

A Question For You

Would you rather keep on paying doctors and druggists and still have a mouth far from beautiful, a mouth which doesn't smell any too sweet, a sour stomach most of the time, or have your teeth attended to now? It's up to you. We stand ready to give your teeth proper attention at proper prices.

KNIVES FROM SHARK'S TEETH

How Natives of the Pacific Islands Utilize This Dreaded Enemy of the Sailor.

The natives on some of the Pacific islands, being provided with neither metals nor any stone harder than the coral rocks of which the atolls they inhabit are composed, would seem badly off, indeed, for material of which to make tools or weapons, were it not that their very necessity has bred an invention no less ingenious than curious and effective. This is nothing less than the use of sharks' teeth to give a cutting edge to their wooden knives and swords. The mouth of the shark contains 300 teeth, arranged in five rows, all closely lying upon each other, except the outer row, and so constructed that as one tooth is broken or lost another takes its place. The teeth are not only pointed and keen-edged, but are finely and regularly serrated, so that the cutting power is greatly increased. Indeed, so great a faculty have these teeth for wounding, that the implements and weapons upon which they are used have to be handled with great care. The King-mill islanders make many strange articles of sharks' teeth.

NO USE FOR BEDS IN BAGDAD.

About 60 per cent. of Bagdad's population possess no beds. These poor people rest on blankets spread on the floors of their houses in the winter and on the roofs in the summer. Owing to the excessive heat of these regions sleep is made impossible elsewhere than on the roof or in the open gardens. It is an interesting sight to see how the women at sunset emerge from their houses to prepare the evening meal on the roof, and spread the bedding for the night. Inasmuch as the climate is very dry, there is little to fear from exposure to the night air. While a considerable number of the roofs are surrounded by lattice work to insure a certain amount of privacy, by far the larger number are quite exposed to the gaze of curious and inquisitive neighbors.

FAMOUS WOMEN OF OLD.

Few things interest succeeding generations more than the love affairs of bygone celebrities. Whatever our attitude may be toward those who in our day defy the conventions, there is no denying our consuming curiosity about famous women who in the past have strayed from the path of virtue. Of all the names, indeed, handed down to us in history, it is a significant fact that those which command our greatest interest and sympathy are invariably those who, like Cleopatra and Aspasia, Diane de Poitiers and Mary Queen of Scots, Lady Hamilton and the various women of the salons, were distinguished by conduct which would not have permitted of their remaining on our visiting list today.—Ladies' Field.

THE GAMEY ALEWIVES.

The alewives are running at Porter's mill stream, and will be up here in a day or two. These alewives are very gamey fish. The usual mode of catching them when you haven't a good fly is to wade out into the shallow water around the furnace or under Hills' mill, and grab them with your hands and sling them ashore. This method may not appeal to the true sportsman, but does first-rate for those who want to pickle a barrel or two of the juicy gaspereau.—Calais (Me.) Advertiser.

NOT ITS MEDIUM.

"Truth," sentimentally remarked the press agent, who had just proffered a "true story that really happened," "lies at the bottom of a well."

"Yes," drearily remarked the dramatic editor, "and it is one of the things which hot air can't raise from there."

A DOMESTIC DIPLOMAT.

"How do you manage to get so much of your way in your family?"
"Very simple, I assure you. When my wife and I differ, I find out beforehand what she wants and then order her to do that way. Naturally, she does mine."

A DAY DREAM.

"Why that rapt expression?" inquired the first grafter.
"I was building a castle in the air," answered the second grafter.
"And overcharging, eh, on all material?"

ARE WEARING BUT ONE RING

Fashion Decrees That Girls No Longer Shall Lead Their Fingers with Ornaments.

The wearing of many rings has gone out of fashion. The wearing of one on the little finger is the reigning style.

Every young girl thinks she is out of the fashion unless she has one. If she is a schoolgirl it is usually a heavy gold ring, spreading out on top into a plain seal, with the school motto or her fraternity letters carved into it.

If it isn't this, it may be her own monogram or family crest that is carved on the gold. These are not set with precious stones, which, for the young girl, have gone out of style.

There are many, however, made of semi-precious stones, a whole one being used for the flat top of the ring. Jade, carbuncle, lapis lazuli, cat's eye, are among the semi-precious stones used. Initials or symbols can be carved on these. Such a ring is a very good-looking touch to a young girl's hand.

UNDECIDED.

Judge—What is your trade?
Prisoner—I haven't chosen an occupation yet, your honor!

A KNOTTY POINT.

"Mister," said Bronco Bob, as the traveling man got off the railway train, "are you a lawyer?"
"No."

"Do you think there's a lawyer on board?"
"I don't think so. What is the trouble?"

"Well, Crimson Gulch has been puttin' on some style lately, and it's gettin' us plum confused. What we want to find out is whether it's legal to lynch a man for stealin' an automobile the same as for stealin' a hoss."—Washington Star.

A QUICK CHANGE.

The other day a visitor surprised a distinguished professor, who was saying to his baby:

"On-ny, no-ny, 'e mussy tick his footsy tootsies—"

Just then he caught sight of the visitor, blushed and muttered:

"No, no; you must not expose your pedal extremities by extending them beyond the protective covering of the blankets, or you will lay your system open to attacks of catarrhal affection."—Stray Stories.

WHAT SHE WOULD DO.

Pauline Lucca, the great singer who has just died, spent her later years in teaching. "Inspire yourself with the situation," said she to a pupil on one occasion when instructing on some tragic character; "fancy yourself in the poor woman's place. If you were deserted by a lover whom you adored, what would you do?" "I would look out for another," was the unexpected and ingenious reply.

THE REAL BOSS.

"Wasn't that young Mr. Tiff who left the house as I came in?" asked the judge of his eldest daughter.

"Yes, papa."

"Did I not issue an injunction against his coming here any more?"

"Yes, papa; but he appealed to a higher court, and mamma reversed your decision."—Stray Stories.

UNCERTIFIED KIND.

Mrs. Hoyle—My husband has water on the knee.

Mrs. Doyle—What was the cause?

Mrs. Hoyle—Holding the baby's milk bottle, I think.

NOT DELUDED.

"Do you want employment?"
"Lady," answered Plodding Pete, "you means well, but you can't make work sound any more invitin' by usin' words of three syllables."

Stop That Cold

To check early colds or Grippe with "Preventics" means sure defeat for Pneumonia. To stop a cold with Preventics is safer than to let it run and be obliged to cure it afterwards. To be sure, Preventics will cure even a deeply seated cold, but taken early—as the sneeze stage—they break or head off these early colds. That's surely better. That's why they are called Preventics. Preventics are little Candy Cold Cures. No Quinine, no physic, nothing sickening. Nice for the children—and thoroughly safe too. If you feel chilly, if you sneeze, if you ache all over, think of Preventics. Promptness may also save half your usual sickness. And don't forget your child. If there is feverishness, night or day, herein probably lies Preventics' greatest efficiency. Sold in 16 boxes for the pocket, also in 250 boxes of 48 Preventics. Insist on your druggist giving you
