Feeble Old Lady

Has Strength Restored by Vinol

Mrs. Michael Bloom of Lewistown, Pa., who is 80 years of age, says: "For a long time I have been so feeble that I have had to be wheeled around in an invalid's chair. I had no strength and took cold at the slightest provocation, which invariably settled on my lungs, and a cough would result. My son learned of the cod liver preparation called Vinol, and procured a bottle for me. It built up my strength rapidly, and after taking three bottles I am able to do most of my work, and I can walk a quarter of a mile easily. Every aged or weak person who requires strength should try Vinol. I am delighted with what it has done for me."

As a body builder and strength creator for old people, delicate children, weak, run-down persons, and after sickness, Vinol is unexcelled. If it fails to give satisfaction we will return your money.

PIGEONS AND THE WIRELESS

Birds Are No Longer Used by British Naval Authorities to Carry Messages.

Wireless telegraphy has displaced the pigeon service in the British navy, and the birds are being sold at auction in London, Bristol and Manchester.

Great care has been taken over the selection and breeding of these birds and they have been subjected to severe training, both afloat and ashore, and in the air, in all kinds of weather. The maximum speed of a homing pigeon is about 2,150 yards a minute, so that wireless telegraphy is much quicker, and though messages, like pigeons, are liable to be intercepted, it must be acknowledged that the odds are in favor of the wireless.

It is doubtful whether, with all the training pigeons have had, there has been any increase of the speed of flight during the past 1,000 years. With a stiff tail wind birds may fly quicker than 2,100 yards a minute, and there are records of birds covering over 1,000 miles at an average speed of a fraction over 20 miles an hour, but an expert is inclined to think that pigeons have, on the whole, deteriorated, despite the continuous training, the flying clubs, and many competitions which exist to improve their breed and stamina.

CONNECTICUT BIRD PRESERVE.

Despite the fact that reports have been circulated of late that the commissioners of fisheries and game had secured 2,000 quail from Oklahoma and would place them on Terry island, near Suffield, Commissioner George T. Mathewson said recently that nothing has been done about buying any quail as yet. It is true, however, that the use of the island, which contains about 135 acres, has been obtained by the commission and it is very likely that a preserve will be established there.

Until 15 or 16 years ago the island was inhabited by Clinton Terry, and the house is still standing, and it was from this place years ago that a band of Second Adventists put on their ascension robes and waited in vain for the end of the world.—Hartford Courant.

OFF WITH THEIR TITLES.

Mattie Sheridan, toastmistress of the Hungry club, has a great weakness for royalty and titles. She has as many titled people as possible at her Saturday night entertainments. The baroness d'Basuz is often present. Once she had the Princess Something or Other, the daughter of Liliuokalani. The Countess von Booze Farra is also a guest at intervals. But woe be unto any of them if they happen to offend the toastmistress. The moment they do their title is dropped and they are snidely introduced as plain "Miss" or "Mrs."

PIGS THAT POINT.

American shooting men are much exercised over a story that a sporting farmer named Knittel, who lives near Brownsburg, St. Louis, has succeeded in teaching a pig to point game, and shoots over it.

Our American friends have evidently forgotten the famous "pig pointer" which was trained to stand winged game and rabbits by the brothers Toomer, royal keepers in the New Forest. This "pig pointer" was a black sow whose intelligence and nose responded to a fortnight's training.—Bailly's Magazine.

A YOUNGSTER ON SNAKES.

A Georgia youngster turns in this composition on "Snakes:"

"Snakes is all over—but mostly in spring an' summer. A snake can swaller a bird, but it is hard for a grown man to swaller a snake story. They live most everywhere—snakes do, but Ma says you find more of 'em where the whisky distilleries is. Pa sees 'em often, but mostly in the winter season, but Ma says he is talented for seen' snakes. I think all the snakes should be killed."—Atlanta Constitution.

HOPE FOR HIM.

"Cheer up, dear!" said the poet's wife, looking up at him over her evening paper, "there are good times coming."

"What is it now?" inquired the poor poet.

"Here's a piece about an old manuscript poem of Shakespeare's selling the other day for $2,000."—Philadelphia Press.

PLEASED THE BOSTON MAN

Conductor's Correct Speech Gladdened Ear of Resident of Modern Athens.

Said a prominent Bostonian the other day: "There is one conductor on the elevated to whom I should like to extend my personal felicitations. You are, of course, quite familiar with the salutation, 'Please leave by the nearest door.' Now, that is perfectly correct as to form when used in reference to the subway cars, which have three doors; but I have invariably heard the expression used, greatly to my annoyance, by conductors of the surface cars when a stop was made at Boylston or at Park street station.

"The other evening, however, when my car from Brookline stopped at the Boylston street station the conductor called out to the passengers: 'Please leave by the nearer door.' That little word 'nearer' fell on my ears like gentle rain falling on green grass, bringing a sense of rest and satisfaction. I was so agreeably surprised that when I left the car I took special pains to look at the conductor's cap and noted it bore the number 9,173."—Boston Herald.

POOR MARMADUKE.

Gertie—And was he much cast down when your father refused his consent? Jessie—No—only one flight.

SHE WAS PAST AID.

