

Special Sale of Fancy China Plates

All sizes, 50 different decorations. Plates from 15c to $1.25 each

See them in the South window at

CHAS. M. WILSON'S

The Falls City Roller Mills

Does a general milling business, and manufactures the following brands of flour

SUNFLOWER MAGNOLIA -- CROWN

The above brands are guaranteed to be of the highest possible quality. We also manufacture all mill products and conduct a general

Grain, Live Stock and Coal Business

and solicit a share of your patronage

P. S. Heacock & Son

Falls City, Nebr.

PRESTON GRAIN and LUMBER CO.

When you have Grain or Hogs to market do not forget that we pay the top price and give you honest weights.
ALWAYS GET OUR PRICE

When you need anything in

Lumber or Builders' Material

call on us—we can furnish you anything in this line as cheap as the same grade can be had elsewhere.

ALWAYS TRADE AT HOME AND SAVE MONEY

PRESTON GRAIN AND LUMBER CO.

"Pittsburg Perfect" Electrically Welded Fences

are enjoying phenomenal success, and are conceded to be far superior to any other fences on the market.

Thousands of pleased fence users will testify that "Pittsburg Perfect" Electrically Welded Fences are just the thing for field, farm, ranch, lawn, corn cribs, poultry, etc.

J. C. TANNER

Ours Are "Dependable" Goods FALLS CITY, NEB.

WE will appreciate your account, and will endeavor to make your banking easy and pleasant for you.

COMPARISON OF RESOURCES:

August 12, 1903	-	$22,703.33
August 12, 1904	-	$24,308.45
August 12, 1905	-	$38,067.24
August 12, 1906	-	$39,556.48
August 12, 1907	-	$52,884.97
August 12, 1908	-	$57,161.10

The Farmers' State Bank
PRESTON, NEBRASKA

LEED'S

LIQUOR EMPORIUM

All Popular Brands of Wet Goods with an experienced mixer at your service. Foreign and Domestic Cigars.

L. E. LEED, PROPRIETOR

FALLS CITY

NEBRASKA

Roosevelt Is for Mr. Taft

Continued from Third page

lems of our civilization; for its proper solution we need not merely honesty and courage, but judgment, good sense and entire fair-mindedness. Demagoguery in such a matter is as certain to work evil as corruption itself. The man who promises to raise the wages of railroad employees to the highest point and at the same time to reduce the rates to the lowest point is promising what neither he nor no one else can perform; and if the effort to perform it were attempted disaster would result to both shipper and wage-worker, and ruin to the business interests of the country. The man to trust in such a matter as this is the man who, like Judge Taft, does not promise too much, but who could not be swayed from the path of duty by any argument, by any consideration; who will wage relentless war on the successful wrongdoer among railroad men as among all other men; who will do all that can be done to secure legitimately low rates to shippers and absolute evenness among the rates thus secured; but who will neither promise nor attempt to secure rates so low that the wage-earner would lose his earnings and the shareholder, whose money built the road, his profits. He will not favor a ruinous experiment like government ownership of railroads; he will stand against any kind of confiscation of honestly acquired property, but he will work effectively for the most efficient type of government supervision and control of railroads, so as to secure just and fair treatment of the people as a whole.

What is here said as to his attitude on the railway question applies to the whole question of the trusts. He will promise nothing on this subject unless he firmly believes he can make his promise good. He will go into no chimerical movement to destroy all great business combinations, for this can only be done by destroying all modern business, but he will in practical fashion do everything possible to secure such efficient control on behalf of the people as a whole, over these great combinations as will deprive them of the power to work evil. Mr. Taft's decision in the Addystone Pipe Line case while on the bench is proof, by deeds not by words, of the far-sighted wisdom with which he serves the interests of the whole people even when those of the most powerful corporation are hostile thereto.

If there is one body of men more than another whose support I feel I have a right to challenge on behalf of Secretary Taft it is the body of wage-workers of the country. A stauncher friend, a fairer and truer representative, they cannot find within the borders of the United States. He will do everything in his power for them except to do that which is wrong, he will do wrong for no man, and therefore can be trusted by all men.

Mr. Taft has been attacked because of the injunctions he delivered while on the bench. I am contented to rest his case on these very injunctions; I maintain that they show why all our people should be grateful to him and should feel it safe to entrust their dearest interests to him. Most assuredly he never has yielded and never will yield to threat or pressure of any sort, as little if it comes from labor as if it comes from capital; he will no more tolerate the violence of a mob than the corruption and oppression and arrogance of a corporation or of a wealthy man. He will not consent to limit the power of the courts to put a stop to wrongdoing wherever found. This very fact should make the labor people feel a peculiar confidence in him. He has incurred the bitter hostility of foolish and bigoted reactionaries by his frank criticism of the abuse of the power of injunction in labor disputes, and he is pledged to do all he can to put a stop to the abuses in the exercise of the power of injunction. He will never promise anything that he will not do all in his power to perform. He can always be trusted to do a little better than his word, and the fact that before election he will not promise the impossible is in itself a guaranty that after election all that is possible will be done.

