PERSISTENCY

Have you ever stopped to consider in that one word lies the reason why some other fellow may have made a bigger success of his business than you? He was no smarter than you, no better equipped mentally or financially, but he had more persistency. When you got tired and quit, he went on. Staying qualities are successful qualities. This series of ads seem to have attracted much attention and we have been asked why we keep them going so continually. Our answer is that our persistency is the measure of our success. A merchant does not put a sign over his door one day and take it down the next. You don't eat today and skip tomorrow. If you set a hen and she is on the nest one day and off the hatch will be a failure. We are in the business here at the same old stand every day in the year except Sundays and holidays. We are a fixture and if we were to stop our advertising you might think we had gone out of business. Truth is we were never so much in business as right now. New customers coming all the time, deposits constantly increasing and our sphere of usefulness growing wider and wider. Persistency pays.