A woman who had a telephone in her apartment called up the telephone company and asked that the service be discontinued. The man who took her message tried to be exceedingly polite.

"We are sorry to lose you," he said. Are you dissatisfied with anything?"

"I am," said the woman emphatically. "I am very sorry," said the man. "Perhaps we can help you. What is it you do not like?"

"Single blessedness," said the woman. "I am going to be married to-morrow."

"Ah," said the polite clerk, "you are past our aid. Good-bye."

OKLAHOMA'S SINKING LANDS.

About 25 acres of prairie land lying between Keystone and Olive, in the Creek nation, has sunk nearly 30 feet in the last two years and is now covered with water. Many of the farmers are moving their houses and herds and a general state of alarm exists.

The whole country around this land seems to be sinking gradually and the people of that section are daily expecting something to happen. It is the supposition of surveyors and oil and gas men and others familiar with such conditions that the sinking is caused by the great gas pressure taken from beneath the land.—Kansas City Star.

TOO MUCH.

"I have a suggestion," stated the friend who wants to help. "They say that Taft has no front porch."

"Well?"

"Couldn't you utilize that in a joke? Put in that he is going to build a front porch; in other words, he stoops to conquer."

The press humorist scowled and turned away.

IN DOUBT.

"That's a curious looking mule you're driving," remarked the man who was whittling a pine stick.

"Yassir," answered Mr. Erastus Pinkley. "He is kind o' cur'us."

"What will you take for him?"

"What'll take foh him? Say, boss, is you referring to dat mule as a piece o' property or an affliction?"

BETTER TO INSTILL TRUTH

Parents Should Remember That Child Is Unconsciously Influenced by Surroundings.

In matters of truthfulness, as with all other virtues, a child is influenced unconsciously by his surroundings and by the example of those older than himself. In an atmosphere of truth a child gains a respect for truth, and regards falsehood as a despicable shift. It is otherwise where children hear their parents lie with unblushing audacity, and so great is the reverence of little children for their parents that they even look upon lying as a virtue, since their parents set them the example.

Thus, to train children in truthfulness there must be parental example. Small inaccuracies must be corrected lest they develop into exaggeration and lying. By means of homely talks and anecdotes the beauty and strength of truth might be illustrated, and lying itself might be shamed into abeyance if it were called by its proper name and not disguised and softened under the name of white lie, fib or crammer.—Illustrated Sunday Magazine.

TEMPERANCE AND BASEBALL.

Hal Chase, the famous first baseman, was advocating teetotalism among ball players. He argued well, and in the midst of his argument he told a story.

"Leroy Vignors, a friend of mine," he said, "turned up to play in an amateur game with a skate on."

"When Vignors stepped to the bat he smiled a silly smile and said to the umpire:

"I see three bats an' three balls here. What am I to—hic—do?"

"Hit the middle ball," said the umpire.

"But Vignors struck out.

"Darn ye, Vignors," said a coach, "why didn't you hit the middle ball, like the umpire told you?"

"I did," says Vignors, with an injured air, "only I hit it with the—hic—outside bat."—Washington Star.

GREAT TIMBER TRACT.

Nine million feet of standing timber on one 40-acre tract in western Chatham county is the record disclosed by a cruise just filed with the county authorities. This remarkable tract of timber land is a part of a quarter section included in the holdings of the corporations represented by the J. D. Lacey company of Chicago and New Orleans. The tract contains, according to the owners' figures turned in to the county for assessment purposes, 8,541,000 feet of fir, 393,000 feet of spruce and 181,000 feet of hemlock. The entire quarter section of which this 40 is a part has upon it 19,378,000 feet of fir, 2,079,000 feet of spruce and 700,000 feet of hemlock, a total of 22,217,000 feet of merchantable timber on 160 acres.—Port Angeles correspondence Seattle Post Intelligence.

PROGRESS OF AVIATION.

In less than two years the course of an aeroplane has increased from 25 meters to nearly 20 kilos—that is, in the proportion of 1 to 900. If equally rapid progress continues, the flight of 20 minutes recently accomplished will be transformed into more than 250 hours. According to that, it will be possible in two years to make voyages of 20 days. But without hoping to progress so far, there is nothing extraordinary in supposing that trips of several hours and even of a day by aeroplane will soon be a normal event.—Paris La Figaro.

CORRECTED.

Lady—You look robust. Are you equal to the task of sawing wood?

Tramp—Equal isn't the word, mum. I'm superior to it. Good mornin'!

CUTE LITTLE GAME.

Eva—He is so considerate of your chaperon. He buys her such interesting books.

Edna—Oh, I call that strategy. He knows if the books are interesting she won't look up too often when we are together.

Indigestion

Stomach trouble is but a symptom of, and not in itself a true disease. We think of Dyspepsia, Heartburn, and Indigestion as real diseases, yet they are symptoms only of a certain specific Nerve sickness—nothing else. It was this fact that first correctly led Dr. Shoop in the creation of that now very popular Stomach Remedy—Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Going direct to the stomach nerves, alone brought that success and favor to Dr. Shoop and his Restorative. Without that original and highly vital principle, no such lasting accomplishments were great to be had. For stomach distress, bloating, flatulency, bad breath and salivary complexion, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—and see for yourself what it can and will do. We sell and cheerfully recommend.
