Saturday afternoon about 12 or 15 Auburn toughs came to Stella with the threat that they were going to clean up the town. All was quiet until after dark when they started out with their "paint brushes," when they very soon came to grief and two of them were arrested in a drunken row and confined in jail. The others after being herded all night by the marshals left on the early morning train. Monday morning the two who were held were brought before the police judge and fined "according to the deeds done in the body." One of them paid his fine and left town, but the other being unable to give bail was held at the "city hotel" to help with the construction of the new street crossings.

The ladies of the Research club held the last meeting for the year on Friday afternoon at the home of their retiring president Mrs. I. W. Harris. The meeting was in the form of a Kensington and about 30 ladies were present, each member inviting one guest. The house was beautifully decorated in violets and each guest on arriving was presented with a program card decorated with "the first spring violet." During the afternoon Mrs. J. R. Cain, jr., sang "Violets" most beautifully, and Miss Olive Harris rendered several piano selections. Delicious refreshments were served the color scheme being carried out in the shербert and the "violet" icing of the cakes, and every one went home feeling that the Research club were royal entertainers and Mrs. Harris a most excellent hostess.

F. G. Fritts, Oneonta, N. Y., writes "My little girl was greatly benefited by taking Foley's Orino Laxative, and I think it is the best remedy for constipation and liver trouble." Foley's Orino Laxative is best for women and children, as it is mild, pleasant and effective, and is a splendid spring medicine, as it cleanses the system and clears the complexion. Kerr's Pharmacy.

SCOTT'S BLUFF COUNTRY

UP THE
FAMOUS NORTH PLATTE VALLEY OF NEBRASKA

BEST IRRIGATED LANDS IN THE WEST

Thirty thousand acres fertile land in a splendid climate, watered by one of the biggest irrigation systems in the country. No Nebraska land of equal area will support more families.

Men from the Greeley district of the South Platte country say the advantages of the North Platte are superior—and the prices are one-fourth to one-third. Read again: think.

Tuesday April 27, we begin the sale of the famous Tri-State land at Scotts Bluffs, Neb., said to be the finest single body of irrigated land in the United States, embracing 30,000 acres, of which 10,000 acres will be sold immediately.

This land is owned by the Tri-State Land Company, of which E. A. Cudahy is president, and is under the Great Tri-State Canal, one of the largest systems of irrigation in the west, constructed at a cost of $2,000,000. Six four horse teams, 24 horses, can stand abreast across the bottom of the canal, which for the first few miles is ninety feet wide on the bottom. It is half again as large as the immense government Pathfinder canal. Its headgates, dams, intakes, wasteways and drops are wholly constructed of steel and reinforced concrete. Its every part represents the highest achievement of modern engineering skill and workmanship.

The Tri-State Land Co. has practically the first water right out of the North Platte river, and for an immense amount of water. When it is also remembered that the South Platte waters all the Colorado irrigated land at Fort Collins, Greeley, Fort Morgan, Brush, Sterling and Julesburg, and supplies only one-fourth as much water as the North Platte, the sufficiency of water under the Tri-State canal can never be questioned. It is this fact that is bringing so many of the Greeley, Fort Collins and Fort Morgan farmers to the Scotts Bluff country, who all declare its land and water equal to or superior to anything in Colorado, while the prices are only a fraction of the Colorado prices. This magnificent body of land at Scotts Bluff represents the best there is in irrigated land. The two big canals, the government and the Tri-State, represent a combined cost of nearly $4,000,000, which is an evidence of the value of the lands.

Speaking of Irrigated Land, just remember:
First—Irrigated land produces the maximum every year. Your Eastern Nebraska and Western Iowa land never produces the maximum, because even if you got just enough rain at the right time for one crop it would destroy part of another.
Second—On your eastern land you raise 40 bushels of corn on an average at 40 cents per bushel, at a cost of $8, leaving you $8 clear profit. We will take you to many men at Scotts Bluff who raised 250 to 400 bushels of potatoes per acre and sold them at 40 cents, this year considerably higher than that; 15 to 25 tons of beets at $1.50 to $5.00; 4 to 5 tons of alfalfa at $8.00 per ton; 100 bushels of oats at 40 cents per bushel.

Third—It is a singular thing that while the majority of farmers who buy irrigated land know nothing of irrigation, you can never interest an irrigation farmer in any other kind of land. He doesn't have to understand all about irrigation to succeed. The ditch rider knows and the farmer soon knows.

Fourth—While your Eastern Nebraska land will go on up to $150 per acre, it may then stop, or it may go back to $50 or $75, like the same land did in Pennsylvania, Ohio and New York. But your irrigated land, increasing its fertility and producing power each succeeding year, will do like the other irrigated land in this country and Europe—go on up to $200, $300, $400 and $500 per acre, and will not simply "keep you," but will make you rich.

This land lies so perfectly that a flat price of $70 per acre has been fixed on all uncultivated land and $80 upon cultivated land; hence the first excursionists have the choice of the entire tract. Our first excursion on Tuesday, April 27, will be made especially attractive, and each agent is limited to two buyers. A regular excursion will be run every two weeks.

One price to all—$70 per acre for uncultivated, $80 for cultivated.—First come, first served, no favorites.

Irrigated Lands advance steadily to $300 and $500 per acre. They never go back. Think once more.

TERMS:—One-Fifth Cash, Balance in nine annual payments, commencing at the end of the second year, six per cent. interest. The profits annually from the crop on this land will more than pay the deferred payments and interest. For further information call on or write to