His record as a judge makes the whole country his debtor. His actions and decisions are part of the great traditions of the bench. They guaranteed and set forth in striking fashion the rights of the general public as against the selfish interests of any class, whether of capitalists or of laborers. They set forth and stand by the rights of the wage-worker to organize and to strike, as unequivocally as they set forth and stand by the doctrine that no conduct will be tolerated that would spell destruction to the nation as a whole. As for the attack upon the injunctions in labor disputes, made while he was on the bench. I ask that the injunctions be carefully examined. I ask that every responsible and fair minded labor leader, every responsible and fair minded member of a labor organization, read these injunctions for himself. No responsible organization would now hesitate to condemn the abuses against which Judge Taft's injunctions were aimed. The principles which he therein so wisely and fearlessly laid down serve as a charter of liberty for all of us, for wage workers, for employers, for the general public; for they rest on the principles of fair dealing for all, of even handed justice for all. They mark the judge who rendered them as standing for the rights of the whole people, as far as daylight is from darkness, so far as such a judge from the time-server and truckler to the mob, or cringing tool of great, corrupt and corrupting corporations. Judge Taft on the bench—as since, in the Philippines, in Panama, in Cuba, in the War department—showed himself to be a fearless, and an upright servant of the whole people, whose services to the whole people were beyond all price. Moreover, let all good citizens remember that he rendered these services, not when it was easy to do so, but when lawless violence was threatened, when malice, domestic and civic disturbance threatened the whole fabric of our government and of civilization; his actions showed not only the highest kind of moral courage, but of physical courage as well, for his life was freely and violently threatened.

Let all fairminded men, wage-workers and capitalists alike, consider yet another fact. In one of the decisions upon the bench Judge Taft upheld in the strongest fashion and for the first time gave full vitality to the principle of the employers' liability for injuries done workmen. This was before any national law on the subject was enacted. Judge Taft was a leader, a pioneer, while on the bench, in the effort to get justice for the wage-worker, in jealous companionship of his rights, and all upright and farsighted laboring men should hold it to his credit that at the same time he fearlessly stood against the abuses of labor, just as he fearlessly stood against the abuses of capital. If elected he has shown by his deeds that he will be president of no class, but of the people as a whole, he can be trusted to stand stoutly against the two real enemies of our democracy—against the man who to please one class would undermine the whole foundation of orderly liberty, and against the man, who in the interest of another class would secure business prosperity by sacrificing every right of the working people.

I have striven as president to champion in every proper way the interests of the wage-worker; for I regard the wage-worker, excepting only the farmer, the tiller of the soil, as the man whose wellbeing is most essential to the healthy growth of this great nation. I would for no consideration advise the wage-worker to do what I thought was against his interest. I ask his support for Mr. Taft exactly as I ask such support from every farsighted and right-thinking American citizen; because I believe with all my heart that nowhere within the borders of our great country can there be found another man, who will as vigilantly and efficiently as Mr. Taft support the rights of every man who in good faith strives to do his duty as an American citizen. He will protect the just rights of both rich and poor and he will war relentlessly against lawlessness and injustice whether exercised on behalf of property or of labor. On the bench Judge Taft showed the two qualities which made a great judge; wisdom and moral courage. They are also the two qualities which made a great president. Yours truly,

THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

Card of Thanks

We wish to extend our thanks to all who so kindly assisted us during the illness and at the death of our beloved husband and father. Especially do we thank the members of the Deutsche Gessellschaft, who rendered such valuable assistance.
MRS. H. W. WOLFF AND FAMILY.

Estray Notice

Taken up on my farm 6 1/2 miles southwest of Falls City a Poland China boar, 4 white feet with tush on one side, weighing about 350 pounds.

E. J. SATTERWHITE.

Hurrah! Hurrah! Hurrah!

Falls City, Neb.

From a Special Train at the Burlington station, between the hours of 12 o'clock noon and 1 o'clock p. m.

Honorable Wm. H. Taft

will speak. Only a short stop will be made at Falls City. This is an opportunity to see and hear Mr. Taft, that to many of us will not return.

Thurs. Oct. 1st

Hurrah! Hurrah! Hurrah!