S. Monnett of Ohio, a bribe of $400,000 to cease his prosecutions of Standard oil.

Haskell refuses to say where the $300,000 comes from beyond saying that it was collected in some other campaign. He called upon Mr. Monnett to deny the bribery story. Monnett, by the way, has been making speeches through Ohio and Indiana for Bryan. The following is the statement made by Monnett in the Sunday dailies:

"Declaring that he would not take the stump until some explanation was given as to where the democratic committee obtained the $600,000 now in its fund, Frank S. Monnett, ex-attorney general, who instituted the prosecution against the Standard Oil company, created a sensation here today.

"Governor Haskell," he said, "will have to resign as custodian of the funds of the national committee or there will be serious trouble in the committee. I have been assigned to speak in the west by the democratic committee, but I shall not make a speech until I am satisfied from just what source the committee got the $300,000 which it boasts of having. I am informed by state officials of Oklahoma that Governor Haskell is or has recently been connected with the Prairie Oil company of the southwest, and that that company is a subsidiary of the Standard."

"At to the affidavit referred to by Mr. Hearst, Mr. Squares of Cleveland, came down here and said that I could have $400,000 if I would stop the prosecution of the Standard company. I asked him from whom this offer came, and he said Frank Haskell and others. He said that I would get $400,000 and he would receive $100,000, the money to be deposited, I believe, in the Metropolitan Insurance company of New York. Of course I don't know which Haskell Squires meant when he talked to me, but he said he was from Oklahoma. That is all I know about which Haskell it was."

In the mean time if you have not contributed to the Bryan fund, send it to Haskell, the Standard oil representative, he will take care of it, sure, he will take care of it.

What have our democratic friends to offer the voters of Nebraska that would better their condition? Will the farmer get more for his corn or wheat? Will hogs, cattle and horses sell for more money? Will the merchants sell more goods, or the laboring man have better jobs and more pay? Certainly not. Then what can be gained by voting for Bryan. There is nothing to gain and everything to lose.

EXIT FORAKER AND BAILEY

Hearst of New York, founder of the Independent party, publisher of yellow journals and scavenger of American politics has been stirring up quite a stink within the past week.

He has secured copies of letters which show conclusively that Senator Bailey of Texas and Senator Foraker of Ohio, have been in the employ of the Standard oil company for the purpose of influencing legislation in congress. These letters speak of fees paid, sometimes in sums as great as fifty-thousand dollars.

Even though Foraker has been fighting the President with consuming bitterness, and tried in every way possible to defeat the nomination of Judge Taft, presumably at the request of Standard oil, his political ruin, for this disclosure can mean nothing else, is a sad one. Foraker and Bailey are men of commanding intellect. Each was probably the ablest of his party in the senate. These two men by reason of their abilities, could be of great service to the American people, but the lure of the fleshpots was too strong.

Foraker is at the end of a long and brilliant life. His first service to his country was given in the war of the rebellion. Since that time he has been identified with much of his country's greatness. His following in Ohio and elsewhere was of the loyal and endearing kind. But he is old now, though the brilliancy of his mentality and the courage of his temperament remain as they were in his younger days. He cannot recuperate from the disclosures made by Hearst. His political career is ended.

Bailey is younger, he is a fighter, a brilliant debator, a constitutional lawyer of acknowledged greatness, but the youth and capabilities are insufficient to square his conduct with the right thinking people of Texas. His term of office has not expired, but it is wholly improbable that he will be returned to the senate.

There is a lesson in the exit of these two masterly men from the political stage. One in disgrace at the end of a long public life, the other, having by his own conduct, closed the door of the future as he stood on the threshold of a brilliant career.

An Ira D. Sankey Service

At the Brethren church there will be a special service on next Sunday evening, in commemoration of the late Ira D. Sankey, the greatest singer evangelist of modern times. Sankey's favorite songs will be sung, a sketch of his life given and interesting incidents related which brought him into prominence. All are invited.

Why Suffer?

If you suffer pain from any cause, Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills will relieve it—and leave no bad after-effects. That's the important thing. Neither do they create a habit. More often the attacks become less frequent, or disappear altogether. Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills have no other effect except to relieve pain and quiet nervous irritation.

"We are never without Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills. My husband and son, aged 15, were always subject to sick headache until we began using these Pills, and they have broken them up entirely. Don't think they have had to use them for six months. I recommend them to every one. A few weeks ago I heard an old lady friend was sick. I went to see her. She was down with LaGrippe, and nearly crazy with awful backache. I gave her one of the Anti-Pain Pills and left another for her to take in a short time. They helped her right away, and she says she will never be without them again. Last winter my husband was taken with pleurisy on both sides, and I know he would have died if it hadn't been for the Pills. In less than half an hour he was sweating, and went to bed and slept."

To the People of Falls City

The lecture course must go on as R. B. Payne, state manager for the Entertainments' League of Indianapolis owns the time on the talent engaged here, it would be a greater financial loss to him to take the course off than to allow it to go on. Therefore the course will go on, every number of it.

Rev. R. R. Teeter will be the local manager, Robert E. Steele and Virgil Falloon, high school students, have been engaged to canvas, for the sale of season tickets. $1.50 will pay for a season ticket and any seat may be reserved free of charge. The money is all left in local hands until the concert or lecture has been given and the people satisfied it has been worth the price. If you don't like the entertainment you may have your money back without quibble. Now we have offered you a "square deal" on the lecture course and its up to you to return the favor. $1.50 gets a season ticket now—$1.50.

No charge for reserved seats, $1.50 pays for any seat for the entire course. The managers have changed plans in regard to reserved seats. There will be no charge to reserve seats. General admission 25, 35 and 50 cents. Sample program.

Passed Examination Successfully
James Donahue, New Britain, Conn., writes: "I tried several kidney remedies, and was treated by our best physicians for diabetes, but did not improve until I took Foley's Kidney Remedy. After the second bottle I showed improvement, and five bottles cured me completely. I have since passed a rigid examination for life insurance." Foley's Kidney Remedy cures backache and all forms of kidney and bladder trouble. Kerr's pharmacy.

When Trifles Become Troubles

If any person suspects that their kidneys are deranged they should take Foley's Kidney Remedy at once and not risk having Bright's disease or diabetes. Delay gives the disease a stronger foothold and you should not delay taking Foley's Kidney Remedy. Kerr's pharmacy.
