Senator Tillman will have much use for his "pitchfork" in defending himself from recent exposures.

If a man has a large surplus of money and wants to give it away, should he be discouraged from planting it where it will do the most good?

Within the last two weeks Nebraska has furnished weather for the lovers of California climate as well as for the ice and coal men. The rest of us were not considered, nor our wishes consulted.

It is reported that 10,000 people in and about Cleveland, O., have undertaken to live for two weeks as Jesus would. This is a splendid beginning. No doubt the habits of many individuals in this section of the woods would undergo a great change if they should make such an effort.

No other legislative body in Nebraska, was ever so completely in the power of the Brewers and Railroads as the present session. The Brewers, however, are the most dominant force. This is a great contrast to the Republican legislature of two years ago. It is yet to be seen how the people of Nebraska will take to the idea.

A Lancaster member of the senate wants to introduce a resolution on the question of Woman's suffrage. Women voting in Colorado and other western states has not yet purified the political atmosphere, nor improved public policies. When a majority of women demand the ballot, it would be but fair to give it to them.

Loud mouthed reformers are generally caught up in time. Senator Tillman is now in the limelight. We all knew there are many abuses of the franking privileges, but it was left for the venerable Tillman to frank a typewriter from Washington to his home, and when called upon by the postmaster for $16 postage, which was due, he refused to cough up. Beware of the loud mouthed reformer!

BUKETT BILLS

Some Very Popular Bills Introduced by Our Senator

The second session of the Sixtieth congress is half over, and from the looks of things congress will have its hands full disposing of the bills now pending. Senator Burkett is the authority of several bills that seem to be very popular, and members say they are daily in receipt of letters urging them to support the Burkett bills upon this, that and other subjects.

The Nebraska senator introduced a bill providing for a government appropriation to aid in teaching agriculture in the state normal schools. In view of the fact that the state legislature and school authorities are making agriculture one of the required subjects, the teachers of this country have seen the desirability of Senator Burkett's bill.

Another bill of Burkett's is to prevent gambling by telegraph. Race track gambling is now confined to practically three states, and the people are urging the passage of this bill which will stop gambling by telegraph.

The present postal swing bill is practically identical with the bill introduced by Burkett on the same subject last year, and is receiving the attention of the people from every state in the union.

Fred Miller returned from a business trip to Burchard.

There are two things you never want to pay any attention to—abuse and flattery. The first can't harm you and the second second can't help you. Some people are like some yellow dogs—when you are coming toward them, they'll jump up and try to lick your hand; and when you're walking away from them they'll sneak up behind and snap at your heels.
